FIG. 1

SIGNALS TRANSMITTED BY BEACONS ARE OF TWO TYPES:- "AURAL" AND "VISUAL." ESSENTIALLY THESE BEACONS RADIATE TWO FIGURE-OF-EIGHT SPACE PATTERNS NORMALLY HAVING THEIR AXES AT RIGHT ANGLES TO EACH OTHER.

THE "AURAL" INCLUDES THE MORSE LETTER "N" (DASH-DOT) AND "A" (DOT-DASH) THE 2 SIGNALS ARE INTERLOCKED. FIGURE 1 SHOWS HOW PILOTS MAY DETERMINE "ON" AND "OFF" COURSE POSITIONS.

Bats, Spiders, Bees
Lloyd George On The King
Imagination And Reality
Assorted Human Nature

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1936, by King Features Syndicate, Inc., International Copyright and all other rights reserved.)

A CHARMING young daughter of Dr. Fairchild, professor of sociology at New York university, successful as a ballroom dancer because she and her partner understand the public, says "Mike, my partner, read something about bats in Africa. The female kills and devours the male after mating."

They have built a dance on that. He dresses in green, she in red, does the devouring, and she thinks "we will do some more animal things."

THE YOUNG LADY might extract a pretty dance from Fabre's account of the female spider that devours her husband after he is no longer needed. The female is big, the male very small. He approaches his lady love cautiously, hopping backward and forward to make sure that she is in an affectionate mood, not merely hungry. That hopping back and forth would make an active dance. Then there is the female of the "praying mantis" that thoughtfully eats the brains of her husband, opening the top of his head, when the honeymoon is over, and the queen bee; she flies high up into the sky on her honeymoon. The bridegroom pursues, and later drops back lifeless. Read Maeterlincks' "Life of the Bee."

LLOYD GEORGE, chancellor of the exchequer when the late King George mounted the throne in 1910, describes the king as a "man of peace, with no false glitter."

Writing for a news service, Lloyd George described the late king as "a truly constitutional monarch; the most perfect model of a constitutional king."

Lloyd George reveals the interesting fact that King George, a decided Tory before he became king, nevertheless agreed to create, if necessary, three hundred news peers, members of the house of lords, to force through Lloyd George's budget, approved by the commons, rejected by the lords.

When the peers learned that their sacred ranks were to be heavily diluted with Lloyd George liberalism, they gave in; no new peers were necessary. Lloyd George had more to do with winning the big war for England than all other important Britishers put together. He financed it, supplied ammunitions, financed England's allies, directed the war, forced

WILL CELEBRATE BRIDGE OPENING

West Monroe Kiwanis Club Plans Gala Occasion During March

The West Monroe Kiwanis club, at a banquet held Friday night, discussed plans for a twin-city celebration on the occasion of the opening of the new traffic bridge over the Ouachita river. A committee, instructed to develop an appropriate program in cooperation with other civic organizations of the two cities, was appointed by President George Welch.

Mayor C. C. Bell was named chairman of the committee. The other members are H. M. McGuire, W. C. Fisher, E. E. Pritchett, T. John, Fred G. Thatcher, W. R. Hatchell.

It is planned to make the event a great gala occasion for West Monroe, in which all citizens will be invited to take part. No decision was made as to what form the celebration will assume. The Kiwanis committee will discuss the matter with state officials for the purpose of cooperating with the plans for the formal dedication of the bridge.

It is not expected that the structure

PLANS ARE MADE FOR 2 REFINERIES IN RODESSA FIELD

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Preparations were being made today for erection of two refineries in the Rodessa oil field of northwest Caddo parish.

Deals were reported closed by the Panama Refining company of Overton, Texas, and the Pelican Oil and Gasoline company of Shreveport.

The Pelican's plant will be a gasoline absorption plant to be erected by the Frick-Reid company of Tulsa, Okla. Estimated cost was placed in the neighborhood of $200,000.

The Panama company will move their East Texas refining unit to the Rodessa field, according to reports. Capacity will be 7,000 barrels of oil daily.

ARGUMENT RAGES OVER MEANS FOR FINANCING BONUS

Conflict Spreads Over Possibility Of New Taxes Or Inflation

OVERTHROW OF EXECUTIVE VETO IS BELIEVED SURE

Leaders Work To Build Backfire Against Talk Of More Levies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Sharp argument over possibility of new taxes or of inflation spread in congress today as a prelude to the apparently certain senate overthrow of President Roosevelt's bonus veto.

The baby bond measure, presenting the government with a bill for $2,491,000,000, will be brought up forthwith in the senate Monday for a final vote. Even the most conservative leaders predicted almost as thwacking a repudiation of the executive's veto as the 324 to 61 house overthrow.

Majority chiefs on both the house and senate sides definitely moved today, however, to build a backfire against talk of new levies to foot the bill.

Chairman Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, of the senate finance committee, one of the authors of the bond bonus bill, replied to reports that the president and his aides had some tax proposal in mind with a prompt comment that "they haven't called me in."

Speaker Byrns paralleled Harrison in denying knowledge of any "downtown" tax suggestion, adding there was little possibility of new income taxes. He felt the income tax base should not be lowered and that taxes

ARMY OFFICIALS PROBE AIR CRASH

Investigate Collision Of Planes In Which Six Persons Perish

HONOLULU, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Unofficial sources turned the spotlight tonight on night formation flying as army authorities investigated the spectacular air collision which cost six lives and two big fighting planes here last night.

Aviators who refused to be quoted directly said night formation flights, familiar to Honolulu residents, probably are the most unpopular of any sort with military fliers.

The fliers asserted officers and men often return from night formation flights in "high tension." They said also the planes usually employed are noted for their slowness and "laziness."

With a roar heard 10 miles away in Honolulu the two army planes came together last night somewhere between 500 and 1,200 feet above Ford island, Hawaii's military air base. They fell in flames, striking the ground with a mighty crash and a burst of fire.

Two men jumped and came out alive. The dead, all badly burned, were:

RESCUE CREWS PUSH THROUGH SNOWDRIFTS TO ISOLATED VILLAGE

SHERRAD, W. Va., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Fuel, food and medicine rolled into this mountain town today behind rescue crews which cleared paths through towering snow drifts.

The community of 300 population has been isolated since Sunday.

Many were ill. One woman had been without medical attention since she broke her arm Sunday.

Road commission maintenance crews, WPA workmen and volunteers made up crews which pushed through four miles of blocked highway, digging away 15 foot drifts in some places.

OFFICIAL TABULATION OF PARISH VOTE ANNOUNCED

Official figures showing the total vote in Ouachita parish for governor and United States senators, made public Saturday by P. M. Atkins, chairman of the parish board of supervisors, were as follows:

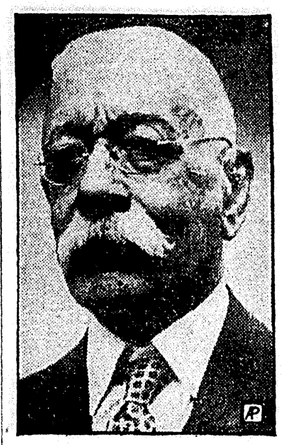
Governor—Dear, 4,695; Leche, 9,490.

U. S. senator (short term)—Allen, 9,664; Looney, 4,300.

U. S. senator (long term)—Ellender, 9,487; Sandlin, 4,369.

The other candidates in the race showed proportionate totals in the voting, Mr. Atkins said.

DIES SUDDENLY



GEORGE W. WICKERSHAM

WICKERSHAM DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Former U. S. Attorney-General Expires Suddenly In New York Taxi

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(AP)—George W. Wickersham, one-time attorney-general of the United States, and later chairman of the commission which recommended continuation of national prohibition, died suddenly today in a taxicab.

The cab driver who was taking the 78-year-old attorney on a short ride to a club luncheon with old friends, discovered at his destination that his passenger was dead.

Henry W. Taft, a law partner of Mr. Wickersham, identified the body of his colleague at a police station. Mr. Wickersham was attorney-general in the cabinet of President Taft from 1909 to 1913.

Henry P. Cunningham, the cab driver, told police Mr. Wickersham did not appear ill when he entered the cab. Cunningham had driven the lawyer about the city for more than three years.

At the intersection of Fifth avenue and 43rd street, he spoke over his shoulder to ask Mr. Wickersham at what corner he wished to be let out. There was no answer.

Cunningham turned to see Wickersham partly slumped on the floor.

Taft said Wickersham had been taken ill two years ago and was confined then for nearly ten months.

"Two weeks ago," Taft recounted, "while we were standing talking in our office, he suddenly fainted and collapsed to the floor. We brought him around but he was warned at that time by his family physician that he should take things easy."

A heart attack was believed responsible for the sudden death.

His most recent activity in the legal field was as one of the guardians of 11-year-old Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's property, during the litigation over the child's custody.

President Hoover appointed him head of the national law enforcement commission in 1929. In a voluminous report, the commission suggested penal reforms and a closer link between federal and state enforcement agencies.

VERDICT OF GUILTY GIVEN AGAINST THREE MEN FOR SHIP FIRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(AP)—An executive of the company which owned the Morro Castle and two officers in charge when the vessel burned off the New Jersey coast in September, 1934, with a loss of 124 lives, were convicted of negligence tonight by a federal jury.

They were Acting Captain William F. Warms, Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, and Henry E. Cabaud, vice-president of the New York and Cuba Mail Steamship company.

The conviction carries with it maximum fines of $10,000 each and prison terms of 10 years. The corporation also faces a possible fine of $10,000.

The defendants were continued in bail of $2,500 until Tuesday morning, when sentence will be imposed.

DEATH OF UNION PARISH NOMINEE CAUSES RULING

FARMERVILLE, La., Jan. 25—(Special)—The death of D. F. Antley, the leading candidate in the race for police juror from ward 7 of Union parish, necessitated a ruling from the attorney general to decide who should be chosen as the official nominee for the office, it was disclosed here today at a meeting of the parish Democratic committee, which had been called to canvass the vote in Tuesday's primary.

Mr. Antley, who had received eleven votes over J. R. Smith, the next highest candidate, died within three hours after the close of the polling last Tuesday. Attorney General Porterie ruled that the candidate having the next highest number of votes should be the nominee of the primary.

AL SMITH WARNS AGAINST CLASS WAR IN NATION

Demands That Democratic Party Return To Principles Of Platform

DECLARES SOCIALISM IS NOW BEING ESTABLISHED

'Where Is The Independence Of Congress?' Cries 'Happy Warrior'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Warning of dangers of class war and bureaucratic suppression of American liberties under the New Deal, Alfred E. Smith demanded tonight that the Democratic party "re-establish the principles" of the platform upon which President Roosevelt was elected.

That platform, he said, except for regulation of the stock exchange and repeal of prohibition, had been "thrown in the wastebasket."

He charged before his cheering audience at the American Liberty league dinner that the administration was substituting socialism for democracy.

"That is why," he said, "the supreme court is throwing out recent laws three letters at a time."

Removing himself as a possible candidate for party nomination, he flayed the New Deal for extravagance, and haphazard legislation.

The Democratic convention at Philadelphia, he said, probably would be called upon to endorse the New Deal in terms of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland. He ridiculed the idea, indicating that he himself probably "would take a walk" during the presidential campaign.

His jaw set, he sounded like a warrior but not a happy one. He bespoke himself distressed and distrustful.

He pitched his opposition on principles above partisanship.

"In the name of heaven where is the independence of congress?" he asked, reminding that this is a gov-

MRS. ROOT TELLS STORY OF KILLING

Attractive Young Widow Describes How She Shot Young Spouse

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 25.—(AP)—In a sob-choked voice and with tears streaming down her face, Daisy Alexander Root told her murder trial jury today she slew her husband, Brenton Root, after "he reached for his gun."

When she had concluded her story, she underwent a gruelling cross-examination in which the prosecution sought to lay bare her private life before and after her marriage several years ago.

The trial was recessed at noon until Monday after she admitted, under the vigorous questioning of gruff District Attorney General W. T. McLain that she had been intimate with her husband before their marriage.

McLain tried to force her to say she had an affair with a Birmingham, Ala., man whom he described as Robert Lavey, in 1928, but she testified that Lacey was a "real estate agent for the Alexander property," and that she had only discussed business with him.

The 29-year-old defendant, slim, dark-haired and attractive, said her husband was in bed with his back to her when she walked into his country home during the early hours of Nov.

Winter Mobilizes For New Assault On North States

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Along the Canadian border, the elements mobilized tonight for a new sub-zero assault on the northern states.

A brief respite from the most frigid blasts of the century vouchsafed midwestern and Atlantic states during the day, was due to be snapped off during the night with temperatures from 10 to 20 degrees below from Minnesota to Indiana and sub-zero weather as far east as Ohio.

Additional deaths continued to augment the cold wave's list of victims throughout the day, bringing the total for the country to at least 164 for the 72-hour period of extreme cold.

Snow was falling in Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado and more was forecast for New York state where highway traffic struggled for the fourth successive day against fast forming drifts in the upstate region. It was only a few degrees above zero there.

Ice jams in the Niagara river shriveled the majestic American falls to a mere trickle and the biggest "ice bridge" in years covered the stream below the cataract.

LECHE MAJORITY REACHES 181,359

Secretary Of State's Tabulation Shows Only 27 Precincts Missing

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 25.—(AP)—With only 27 precincts missing, tabulation by Secretary of State E. A. Conway late today showed Judge Richard W. Leche received 363,555 votes for governor to 172,206 for Congressman Cleveland Dear, or a majority of 181,349.

With the same number of precincts missing, the tabulation—unofficial because incomplete—showed the following count in other contests:

United States senator (unexpired term)—Oscar K. Allen 358,940; Frank J. Looney 156,812; Irving Ward-Steinman 6,852. Majority of 195,176.

United States senator (regular term)—Allen J. Ellender 355,821; John N. Sandlin 163,640; Irving Ward-Steinman 3,987.

Secretary of state—E. A. Conway 357,321; Francis Williams 162,442.

The count indicated Leche carried 61 out of 64 parishes, losing only East and West Feliciana, and West Baton Rouge, and that Conway lost only West Baton Rouge and West Feliciana.

Complete tabulation showed:

That Dr. John K. Griffith was nominated sixth district congressman by a majority of 10,630, receiving 40,890 votes to 28,614 for Congressman J. Y. Sanders, Jr., and 1,646 for E. M. Whitman.

That Judge A. L. Ponder, Jr., was nominated to the supreme court by a majority of 8,475, receiving 42,828 votes to 31,140 for Judge W. Carruth Jones, and 3,213 for Judge Columbus Reid.

That Congressman J. O. Fernandez was renamed in the first district over William Ruth, 66,491 to 17,498, a majority of 48,993.

That Congressman Paul H. Maloney was renamed in the second district over A. R. Christovich 64,216 votes to 23,261, a majority of 40,955.

That Overton Brooks was nominated fourth district congressman, receiving 28,668 votes to 9,399 for A. S. Drew; 7,771 for W. V. Lunn; and 6,741 for Thomas W. Robertson, a majority of 5,457.

That E. Howard McCaleb, Jr., was nominated to the Orleans court of appeal over W. H. Talbot 127,532 to 42,863, a majority of 84,639.

With only ten precincts missing, Robert L. Mouton was leading Numa Montet, incumbent, in the third district congressional race 29,761 to 21,189, or by 8,572 votes.

In Avoyelles parish in which Gaston L. Porterie, incumbent, and Philo Coco, who ran against him for attorney-general lived in the same ward and precinct, Porterie carried ward, precinct and parish. Porterie's parish majority was 2,319.

Bilbo Promises To Oppose Pat Harrison's Reelection

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—An "all the way" campaign to beat his colleague, Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, was promised today by Senator Bilbo.

Harrison responded he was not "deterred or frightened by the threat of my colleague's opposition."

The political feud arose as an aftermath of Bilbo's opposition to the nomination of Judge Edwin R. Holmes to the circuit court of appeals. Harrison recommended Holmes to the White House and backed his endorsement yesterday at a senate committee hearing bristling with exchanges between the two Mississippians.

At the conclusion of a senate judiciary sub-committee investigation today, Harrison said he was confident Holmes' appointment would be confirmed by the senate.

As the hearing recessed Bilbo was asked if he would support Harrison for re-election.

"Hell, no," was his reply. "Do you think I'd support a man that treats a colleague the way he has me? I'll go all the way, honorably, to have him defeated."

Asked whom he planned to support, Bilbo said:

"Someone that will respect me."

In answer to this, Harrison said he had done "verything humanly possible to be agreeable and to cooperate with Senator Bilbo."

In a statement, he said he regretted Bilbo "finds this incident to break with me."

"It may make my task harder but I have no doubt that the people of Mississippi appreciate the situation and will rally to my defense," he said.

NEW COUNT PUTS FINK IN RUN-OFF RACE IN OUACHITA

HIGH MAN LACKS ONLY 2 BALLOTS OF A MAJORITY

Fink, Inabnet, Parker And Burgess To Take Part In Second Primary

Discovery of a discrepancy of 60 votes in the first canvass of the ballots for state representative in Ouachita parish will make necessary a four-sided run-off election to determine the two winners in the race.

The discrepancy was disclosed in a second canvass of the ballots held Saturday by Carl H. McHenry, chairman of the parish Democratic executive committee, which was made at the request of Porter Burgess, one of the candidates. The run-off election will be held between Paul Fink, Porter Burgess, Barlow Inabnet, and Hillyer S. Parker.

The second canvass showed that Mr. Inabnet had received 60 votes more than he had previously been credited with, due to a mistake of an election commissioner in totalling the tallies in one precinct. The commissioner had made the total 111, while the second canvass showed the figures should have been 171, it was stated by Mr. McHenry. The effect of the revised figures was to reduce the majority of Mr. Fink over the other candidates and deprived him of the election by two votes. The revised figures were: Fink, 6,605; Burgess, 6,579; Inabnet, 4,439; Parker, 4,312; Cox, 3,606; Saterfiel, 885. The total number of votes cast, according to these figures, was 26,426.

A constitutional majority for any candidate, since two are to be elected, would be one-fourth of the total number of votes cast in the election. On this basis 6,607 votes were necessary

DEFER ACTION ON AAA REPLACEMENT

Attempts To Construct Temporary Substitute Meet Opposition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Fresh attempts to construct a temporary AAA replacement program with subsidies for "economic" use of land today struck another wall of bi-partisan opposition that forecast further drastic revisions.

The Jones-Bankhead bill as modified by the agriculture department expanded rather than curtailed questioned powers sought for the secretary of agriculture under the original draft.

It was debated at a stormy closed session of the senate agriculture committee, and so loud was the cry of "unconstitutional" from the lips of both Democrats and Republicans that Chairman Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, deferred action until Secretary Wallace could appear Monday.

He will be asked for legal advice as to whether the redraft would stand up under the supreme court's AAA decision.

Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, co-sponsor of the legislation, appeared virtually alone among committeemen in contending it was constitutional and feasible.

As made public by Smith, the new bill was far from the completely revamped measure that had been predicted.

The policy declaration was broad-

ICE FIELD BEARING MEN, HORSES FOUND OUT ON CASPIAN SEA

MOSCOW, Jan. 26.—(Sunday)—An ice field on which 1,825 fishermen have been marooned for ten days was located today 150 miles out in the Caspian sea.

An airplane flew over the ice island and dropped medical supplies. The pilot reported the field had stopped drifting. The men were marooned when the ice broke away from shore Jan. 16.

The castaways confirmed his statement by a message from their small portable wireless set and reported the fishing was so good at the place they were taking advantage of it to increase their hauls.

Steamers are leaving immediately to trasport the men, who have 1,400 horses with them, to shore.

Airplanes are searching in vain for other floe castaways, estimated to number 41.

SPURNS MOVIES

Ernest Lubitsch, famous film director, offered Helen Hawkins (above) a job in the movies, but the pretty transcontinental airline stewardess turned it down flat. "I don't think I'd be any good at acting," she said. "And besides, I like to fly." (Associated Press Photo).

FARMERVILLE MAN IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY HUNTER

J. O. Stancil, 37, of Farmerville, is in a serious condition at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic here as the result of a gunshot wound accidentally inflicted by J. W. Roan, 18, also of Farmerville, during a hunting expedition in D'Arbonne swamp four miles from Farmerville, Saturday morning.

According to Roan, he said that he, Stancil, Junior Roan, Lathan Aulds and Bathon Aulds went rabbit hunting yesterday morning. Roan declared he shot a rabbit with his gun, an old model 12-gauge pump shotgun, and he thought the magazine was empty, but the hammer fell on a shell in the barrel and the load of shot was discharged into Stancil's right leg. Stancil was standing on a log at the time the accident occurred.

First aid was administered to the wounded man who was taken to Farmerville. From there he was brought to Monroe where it was found that his right leg had been broken just below the hip and that he was also suffering from loss of blood.

GIBSLAND, La., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The explosion of a boiler at an oil well ten miles south of Gibsland today fatally burned Leonard Holtzclaw, 30, a truck driver of Minden, and seriously scalded George Champion, 48, a fireman at the well.

The injured man was taken to a Shreveport hospital.

VICTORY CLAIMED BY BOTH SIDES IN BLOODY CONFLICT

Fascist Divisions Sent To Relieve Makale Declared Wiped Out

ADDIS ABABA BEGINS WILD CELEBRATION OF OCCASION

Italy Also Rejoices; Festivities Marred By Mediterranean Pact

(By Associated Press)

The biggest and bloodiest battle of the young African war has just been fought in the rugged passes of northern Ethiopia, with thousands reported slain. Both Italy and Ethiopia claimed victory.

In Addis Ababa the government said that Makale, advance point of the Italians in the north, had been encircled. Two fascist divisions sent to relieve Makale were wiped out, officials added.

The battle, a communique stated, "finally ended in victory for Ethiopia with two important Italian fronts taken."

In Rome, the opposite was claimed. An official communique said the fascists had smashed Ethiopian forces planning an attack upon the northern army.

The Ethiopian dead were placed at 5,000 and Italy's at 743.

Italians hailed it as their second major success in ten days. The other was a reported victory on the southern front.

ETHIOPIA CLAIMS VICTORY OVER FOES

ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Ethiopia claimed victory in "the biggest battle of the war" today and said Makale, advance point of the Italian northern front, was surrounded.

Two fascist columns trying to save the troops in Makale were wiped out, the government asserted, adding that thousands of Italians and Eritreans fell in the fighting.

A bitter battle which has raged for days on the northern front "finally ended in victory for Ethiopia with two

NEW GAS FIELD FOUND AT SLIGO

Producers Oil And Gas Company Brings In Big Well In Bossier

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Opening a new, mile-deep and greater producing horizon for the Sligo gas field of Bossier parish, the Producers Oil and Gas company (Will E. Hall and H. M. Harrell) et al today completed Pettit No. 1 with estimated daily potential of 75,000,000 cubic feet of heavily saturated gas. The well is situated in ne-ne-nw section 17-17-11, 10 miles due east of Shreveport.

The new producing level constitutes the first new oil or gas field discovered in Louisiana in 1936.

Testing of the well followed a fortnight of intense excitement among local oil circles which saw leases and royalty prices in the area double then triple in price.

Washing was begun shortly after noon while a crowd well sprinkled with north Louisiana oil men looked on. At 4:10 p. m. the pumps were shut down and the test began cleaning itself. Half an hour later the mighty well was yielding a pure white gas which told operators that

ARMY OFFICER IS ACCUSED OF FRAUD IN LEGAL SERVICES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The war department revealed today that Colonel Joseph I. McMullen of the army judge advocate general's department was arraigned before a general court martial here January 9 on charges of accepting money for legal services from civilian interested in army contracts.

After the arraignment, the court martial was postponed until February 17 to provide time for legal preparations. The proceedings were at Walter Reed hospital, from which Colonel McMullen recently was discharged after a long illness.

He was arraigned under the 96th article of war relating to "offenses to the prejudice of good order and military discipline."

LAST SEMESTER TO OPEN MONDAY

Parish Schools Start New Term; Tests Planned At Northeast Center

The Ouachita parish high school and grammar schools of this system, will enter upon the last semester of the school year tomorrow morning. Examinations were held in the high school the past week. The Neville high school and the city schools will have their examinations this week and will enter on the work of the second semester a week later than will the parish schools.

The Northeast Center of Louisiana State university follows the schedule of the parish schools, examinations being conducted all this week and the second semester opening on Monday, February 3.

In order that no time be lost, registrations for the second semester will be in order all this week at the college. Those who fail to register this week will have to pay a penalty for registering late, Dean C. C. Colvert said.

The regular registration fee is $20 a semester. This pays laboratory fees, subscription to the Pow Wow and other incidentals.

Dean Colvert expects the registration to be slightly larger for the second semester as a number of new students are expected to enter.

Here's Swift and Direct Action to Relieve That Cold

External Treatment Helps End Colds Without Risks of Constant "Dosing."

JUST RUB IT ON AT BEDTIME

Two generations of mothers have proved Vicks VapoRub the most effective treatment for children's colds. VapoRub is external—and safe. Its use avoids the risks of constant internal "dosing" which so often upsets digestion and appetite, thus lowering body resistance when most needed.

Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub starts to work immediately—two ways at once:

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster—
2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this powerful poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm — soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing —helps break congestion.

A Practical Guide for Mothers

Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds and shorter colds by Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of the Plan in each package of Vicks VapoRub.

James Joyce, Noted Writer, To Observe Birthday Soon

By Raymond J. Crowley
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A writer who has drawn upon his head perhaps the strangest mixture of rapturous praise and fierce denunciation of any literary figure of the 20th century will be 54 years old Feb. 2.

James Joyce, author of the vast and famous volume "Ulysses," doubtless will spend the birthday in his Paris flat, weaving further words that will affront the orthodox and delight the ultra-modern.

For words are the passion of this Irish writer. Hardly had he finished his 700-page psychological odyssey of Leopold Bloom, a Dublin Jew conceived as a modern Ulysses, than he embarked on a new adventure into the literary unknown—an attempt to present a dream-world to his readers in language compounded largely of strange hybrid words coined from dozens of tongues.

Despite failing eyesight that sometimes forced him to do his writing with crayon in huge letters, he pursued this work unremittingly, publishing it piece meal under the title "Work In Progress."

On this birthday Joyce, if he chose, could raise his fine voice and sing like some bard of old, of conquests won. An earlier novel, his autobiographical "Portrait of the Artist As a Young Man," is widely read in many countries as an outstanding example of the naturalistic method.

Some of his work, notably short sketches published under the title "Dubliners," have found their way into world anthologies, even those popular with the Christmas trade.

Moreover, his "Ulysses," after being banned from America as obscene ever since its publication in 1922, finally leaped the customs barriers in 1933. Federal Judge John M. Woolsey of New York, in an unusual decision which called the work "brilliant" though "dull" in spots, held it was "emetic" but not an "aphrodisiac."

The judge took note of the short, ugly Anglo-Saxon words and references which usually are soft-pedalled in drawing-room conversations, but he ruled that there was no "dirt for dirt's sake."

Ulysses, a combination of naturalistic and symbolic methods, is the story of a man's search for his spiritual son and the son's search for the father. Bloom-Ulysses, the "father," is an advertisment solicitor with a wife who (to put it mildly) is no strict observer of the marital bond. Admirers of Joyce have hailed Bloom's creation as one of the most remarkable feats in literature.

The "son" Stephen Dedalus (Joyce) is a young, poverty-stricken man of artistic bent who has broken from ties of home, church and country "to forge in the smithy of my soul the uncreated conscience of my race."

Through the book is interwoven a tremendous amount of symbolism, including many homeric recalls. The action takes place in a single day in Dublin, a city which apparently never fades in Joyce's memory though he has spent long years in voluntary exile on the continent.

Edmund Wilson, American critic to whom Joyce is a "great master of letters," says in his book "Axel's Castle" that in Ulysses "we possess Dublin, seen, heard, smelt and felt, brooded over, imagined, remembered."

ARKANSAS FARMERS REVIVE OLD CUSTOM

ASHDOWN, Ark., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Arkansas farmers are reviving a custom identified with America's pioneer days—house raising.

Elbert E. Karns, agricultural engineer for the University of Arkansas, said today that small land owners, striving to build modern farms at the lowest possible cost are making needed building improvements from an abundant supply of timber and native rock.

A typical house-raising was staged in Little River county, Karns reported.

"About 25 farmers got together to help a deserving neighbor build a log house. The man had a very limited amount of money for building purposes, but he was energetic and ambitious and wanted a better home for his family," Karns said.

"The men enjoyed the day's work as was evidenced by their conversation, jokes, interest in the demonstration and the fine spirit of cooperation shown by everyone present. The women prepared and served an excellent picnic lunch."

Karns said use of natural resources permits the erection of all types of farm buildings from logs, homesawed lumber, or rocks and mortar. The only cash outlay necessary is for doors, windows and minor building materials.

TO INCREASE WAGE SCALE FOR BRICK, PLASTER WORK

The scale of wages of the bricklayers, plasterers and tile setters' local union will be raised next Saturday, February 1, from $9 per day to $10, according to an announcement made last November 10, it was stated yesterday by J. W. Nelson, treasurer of the union.

The announcement that the wage increase would become effective February 1 was made in November so that contractors in the intervening period when figuring contracts for work to be done after that date would make their bids accordingly.

Increase in the cost of living was given as the reason for the scale increase. It was pointed out that members of the union work irregularly and that before 1930 the daily scale here was $13 and $14.

Manchukuo contains more than 88,000,000 acres of forest, 1,700,000,000 tons of coal, and 400,000,000 tons of iron. The annual output of Japanese ore mines at Fushan and Yenai is about 7,000,000 tons.

The theme of the final message of Captain Walker tonight will be "The Christian, Theater, Cards and Dances."

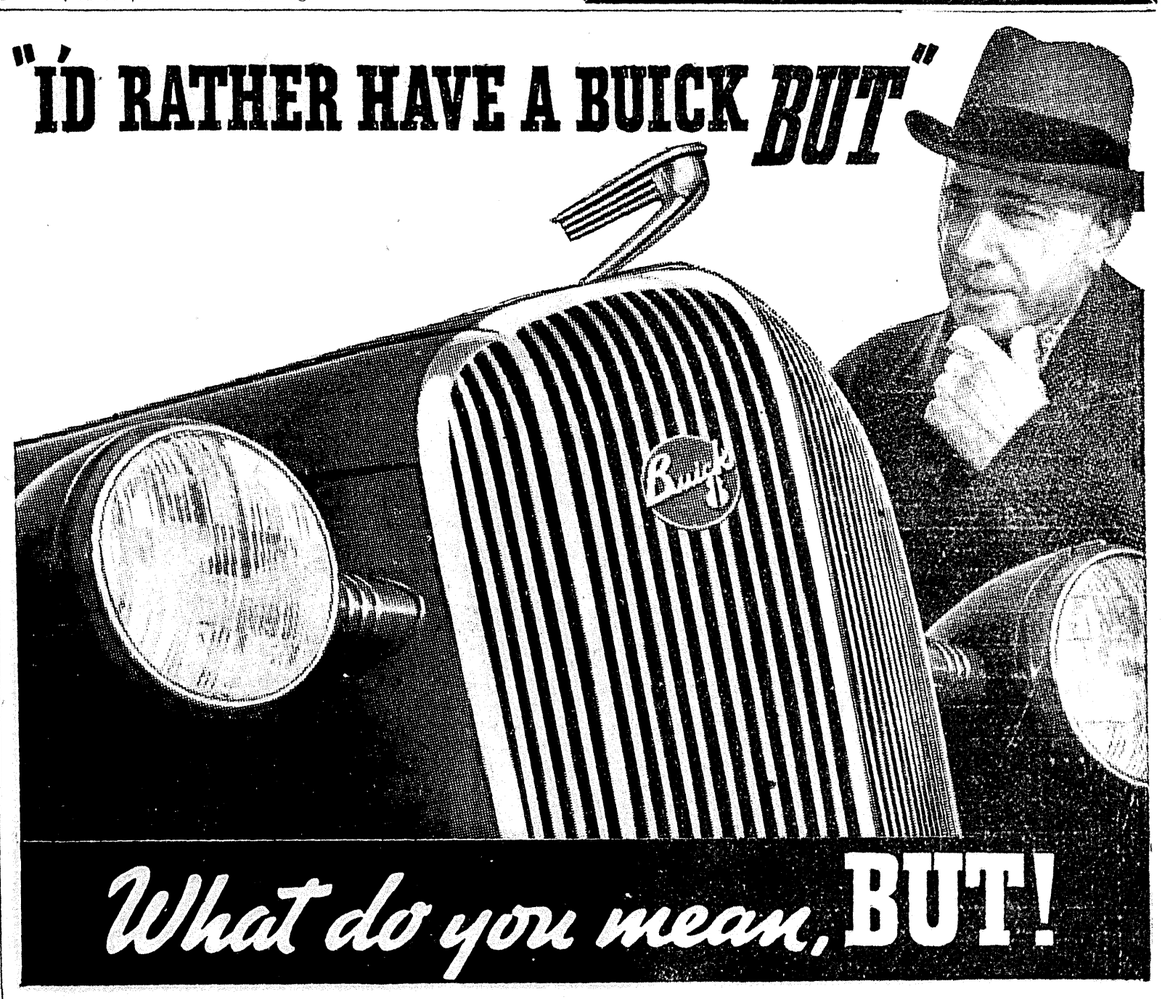
"I'D RATHER HAVE A BUICK BUT"



What do you mean, BUT!

WHAT keeps you from driving a Buick—not next year—but now—today?

Is it the money?

Time payments on a Buick are but two or three dollars a week more than on the lowest-priced cars—less than that, when you figure the "extras" a smaller car usually calls for.

Is it the upkeep?

Buick is a big comfortable car that gives small-car gas mileage, small-car mileage on oil. You'll keep a Buick at least a year longer than you'll keep a lesser car—and probably spend less on it for service and repair in the meantime!

Could it be habit?

Maybe you get used to buying in the low-priced field—you get the idea a big car costs too much to run—you resign yourself to small-car comfort, ability, performance—and plain human nature keeps you from inquiring further!

Maybe a Buick is a bit beyond your reach. But let's not admit it until we've got the actual figures!

We'll gamble our time against yours to show you just what a Buick will cost—to buy—to run—to keep in good condition. We've surprised many a small-car owner with our thrifty figures, thrilled them with a demonstration.

Let us show you our arithmetic—and what a Buick can do out on the road.

It won't cost a penny—and it may make you a lot happier—with a Buick!

IT COSTS LESS NOW TO BUY ON TIME!
The new GMAC 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN not only makes it easier to figure the cost of buying on time, but saves money that you can use to get a better car. For example, a Buick Special business coupe listing at the factory (safety glass included, standard and special accessory groups extra) at only . . . $765*

The State Election

Voters of Louisiana have designated Judge Richard W. Leche as their next governor, by a clear majority. We accept the result of the balloting without rancor, and express to Judge Leche our hope that his administration will bring true progress for the people and the state.

Both during the campaign and after the outcome of the primary became known, Judge Leche evidenced a desire to draw Louisiana out of the morass of intense partisan conflict and lead the state forward without arraying class against class in fruitless conflict.

We are in complete accord with this aim, believing that in the years of the immediate future the well-being of the people will be best promoted by concentrating attention on the full development of Louisiana's rich natural resources.

Adherence to this purpose will hasten the day when the whole state will prosper through a profit-making agriculture, steadily expanding industries and a busy flow of commerce maintained by productive manpower and enterprising investments.

In dealing with the state campaign this newspaper discussed issues, not personalities.

Our opinion concerning these issues has not changed. We still advocate repeal of the statute placing selection of school teachers under state control. We still believe that the traditional method of conducting elections should be restored, and that other laws destroying local self-government should be taken from the statute books.

The program which Judge Leche proposes does not run counter to the principles which this newspaper has espoused. Instead, the steps we have recommended are logical and necessary in achieveing the unity of effort which is his goal.

Louisiana's next governor will have the friendly support of the Morning World and News-Star in all measures serving the public welfare. Without forfeiting the obligation of constructive criticism inherent in the privileges of a free press, this newspaper will do what it can to aid Judge Leche in meeting the problems which now confront the state.

There is, after all, no real disunity among Louisiana's people in respect to the fundamental functions of state government. The partisan storms which sweep the surface do not reach below to touch the almost universal desire for honest government, for good schools, or for other essentials of well-ordered democracy.

It is upon these fundamentals that Judge Leche can build unity of effort within the state. We hope and believe that he will do so.

CARS TO BE JUNKED

A large automobile company has decided to allow its dealers $20 on every used car accepted this month as a trade-in and junked. As the appropriation for this purpose is $1,000,000, it may mean that 50,000 unfit and unsafe cars will be taken off the highways. It also means an indirect price concession to buyers of new cars. And, if it works, the scheme will earn the company itself a profit.

This is "plowing under" of a character to win general approval. It will accomplish an object widely recognized as good, while the risk is taken by the party that stands to win, if it succeeds; to lose, if it proves a failure. This sort of thing could not, of course, be done if the automobile industry were governed and controlled by codes. It promotes the very sort of competition that the code system was designed to eliminate or discourage.

There is plenty to be said—and it has been said early and often—against uncontrolled and cutthroat competition. But there is much life left in a system of reasonable business freedom which, at private risk, attempts to confer an all-around benefit.

WELCOME TO A NEW CITIZEN

Dr. Albert Einstein, renowned scientist, evidently has found life in the United States all that he expected it to be when he fled from the Nazi terrorism of Hitler's Germany. That, in any event, is the conclusion naturally drawn from the news that this distinguished gentleman, who has been pursuing his research work at Princeton, is on the way to becoming an American citizen.

The people of the United States will welcome so eminent an addition to the ranks of civic life. Dr. Einstein has proved himself to be a fine gentleman, a worthy scholar and a good neighbor. The country as a whole, will rejoice that he has seen fit to seek formal Americanization.

Ruthless racial animosity has forced many a notable character from the confines of the German Reich. But in no case has the toll of prejudice been greater than in the case of Dr. Einstein, who obviously wants and expects nothing more than an opportunity to follow the course of scientific achievement in a setting free from the sinister and distracting influences of intolerant autocracy.

Norway and Sweden teach us that nations need no armament, provided they have nothing that anybody wants.

The chief trouble is that our go-getters have become let-the-government-do-it-ers.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

TOUGH LUCK

When I learned that there are gasses
Which will keep the toiling masses
  Well supplied with light and power
For a billion years or so,
  I said, "Isn't that just splendid?
  Now at least one trouble's ended,
Our supply of needful forces
  Cannot possibly run low.
No worry for the future I can see
And what a consolation that will be."

So I kept the furnace glowing
Not a single thought bestowing
  On how much I'd have to ante
For the year's supply of heat.
Everything seemed fine and rosy,
I was warm and snug and cozy
  And contentedly I listened
While I heard the meter mete.
I thought that life would soon be one sweet song,
But suddenly I found that I was wrong.

Now I'm bitter and disgusted,
For the gas to which I trusted
  Does not come from our own planet
But from other greater spheres.
It's no use to us, gol dern it
We can never mine nor burn it
  And its heat could never reach us
  For a hundred billion years.
And so although they may be learned men
I'll never trust astronomers again.

'Hell-Holes' Of Creation

By BRUCE CATTON

An accident not long ago ended the life of L. M. Nesbitt, that talented Englishman whose "Hell-Hole of Creation" gave such a graphic picture of Ethiopia's terrible Danakil desert region. But before he died Mr. Nesbitt produced another book, in which he revealed that the Danakil desert is not the only hell-hole that the earth affords.

This book, just published, is entitled "Desolate Marches," and the hell-hole involved is the back country of Venezuela, whither Mr. Nesbitt went to do a job of surveying for an oil company.

In the Danakil, Mr. Nesbitt suffered because the country was hot and dry; in Venezuela, because it was hot and wet. The Danakil was full of untamed tribesmen who had a weakness for cutting off the heads of strangers; the Venezuelan jungle, of poisonous snakes, death-dealing fevers, horrible leeches, and swarms of biting, stinging and burrowing insects whom no amount of medication could discourage.

And so in Venezuela, as in the desert, Mr. Nesbitt made a difficult and uncomfortable journey that was frequently extremely perilous.

His book is a fascinating account of a little-known and hostile land. It is also the history of a slow decline in an old society; this Venezuela back country had its boom about the time of the American revolution, and has been going downhill ever since, with the jungles full of the ruins of abandoned villages and gone-to-seed ranches.

"Desolate Marches," something out of the ordinary in travel books, is well worth reading.

New Deal In Washington

WASHINGTON.—Behind the investigation of West Virginia's silicosis horror is the hope the the doom of the Gauley bridge tunnel workers may be dramatized so effectively as to safeguard the lives of thousands more who face the perils of occupational disease.

The parade of "walking dead men" who breathed the fatal silica dust while drilling the tunnel and who have been summoned before Congressman Vito Marcantonio's house labor sub-committee to tell their story has a serious purpose.

Many other men, still strong and healthy, are exposed to equal dangers, according to Marcantonio, for a huge labor surplus in this country forces workmen into jobs which they might be able to spurn in normal times.

First, Marcantonio—who is responsible for the inquiry—hopes to induce the department of labor to appoint a board of three to make an exhaustive study with the aim of future prevention.

Hopes To Arouse States

Perhaps, Marcantonio says, the harrowing tale of Gauley bridge will make the country "silicosis-conscious" and state legislatures will make silicosis a compensable disease under workmen's compensation laws. Only five states now do so, he says.

State laws providing safeguards would avert repetitions of Gauley bridge. According to Marcantonio, silicosis is a hazard in mining, ore milling, stone and cement quarrying, slate-splitting, cement manufacturing, stone-crushing, and silica grinding, in emery works, talc mills, abrasive paper or cloth manufacturing, and deep excavation work.

Cite Alleged "Gouging"

On many big projects it is the custom of contractors to hire gangs of workers from all parts of the country. At Gauley Bridge, witnesses have charged, from 12 to 14 men—sometimes with women and children—were housed in a single shack and charged 25 cents a week apiece for electricity, 50 cents for shelter, 25 cents for "doctor," 25 cents for "hospital," and so on.

Evidence also alleged that when workers went to the company store to cash pay checks they were charged 10 per cent for the service. The shack-rousster (he gets the men on the job in the morning) is alleged to have had a gambling concession—with a heavy cut—from the company, which, witnesses said, had him made a deputy sheriff.

On such jobs—including government jobs hired out to contractors—men at the end of a week were said often to owe more to the company than they had in their pay envelopes. And at Gauley Bridge, according to testimony, after the job was over and men began to find they and their dead comrades were silicosis victims, "the company" burned the shacks in which many still sought to live.

Marcantonio hopes perhaps this investigation will prevent anything of the nature in the future.

Stories Are Appalling

If you had been at the hearing, you wouldn't soon forget the stories of the pathetic victims whose lungs are solidifying as a result of the work they did.

One important witness, who was unable to attend, but sent a statement by mail—Dr. R. L. Harless, Gauley Bridge physician who has treated scores of the victims—asserted, however, that "the situation has been exaggerated." He expressed doubt that nearly as many had died and were suffering from silicosis as reported by the press and by Gauley Bridge residents.

The letter brought sharp criticisms from the committee, and charges of inconsistency on the part of the doctor.

Little can be done for the survivors from the 2,000 men who drilled the mountain and its silica bed and who, according to many charges, are victims of disregard for human safety.

If you like, you may send a pair of shoes, some clothes, or some food to the Gauley Bridge Relief Committee at Gauley Bridge, W. Va., and the recipients will be appropriately grateful, because they're not in very good shape to rustle their own.

Lights Of New York

By George Ross

NEW YORK.—Ever since Byron swam the Hellespont, and Shelley stormed unclothed through one of his wife's teatime soirees, author's foibles have given lounge lizards something to talk about. Though modern-day authors—with the possible exception of Richard Halliburton—are more retiring than some of their predecessors, their antics still furnish plenty of idle chatter.

One of Manhattan's important literary figures at the present writing is Mr. Thomas Wolfe—the small town boy from North Carolina whose last two novels, "Look Homeward Angel" and "Of Time and the River," have placed him in the front rank of the nation's literary white hopes.

Recently, Wolfe was invited to a swanky party over on Sutton place. Now Wolfe, whose novels run well over six hundred printed pages, is a fidgety fellow. He can't stand the noise of a typewriter, and so does all of his writing 1, laborious long hand, setting it down in ordinary double entry bookkeeping ledgers. When he arrived at the social, he informed his hostess that he had brought along his manuscript. Would she mind if he brought it in? She was delighted with the idea.

Wolfe excused himself and returned in five minutes with a taxi driver who was carrying a crate large enough to hold a refrigerator.

"What," the hostess asked, "is that?"

Wolfe sat down on the box. "This, he answered, "is my newest novel.—Now, may I have a drink, please?"

Closing Chapter

Most authors are always trying "to get away from it all and be alone." This habit of emulating Garbo has its share of eccentricity, too. Pearl Buck, whose "Good Earth" led the best seller lists for many months, took a house up in Connecticut not long ago to escape from the noise and travail of Manhattan. Miss Buck had another book to finish. After a few weeks, the unceasing line of tourists who beat a path to her door to ask for autographs and annoy her in general, made the clatter of Manhattan seem like a bucolic blessing. She hung up signs, "Beware of the dog!" she attempted frightening people, but in vain.

Finally, the members of the town board were amazed one day to find Miss Buck addressing them in person, demanding that the county close the road which led by her house so that she could get some work finished!

Driven To Protest

All of which reminds me of an anecdote about the late Rudyard Kipling, which is going the rounds. It seems that in the days when Kipling lived in Sussex, there was a bus driver who used to point out Kipling to his fares, with a flourish of his whip. Kipling wrote a letter of protest to the bus proprietor. There was no answer. He wrote again, and again. Finally he called. The bus proprietor received him amiably. He was all smiles.

"I wish you would write me a letter every day, Mr. Kipling," he said, "they sell well. It's much better than the bus business . . . !"

Not long ago Ben Hecht was leaning against the rail of his favorite tavern in the West Fifties, when a sweet young thing dashed up to him and gushed: "Aren't you Ben Hecht?"

Hecht grimaced. "Yes," he said, "I'm Ben Hecht all right."

"You know," the gal tittered, "I'm one of your chronic readers."

"Tch-tch," Hecht answered, turning to his drink, "what do you take for it?"

But I believe that it was George Bernard Shaw who elevated the squelching wise-crack to a position of eminence. Shaw was seated next to a young woman who babbled on ceaselessly. Finally, she turned to the Wizard of Whitehall and said: "Isn't youth a wonderful thing, Mr. Shaw?"

Shaw looked the young lady up and down, smiled tolerantly and answered: "Yes—and what a pity it is to waste it upon children."

A STAMPING CORNER

By W. J. KIRBY

Death of King George V on Monday last, causes much speculation regarding new issues of the British empire. Beyond all probability, a mourning stamp will be issued by Great Britain, as well as by the colonies and dominions. Should only one value be issued this would undoubtedly be the one pence, with the corresponding value for the colonies.

Since the death of the king follows so closely the celebration of his silver jubilee, such an issue would be a fitting companion for the jubilee issue, and would, no doubt, prove quite as popular.

The ascension of King Edward VIII to the throne will probably call for a complete new issue for the empire, since it is the custom to portray the reigning monarch on the stamps. King Edward will not be a newcomer to philatelists. As the Prince of Wales he appears on the 5c imperial conference stamp of Canada, and again on the 5c silver jubilee.

He also appears on the 3c of the Newfoundland royal family issue of 1911, where he is pictured as a mere lad. He again appears on the 4c value from Newfoundland in the issues of 1928, 1929 and 1931, these portraits being identical. A new portrait makes its appearance on a later issue of 1931, and again in 1932, the portraits being identical, but of a different color.

The Twin City Stamp club is planning an exhibit to be held in March or April, the exact date to be determined later. Persons interested in entering frames are requested to get in touch with J. W. Cunningham. The club is asking for the loan of a frame from the postoffice department for the exhibit.

The first U. S. stamp for 1936 will be a 16c air mail special delivery, which will make its appearance on Feb. 10, with first day of sale at Washington only. The stamp will be bi-colored—red frame with blue center. It will be identical in design with the stamp now in use.

Persons desiring first day covers should send covers at once to the postmaster at Washington, together with money order or coin to pay for the stamps desired. Do not send other stamps in payment; do not order mint stamps from the postmaster, but from the philatelic agency.

THOMAS AGAIN IS ELECTED SHERIFF

Complete Unofficial Returns From Jackson Parish Are Given

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 25.—(Special).—Belated returns from the 20 precincts of Jackson parish show that Sheriff Neil Thomas was reelected by a large majority. W. S. Barr, parish assessor, was also returned with a majority of more than a thousand votes.

The complete unofficial tabulation is as follows: For sheriff, Neil Thomas 2,320, Allen 1,103, Wilder 715. State senator, Abernathy 327, Noe 2,657, Thompson 1,064. Representative May, an administrationist, was defeated.

Returns from the congressional race were not available.

A second primary is slated to fill the office of state representative with Kilpatrick and Wingate in the runoff.

The Jackson parish police jury will be composed of new members, as every incumbent, with the exception of Kilpatrick, who is in the second race for representative, was defeated. Allen, another police juror, was defeated for sheriff. Guess of ward three was defeated by S. A. Brown. Dickerson of ward four was defeated, and a runoff between Upchurch and Whitman will decide this place. Smith of ward five was defeated by Martin. Davis of ward six was defeated and a runoff is slated between Netherland and McBride. Garner of ward seven was defeated by Meredith.

Three of the old school board members were defeated and their places will be filled by Grady Spillers of ward one, Odus W. Moore of ward six and W. H. Cook of ward seven. Cook defeated Charles N. Womack, president of the board.

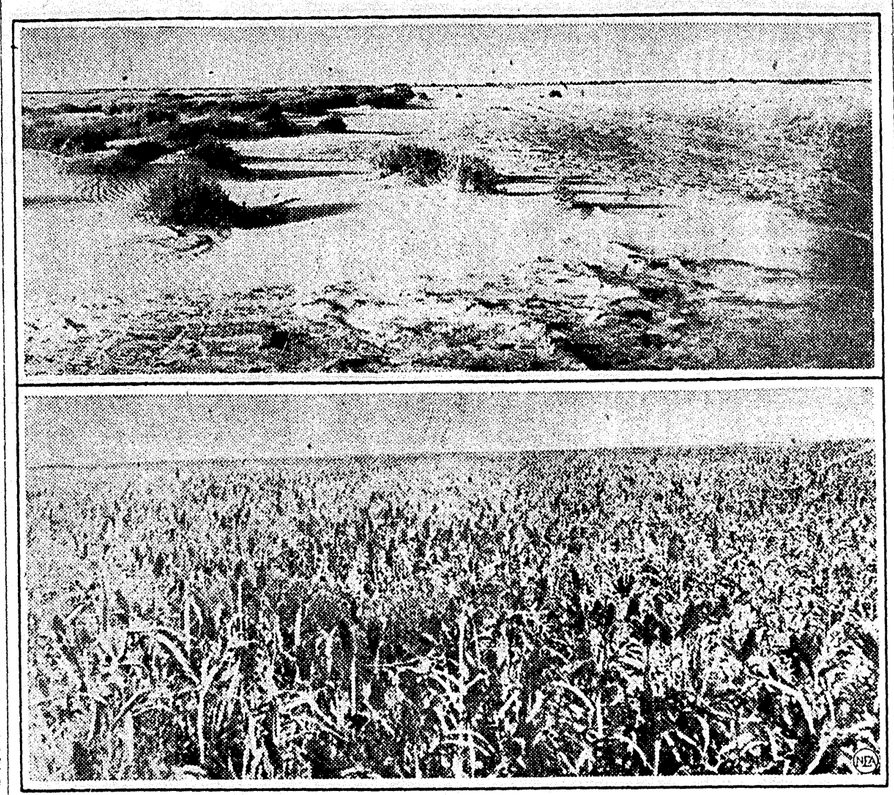
BEFORE AND AFTER U. S. BEGAN TO SAVE SOIL



Remarkable success of the U. S. soil conservation service in battling erosion and saving farm lands of the southwest ravaged by dust storms is strikingly shown in these contrast pictures. The upper scene shows a portion of the D. M. Knight farm in the Dallam county, Texas demonstration area on Nov. 12, 1934. The soil to the right had been blown out to a depth of six to eight inches and the hummocks on the left were a foot to two feet high. The hummocks were leveled, milo maize planted as an "anchor" crop, a row crop will be planted this year, and within two years, government experts say, the land will be normally productive again.

DEFER ACTION ON AAA REPLACEMENT

ened to include as one of the aims a continuous and stable supply of agricultural commodities adequate to meet domestic and foreign consumer requirements "at prices fair to both producers and consumers."

This change alone was described as increasing the constitutional doubts by Senator Murphy, Democrat, Iowa, a member of the all-Democratic subcommittee that reported the new measure to the full committee today.

Another evidence of attempted crop production control was seen by some in a revised section giving the secretary of agriculture virtually unlimited authority to subsidize farmers after taking into consideration "the productivity of the acreage affected by the farming practices adopted during the year with respect to which such payment is made."

As had been forecast, the new bill provides that the individual farm-aid plan would be operative only until January 1, 1938. After that grants would be made "by assistance to and cooperation with the states in state action calculated to effectuate" the objectives in the statement of policy.

"Funds available after December 31, 1937, to carry out the purposes of section 7 (policy aims)," a new section reads, "shall be expended in any state only through grants to such state for such purposes pursuant to federal law to be enacted, except for payments in connection with farming operations carried out prior to January 1, 1938, and administrative expenses in connection therewith."

Senator Smith, who termed the original bill unconstitutional, said there were "certain features" of the new edition which in his opinion "sail pretty close, if they do not cross, the constitutional line."

LLOYD GEORGE says the new king, Edward VIII, has the magnetism of his grandfather, Edward VII, comes to the throne with as great troubles ahead as few kings have ever encountered, but "his courage and his sure instinct will not fail him."

THE STATEMENT that imagination is worse than reality applies to everything, death included, let us hope.

When a colony of nudists moved on San Diego, Calif., the strongest protest comes from San Diego's Braille club, an organization of blind people. They could not actually know whether the colonists were dressed or not, but they do not like the idea.

Consider how men have persecuted, tortured and burned each other for religious differences, in matters that they could neither see nor know.

DELBERT GREEN, sentenced to death for killing his uncle, had the right under Utah's law to choose death by hanging or shooting, and chose the firing squad.

At Decatur, Ala., Heywood Patterson, a negro three times sentenced to death, was finally sentenced to 75 years in prison. He said he would rather go to the electric chair.

Mrs. Victoria Price, white, who admitted that she had been "hoboing her way in a freight car" with a mixed crowd of white men and negroes, had caused several of the latter to be sentenced to death, charging them with misconduct. When she heard that Patterson's sentence had been changed from death to life imprisonment she said indignantly, "it ain't fair." She wanted him killed.

There are many kinds of human nature.

THE DAY is not distant when every man will be able to select his own temperature at any time of the year, if he has airplane fare.

On Thursday when millions of Americans were complaining of zero weather, Buenos Aires, on the other side of the equator, suffering in a temperature of 94 degrees, prayed for cooling rain, which came.

Every temperature exists all the year round, between the poles and the equator; airplanes will let men take their choice, the old and very young moving toward the winter sun, vigorous youth going to the snow and ice of the north.

As yet the baby has not been named.

A second primary will be necessary to determine the election of parish assessor. The race will be between B. W. Goss and W. D. Taylor, incumbent.

The race for state representative will also be submitted to a second primary, the candidates being Guy Holloway, incumbent, and Dr. J. G. Taylor. The vote was: Holloway, 2,099; Taylor, 1,404; Farrar, 1,396; Herndon 252.

The vote for district attorney indicates that W. E. McBride and F. C. Bergeron will probably be in a runoff for the office. The judiciary committee will meet Wednesday at 10 a.m. to canvass the votes for the office, which comprises the parishes of Union and Lincoln.

AUTHORITIES REMOVE BROTHER AND SISTER FROM 'LIVING GRAVE'

RICK ISLAND, Ill., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Authorities today attempted to solve the strange case of Arthur and Daisy Bleuer, brother and sister in their early fifties, who were forcibly removed from a self-imposed existence in a "living grave" last night.

The couple, both whom once were inmates of the East Moline State hospital, had lived since last October in a hole, four feet deep, a few feet long and several feet wide, in an open field on the farm of Paul Bollinger, near here.

The pit had been dug under an old wagon box, which helped to break the piercing suz-zero winds during the past week. Both were thinly clad, but apparently had suffered no ill effects from exposure. Bleuer was clothed in an old pair of trousers, a light coat and overshoes. The woman wore a flimsy dress, an old coat, and galoshes.

High snow drifts were piled about the hole, showing the couple had not left the place since a heavy snow of several days ago.

The couple had been existing on scraps of food and soup brought them by relatives and farmers.

Flush Kidneys of Acid and Poisons

Gain in Health and Stop Getting Up Nights

When kidneys are clogged they become weak—the bladder is irritated—often passage is scanty and smarts and burns—sleep is restless and nightly visits to the bathroom are frequent.

The right safe harmless and inexpensive way to stop this trouble and restore healthy action to kidneys and bladder is to get from any druggist a 35-cent box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules and take as directed—you won't be disappointed.

But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—right from Haarlem in Holland—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic. Remember also that other symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble are backache, leg cramps, puffy eyes, moist palms and nervousness. (Adv.)

MRS. ROOT TELLS STORY OF KILLING

3, after a gay night club party which broke up after she had words with Lucile Underwood, red-haired "cigarette girl," and quarreled with her husband about his attentions to her.

"I told him to wake up," she said, as she told of entering the house of her estranged husband.

"He just pulled the covers up around him like he always did when he didn't want to talk to me. I asked him again to talk to me and he sat up in bed.

"He reached over to get his gun off the floor and I realized how I looked standing there with a gun in my hands. Then my gun felt heavy and he fell onto the floor. I took his gun into the kitchen, because I was afraid he might shoot me. Then, I got down on the floor beside him, and pleaded with him to talk to me."

"It's a lie—oh, you know it's a lie," she almost screamed when McLain thundered at her: "Don't you know that you never loved Brenton Root?"

will be opened until some time in March.

The Kiwanis banquet was held in celebration of the 21st anniversary of the organization of Kiwanis International. Fred G. Thatcher, former divisional lieutenant-governor, was the principal speaker. He reviewed the purposes of Kiwanis as a civic service organization and recited the accomplishments of the West Monroe club in fulfilling its objectives as a unit of an international movement.

"Kiwanis is devoted to the cause of underprivileged children, better understanding between rural and urban communities, higher standards of business and citizenship and the promotion of the public welfare in all its various aspects," said the speaker. "It is especially dedicated to the promotion of a higher spiritual concept of the responsibility of the citizen."

Mr. Thatcher told of the work that has been done by the West Monroe club in its seven years of activity in aiding such projects as flood protection for West Monroe, building the junior college, construction of the traffic bridge establishment of community canning programs, creation of Major McGuire park, and other civic and public enterprises.

"Kiwanis develops its ideals through constructive service," he said.

Plans for the new year, including work on behalf of underprivileged boys and girls and an enlargement of activities in promoting better citizenship, were outlined by President Welch. Fred Williamson, immediate past lieutenant-governor, gave a brief talk on the significance of the Kiwanis emblem.

The entrtainment program included vocal solos by Miss Elizabeth Green and violin solos by Miss Eileen McKinnon. Mrs. Clyde Sanders and Miss Mary Grace Lawn were the accompanists.

Certificates were awarded to members wh had a record of 100 per cent attendance at the club meetings during the past year. Immediate Past President C. C. Bell made the awards.

the gas was heavily saturated with gasoline.

Operators shut the well in late this afternoon and will take a gauge early next week. The state conservation department will order special gauges out of Oklahoma for an accurate test, it was stated.

Governor O. K. Allen and Lieut.-Gov. James A. Noe, who recently purchased half of the producer's 11,000 acre block, were on hand to witness the completion. They reportedly paid $75,000 for their interests in the acreage which is scattered throughout the Sligo area.

Children's Colds Should Have This Safe Treatment

Young Mothers Benefit From Two Generations' Proof of External Treatment.

IT AVOIDS CONSTANT "DOSING"

There's nothing like a child's cold to upset a young mother. And mothers of two generations, anxious to help end colds, have depended on Vicks Vapo-Rub. It is effective—external—and safe. It avoids the risks of constant "dosing," so often upsetting to children's delicate digestions.

Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts direct—two ways at once:

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster—
2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to irritated air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm — soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion.

A Practical Guide for Mothers

Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds and shorter colds by Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of the Plan in each package of Vicks VapoRub.

ARGUMENT RAGES OVER MEANS FOR FINANCING BONUS

on higher brackets bring less money than "commonly thought."

"You can't soak the rich and get any money by it."

Questioned about any possible alternative tax, the white-haired speaker simply said:

"Ask Morgenthau."

Few of the leaders joined in the talk of inflation. It was widespread nevertheless, with several plans advanced, and with one segment of the inflationary bloc planning a concerted effort when an appropriation measure is advanced to pay the bonus. Some have indicated a bonus money bill will be attached to one of the regular appropriation measures.

One high capitol authority, who declined to be quoted by name, went even further. He predicted the money question should be thrust up as a campaign issue.

"I am satisfied," he said, "that the administration is content to inflate the government's $2,000,000,000 to pay it off, but it is likely to wind up with this currency expansion issue being carried into the coming campaign."

The chamber of commerce of the United States expressed dismay ot the outlook in the face of the bonus and other possible outlays which it lumped into the phrase of "huge new prospective expenditures."

Such outlays, the chamber said in a periodic summary, were "not contemplated in the president's budget," and "look disquietingly, particularly as they begin to appear when the hope had been that the expenditure trend would be downward.

"As a result, therefore, earlier official assurances of a balanced budget and more recent administration promises of a decline in spending are obviously hopeless of fulfillment despite the fact that business has improved, bringing increased revenues, and that requirements for unemployment relief are gradually lessening."

The chamber concluded with a contention that "new or increased taxes seems eventually inescapable despite practical and political considerations which make for general resistance to this procedure."

Gingerly was the idea of touching off a new tax bill dealth with by house members and senators faced with a race for their seats this summer and fall.

He Suffered So With Rheumatism Until The Gly-Cas

Stomach Disorder and Dizzy Spells Added to Mr. Telano's Miserable Condition—But Now Like a New Man, Able to Do His Work With Ease

It is now the general opinion throughout Monroe and vicinity and wherever this new Gly-Gas has been introduced that this new herbal remedy is regarded as the MASTER medicine of them all and rightly so—when you consider the hundreds upon hundreds of thousands of former sufferers of rheumatism, neuritis, stomach, liver, kidney, bowel and blood troubles that are now enjoying their first well days in years and can directly laud Gly-Cas for it.

Read what Mr. J. C. Telano, Motor Route South, Winnsboro Road, Monroe, La., well known planter of Ouachita Parish and lifelong resident of this parish, said recently in a statement reaching the Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard St., this city:

"For years rheumatism in my hips, shoulders and neck had made life unbearable for me at times," said Mr. Telano, "It seemed I was in almost constant pain and my body often felt as if it was aching all over. My stomach added to my miserable condition for my foods simply would not digest properly. Indigestion attacks were sure to follow each meal I ate, and dizzy spells were so frequent they actually alarmed me. Such intense pain as I endured caused me to become terribly nervous and it was impossible to get a good night's sleep or rest in my awful condition. It was not until I began this new Gly-Cas did I find the ONE REAL medicine of them all—for it was the first to reach my case."

"It was wonderful the way in which Gly-Cas took hold of me, regulating my stomach, kidneys and bowels and removing the dreadful poisons that filled my entire system," continued Mr. Telano. "The rheumatism has been relieved, aches and pains are greatly improved, and I am now able to enjoy life as others. Even my stomach is now functioning properly, food digests easily, eat what I want, appetite good and those awful dizzy spells have even been ellminated. I sleep soundly throughout the entire night, get my proper rest and upon arising I feel like a new person. Gly-Cas has proven its merit beyond all doubt and there can be no question as to its ability."

Gly-Cas has won hundreds of friends right here in Monroe and vicinity and is daily winning new ones—WHY—because it gives desired results that are lasting.

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard Street, Monroe, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

QUEER MISHAP TAKES PLACE AT TALLULAH

TALLULAH, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—A peculiar accident which might have resulted seriously occurred here Saturday when the shaft on a circular wood saw owned by a negro, Wade Davis, got out of line during operation and threw pieces of casting with great force. One piece, weighing about fifteen pounds, was thrown the distance of two blocks to the top of the Commercial hotel where it fell through the roof and attic floor and made a considerable dent in the floor of the second story. Another piece was thrown through four walls of a building close by landing in the street. No one was hurt.

VICTORY CLAIMED BY BOTH SIDES IN BLOODY CONFLICT

important Italian fronts taken," a communique stated.

This capital turned from a sober to a joyous one tonight. Ethiopians began a wild celebration of victory.

Jubilant officials said, aided by rain, they would not only drive the Italians out of Makale but out of the holy city of Aksum and Aduwa as well.

A bloody three-day battle ended "with the Ethiopians driving the Italians out of two fronts after bitter hand-to-hand fighting," the communique asserted.

It praised "the maneuvers of the armies of Ras Kassa and Ras Seyoum in closing in upon both sides of the Italian columns."

Capture of many tanks was reported, along with ten heavy cannon and 100 machine guns.

Makale, officials claimed, has been cut off from its base in Eritrea. The town was taken early in the war.

Fascist reinforcements which were rushed in after the warriors of Emperor Haile Selassie succeeded in encircling Makale, the government said, were met by armies under Ras Kassa and Ras Seyoum just northwest of the city. In this encircling movement, the announcement continued, the Italians were wiped out after long fighting.

Italians who fled were pursued by the Ethiopians and kept from reaching their barbed wire enclosures to the north, according to the announcement, and there was bloody fighting at the barbed wire.

ITALY REJOICES OVER 'VICTORY'

ROME, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Italy rejoiced tonight over what she called her second great victory in Africa within ten days; but her joy was marred by the encircling aspect of the defensive Mediterranean pact reached by five sanctionist nations under the leadership of Great Britain.

A communique from Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander of the African armies, said his troops smashed an Ethiopian plan to attack the northern fascist army west of Makale.

He placed the number of Italian dead and wounded at 743 in the recent northern fighting and the Ethiopian casualties at 5,000. Earlier, the Italian dead had been estimated in authoritative quarters at 1,000, the heaviest since the war began.

This claim of victory followed reports of one on the southern front, with a huge fascist advance.

The communique said:

"During recent days, Ras Kassa's and Ras Seyoum's troops concentrated in southern Tembien province with their base at Anding for an offensive against our lines of operations in the Enderta region between Makale and Hauzien.

"While the offensive operations went on, our action was commenced to smash the Ethiopian plan.

"On January 19, the third army corps advanced southwest of Makale, occupying the villages of Debri and Negaida, preventing the enemy forces which were in front of Antalo from moving into Tembien.

"On January 21, in Tembien, one column of our native (Eritrean) troops, proceeding from the east to the west, decisively attacked the enemy, which had taken its position on the Zeban Kerkata plateau and on Mount Lata, while the second division of blackshirts, from Uarieu Pass decisively engaged Ethiopians proceeding from the north to the south. The maneuver was completely successful."

England listed 56,000 names on its medical profession register in 1932 as compared to 41,000 in 1912.

Bruner, 58, of Pine Island, who was struck by an automobile as he walked along the highway two miles north of Vivian today, was reported in a critical condition tonight by charity hospital attendants.

A D. Moore and J. W. Dees, both of Vivian, were riding with Smith.

ernment founded on the executive, the judicial and the legislative, independent one of the other.

"Speaking for the rank and file," he said, "we don't want any executive to tell congress what it is going to do, or congress to tell the executive what it should do, or the supreme court telling either what it should do, or the executive or congress telling the other two what they should do."

The unbalanced budget and pyramiding deficits concerned him especially.

Introduced to the league dinner as a master at the art of government, he undertook immediately to disassociate his objections to the New Deal from any hint of personal ambition.

After his audience thundered cheers, he said:

"I have no axe to grind. There is nothing personal in this whole performance so far as I am concerned. I have no feeling against any man, woman or child in the United States.

"I am in possession of supreme happiness and comfort.

"I represent no group, no man, and I speak for no man or no group, but I do speak for what I believe to be the best interests of the American people in the class in which I belong."

"I'm here because I'm a Democrat," he said—adding it hurt him to talk now against a Democratic administration.

"I put patriotism above party," he declared and proceeded to enumerate dangers that he saw threatening the American government.

The first danger, he said, "Is the arraignment of class against class."

This, he contended, was derived from the New Deal.

The second danger, he feared, was "government by bureaucracy instead of government by all."

He quoted President Roosevelt's remark about "building up new instruments of government power" on behalf of his position.

ROBINSON TO ANSWER AL SMITH'S ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Democratic national committee made plans for Joseph T. Robinson, senate Democratic leader, to answer the Liberty league speech of Alfred E. Smith tonight even before the 1928 nominee delivered his address.

Robinson was described in Democratic quarters as the "logical man" to answer the speech of Smith, with whom Robinson ran as the vice presidential nominee in 1928.

Columbia Broadcasting company said in an announcement issued early tonight that "at the request of the Democratic national committee" it had allotted a half hour on Tuesday, January 28 (10:45 to 11:15 p.m.) to Robinson. H will speak over the CBS national hookup which tonight broadcast Smith's speech.

MAN ACQUITTED IN SLAYING OF CHILD

WHITESBURG, Ky., Jan. 25.—(AP)—On a directed motion by Circuit Judge R. Monroe Fields, Robert Mahan, 24, was acquitted today of charges of slaying his nine-months-old son, Thomas.

After the last commonwealth witness had testified in the two-day trial, Judge Fields directed the jury of 11 farmers and a former sheriff, to return a verdict of acquittal.

The defendant's wife, Mrs. Helen Mahan, 18, who charged her husband with torturing their infant son and who sat with the commonwealth during the trial, became hysterical when her young husband was freed and was led from the crowded courtroom by relatives.

Mahan, who appeared nervous at the opening of the trial yesterday made no comment on the sudden turn of events that gave him his freedom.

Mahan has steadfastly denied the charges.

WOMAN CONVICTED OF POISON DEATH

Murderess Headed Towards Electric Chair For Slaying Rival

MINEOLA, N. Y., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Acquitted twice before on charges of being a poison murderess, the plump Mrs. Mary Frances Creighton, 36, was headed today toward the electric chair after losing her third venture with a jury.

The placid Long Island housewife was convicted at Mineola of administering a lethal dose to Mrs. Ada Applegate, whose husband, the testimony showed, had seduced both Mrs. Creighton and her 16-year-old daughter.

The man, Everett C. Applegate, a bluff, hearty former radio salesman, also was convicted of first degree murder by the same verdict.

Sentence will be pronounced on January 30. The death penalty in each instance is mandatory.

Both took the verdict calmly, although Applegate, who had denied having any hand in the poisoning of his gossipy, 268-pound wife, seemed surprised.

On the way out he slapped the back of Inspector Harold R. King, who had developed much of the evidence against him, and said jovially:

"You're one white guy I've met."

The trial, which lasted two weeks, attracted hundreds of persons to the ivy-covered courthouse, all eager to hear the sordid details of what went on in the bungalow shared jointly by the Creighton and Applegate families.

Mrs. Applegate died last September and her death at first was ascribed to natural causes. Rumors of Mrs. Creighton's past reached officials, however, and on checking up they found that in 1923 she twice was tried and acquitted at Newark, N. J. on charges of poisoning relatives.

Mrs. Applegate's body was exhumed and found to contain poison.

NEW COUNT PUTS FINK IN RUN-OFF RACE IN OUACHITA

number of ballots cast for Mr. Inabnet was 4,370. The figures showing this total had been made public Friday afternoon, but had not been transmitted to the secretary of state.

On Saturday Mr. Burgess, one of the candidates, who was expected to make a run-off election with Barlow Inabnet as his opponent, requested Chairman McHenry to make a new canvass of the ballots.

"Such a request is rare, "Mr. McHenry said Saturday night. "In fact, I do not recall any occasion when a similar request has been made. Nevertheless, I felt it was only fair to the candidate to make another canvass of the tally sheets. It was then the error of the commissioner in adding the tallies of one of the precincts was discovered. I checked this total w a copy of the tally that had been made by Pat Hamilton, clerk of the court, and found that his copy showed the larger figure."

Discovery of the discrepancy makes it necessary that the four highest candidates in the race, Fink, Burgess, Inabnet and Parker will be in the run-off primary to determine the winner. The second primary will be held March 3 next.

Request for a second canvass of the ballots cast for parish coroner was also honored by Chairman McHenry. The request was made by Dr. C. P. Gray, third candidate in a closely-contested race for the office. No material changes in the figures were discovered in the new canvass of the votes for coroner. Dr. Irving Wolff and Dr. C. L. Mengis will be in a run-off primary election March 3 to decide the issue for the coroner's office.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN

A Terraplane coupe, the property of R. G. Harmon, was reported stolen Saturday morning. The automobile had a Louisiana license No. 33243 and was painted black. In his report of the theft Mr. Harmon said that a negro boy was seen driving the automobile toward Monroe.

Numbers had sex in ancient lore. The odd numbers were masculine and the even ones feminine, with the odd numbers having the greater power.

CENTER BOXERS OPEN SCHEDULE THURSDAY NIGHT

INDIANS TO MEET MISSISSIPPI TEAM IN NEVILLE RING

Local Mittmen Ready To Tackle Junior College Champions

Monroe's first intercollegiate boxing meet will be held here Thursday night when the Indian mittmen of Northeast Center of L. S. U. make their debut against the East Mississippi Junior college team, champions of Mississippi junior colleges, at the Neville High school auditorium.

Coach James L. Malone, who just completed a highly successful football season in which his Redmen went undefeated, has been drilling his scrappers steadily since Christmas and believes he will be able to face the invaders with some strong and dangerous talent.

Former stars from the state's high school boxing circles, several of them seasoned fighters, brighten the hopes for a winning team. Topping this list are Sammy Bono, of Lake Charles, four times a state champion who was never beaten in his high school career; Jack Beckett, former A. A. U. fighter of Shreveport; "Bumps" Gormley, former high school state title holder of Lake Charles; and "Red" Reynolds, former Beaumont, Texas, boxer.

Aside from these the Indians also have several other promising mittmen in "Bully" White, 205-pound heavyweight; Frank Mosely, light-heavyweight; Ray Wroten, former state light-heavyweight title holder; Harrell, another heavyweight; Garrison and McNabb, a couple of 118-pounders; Louis Breard of Monroe, a promising 145-pounder; LeBlanc, a 135-pound man; and Gremillion, 155.

Most of these boys are well known here and several of them have fought local boxers during their high school careers.

The past boxing record of Sammy Bono of Lake Charles is probably the most outstanding of the group Coach Malone works with. Bono fought for four years with Lake Charles' Wildcats and was never defeated. During those four years he won four state titles, all in successive weight classes. At present he weighs 175 pounds but Coach Malone is working him down with hopes of fighting him in the 165-pound class.

"Bully" White, 19-year-old six foot heavyweight, and Louis Breard, two candidates for the team who have not had any previous experience in the ring, are among the most promising of the inexperienced lot. White apparently likes the sport and takes his workouts seriously while Breard, a graduate of St. Matthew's Parochial school here, is making rapid strides toward clinching the 145-pound class place on the team.

Coach Malone has not had any reports from the Mississippi school in regard to their strength this year, but he is expecting a team that will give the Redskins a real test for their opener.

After East Mississippi the locals will engage the Centenary college varsity team at Shreveport on February 5 and get a return meet from Centenary here February 28.

All programs given by Northeast Center will be held at the Neville High school auditorium.

The spacious Neville stage has been recently equipped with boxing facilities that rival any in the state and several thousand spectators can be accommodated in comfortable seats. A publicity campaign to draw out a large crowd for the Indians opener will be launched tomorrow.

NEVILLE MITTMEN BOX BATON ROUGE

Stellar Card To Be Staged Friday Between Tigers And Champs

The Neville High school boxing team will get what is expected to be their stiffest test of the season here next Friday night when the Tigers square off again the Baton Rouge High school squad, champions of the state. The fights will be held in the Neville auditorium, starting at 8 o'clock.

Most of Neville's regulars got a rest last week when the Tigers fought the light Bastrop team, and the entire squad should be in excellent shape for the battle with the Baton Rouge champions.

Coach Percy Brown said last night that the squad would get down to hard work tomorrow afternoon in preparation for their hard assignment Friday night. The Tiger mentor has mapped out an extensive preparatory campaign and will give his charges plenty of work this week.

Neville has won two matches so far this season, defeating the Lafayette High school squad, 8 to 4, in a spectacular opening show and then last Friday night, trimming the Bastrop team after the Roms had thrown a scare into the highly favored Tigers by winning the first six matches on the program. Neville finally won, 8 to 6.

Baton Rouge has been piling up sensational victories so far this season and they give every indication of being the favorites to defend their state championship.

HARDIN OKAY

A recent story out of New York credited Bernie Moore with the statement that Glen 'Slats' Hardin, Louisiana State's No. 1 track star, probably would be lost to the 1936 Olympic team because of a leg injury. With all due respect to Bernie, there's nothing to it. We have Hardin's word for it that he's as sound as ever, and will be in there gunning for a trip to Berlin this summer as a member of Uncle Sam's invading track troupe.

'Slats' Hardin

'Slats', here yesterday for a visit with Mike John, Jr., a fraternity brother, explained just how the impression got out that his leg was hindering his preparations for the Olympic trials.

"I hurt my leg as a sophomore," the friendly youngster said. "Every year since, I've had trouble with it at least once a season. Last year after the national intercollegiate meet I complained to Coach Moore that my leg was giving me trouble. Coach Moore has been busy with the L. S. U. football team ever since our conversation, and apparently when asked for a statement concerning our Olympic chances the other day, he remembered what I had told him late last summer and, not having seen me since, he probably figured the injury was still bothering me."

Hardin said he is hopeful of winning a berth on the Olympic team. He turned down a trip to Europe last summer and has been concentrating on the coming try-outs ever since. He has been taking light exercise all winter and next week will buckle down in earnest in an effort to be at his peak when the time comes to streak down the cinder paths after his Olympic goal.

"Slats" has not entered any of the big indoor meets this winter and probably will not compete until the first of the outdoor events, the Southern A. A. U. carnival at Baton Rouge around June 1. He entered a meet to be held at Chicago on March 8 but the meet was postponed until next year when it was found that it would conflict with the Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

Hardin will compete both in the 400 meters sprint and the 400 meters hurdles in an effort to make the team in both events, he said yesterday.

"The competition in the trials is tougher than that in the Olympic games themselves," he said. "It will be harder to win places in the two events in this country than in the Berlin games. In the try-outs, I will have to run both events on the same day. That means a total of six races in one day. In the Olympics, the events come on successive days and it won't be such a strain."

Hardin modestly pooh-poohed all the hullaballoo raised when it was thought he wouldn't be able to compete for Uncle Sam because of his leg injury.

"There's no assurance that I'll make the Olympic team, even with two good legs," the track star said. "There are plenty of good runners and hurdlers in this country and I'm sure there will be plenty of competition."

Don't let him kid you, though. Any time "Slats" is running, you can back him to the limit and feel reasonably certain that he'll be showing 'em his heels when they cross the finish line.

GENTS' FOOTBALL CARD ANNOUNCED

Centenary's 11-Game Schedule Includes 10 Major Engagements

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—An eleven game schedule that will include ten major battles will be played by the Centenary college football team in 1936.

Five of the games are to be played at home, and five are definitely booked on the road, with the location of another, that with Baylor university, still to be determined, athough probably destined to be played in Waco.

The listings include four new teams, Illinois Wesleyan, Tulane, Texas Tech and Oklahoma A. & M., with the Tulane game resuming football relations between the schools after a ten-year gap. It is to be played in New Orleans as the fifth number on the program and the third major game.

A definite departure from custom is the transfer of the Texas Christian university game from Shreveport to Fort Worth. For the last three years the Gents have met the "Horned Frogs," victors over Louisiana State by a 3-2 score in the 1936 Sugar Bowl game, in Shreveport as one of the football features of the Louisiana state fair. The game will be played at the Frogs' base of operations in 1936, and Ole Miss will supply the opposition in Centenary's game at the state fair.

The local high spot will be the annual game between the Gents and Texas A. and M., with the two former coaching associates, Curtis Parker of Centenary, and Homer Norton of the Aggies, sending their teams together for the third time. For the first time since Norton switched to Texas A. and M., Centenary will not have a single player who was a member of the Gent entourage while Norton coached here.

The complete schedule follows:

Sept. 16 or 17—Louisiana college at Pineville.

Sept. 19—Louisiana Normal at Shreveport.

Sept. 26.—Illinois Wesleyan at Shreveport.

Oct. 3—Baylor (place to be determined).

Oct. 10—Tulane at New Orleans.

Oct. 17—Arizona Univ. at Tucson.

Oct. 24—Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Oct. 31—Ole Miss at Shreveport.

Nov. 7—Tulsa Univ. at Tulsa.

Nov. 14—T. C. U. at Fort Worth.

Nov. 21—Texas A. and M. at Shreveport.

Nov. 26—Oklahoma A. and M. at Shreveport.

MUNGO BECOMES LATEST REBEL TO RETURN CONTRACT

Dizzy Dean, Sam West And Others Threaten To Remain Idle

By Eddie Brietz
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitching star, today joined an increasing group of big league hold-out threats.

The big right-hander sent his 1936 contract bouncing back from Pageland, S. C., with all the speed of a rubber check. With it came an ultimatum for more salary.

Already listed as a rebel is the celebrated Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals. Holding out with him is strictly routine. He is automatically seeded No 1 in the competition.

Sam West has publicly announced the St. Louis Browns need not count on him for any outfielding unless there is considerable upward revision of the salary offer. Two others—Leon Pettit of Washington and young Claydell Castleman of the Giants, both pitchers—have admitted they are, at least, dissatisfied.

Receipt of Mungo's unsigned papers ruined an otherwise perfect week for the Dodgers.

"We gave Mungo a nice raise," one Brooklyn official said, "but he seems to think he's entitled to more. We haven't marked him down as a holdout yet, but neither have we decided to make him another offer."

Last year the Pageland planter was paid $10,000 for winning 16 and losing 10 games for the fifth place Brooklyns. He ranked 14th among National league twirlers. A finger injury kept Mungo off the hill for several weeks and spoiled his chance to hang up 20 victories.

The Dodgers are believed to have offered Mungo $11,000 this season.

Not a soul, himself included, knows exactly what Dizzy Dean wants. He was paid better than $17,000 last year and probably will come to terms with Branch Rickey for around $20,000 for 1936.

West has sent his price, and if the Browns do not meet it, he'll keep right on pumping gas at his Texas filling station.

No trouble is anticipated with either Pettit or Castleman. They say their demands are not exorbitant. They just want more dough.

Pitcher Emil (Dutch) Leonard and Frank Skaff, third sacker, and former Villanova star, signed with Brooklyn today, making a total of ten Dodgers now within the fold. Skaff was with Allentown and Peoria last year.

Secretary Jim Tierney dug into his desk and came up with three contracts to bring his total to ten and pull the Giants abreast of the Flatbushers.

In today's batch were Burgess Whitehead, second baseman obtained from the Cardinals, Charlie English obtained from Galveston, and "Smoky Joe" Martin, a third sacker from Nashville. Mark Koenig now is the only infielder unsigned.

MANGHAM SPONSORS GIRLS' CAGE MEET

MANGHAM, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—There will be a girls' basketball tournament held in Mangham high school gymnasium on Feb. 1. Invitations have been mailed to many neighboring schools and quite a number have accepted.

Good fast teams are entering the meet and there will be close games, it is thought. The games start at 9:10 a. m. and will be held throughout the day, the final game being at 7:30 p. m.

The price of admission will be 15 cents and 25 cents. The public has been invited to attend.

Babe Didrikson To Play Exhibition Match Here

Famous Woman Athlete, Now Golf Expert, To Play At Lakeside

Mildred "Babe" Didrikson, who cornered more athletic records than any woman has ever held before, is coming to Monroe for an exhibition golf match at Lakeside Country club on Monday, February 3. Miss Didrikson, paired with Jim McKenzie, McGuire park pro, will play against Mrs. E. S. Girault, local woman champion and runner-up for the state title, and Winnie Cole, Municipal club pro.

Miss Didrikson has been aptly termed the "wonder girl" of the world. A list of the records she holds reads like the program of a track meet:

Running high jump, 1932 Olympics, 5 feet, 5 inches; baseball throw, National A. A. U. 1931, 296 feet, 3 inches; javelin throw, 1932 Olympics, 143 feet, 4 inches; 100 meter dash, Texas A. A. U. state champion 1932, 11.8 seconds; 80 meter hurdles, 1932 Olympics, 11.7 seconds; discus throw, A. A. U. Post Olympic meet 1932, 133 feet, 7 inches; running broad jump, Texas A. A. U. champion 1932, 19 feet, 1 3-8 inches; 220 yard run, Texas A. A. U. champion 1931, 25.2 seconds; 8 pound shot put, National A. A. U. 1932, 39 feet, 6 1-4 inches; basketball forward, A. A. U. selection 1930-31-32, all-American; golf championship, Texas Women's State Amateur 1935.

Of her life she tells little, but one learns that she was born in Port Arthur, Texas, about twenty-two years ago, that she was a clumsy child with a sensitive nature, and that her inferiority complex due to her ungainliness caused her to be determined to excel in athletics. And she carried out her decision, too, in the face of obobstacles which would have resulted in a less resolute youngster falling by the wayside. At 14 she was star forward on the Beaumont high girls' basketball team, at 15 she was clerking in a Dallas insurance company and playing basketball on the company's team.

In 1932, 18 years old, she participated in the National A. A. U. meet and won six events, tying a seventh. They were the 100 yard dash, discus, 80 meter hurdles, broad jump, javelin event, baseball throw and high jump tied.

The same year, entering the Olympics, she broke records in the javelin throw, running high jump, and 80 meter hurdles. Then, through a misunderstanding, she endorsed an automobile for a Dallas dealer and lost her amateur standing, after which she tried her hand at first one sport, then another, in an effort to help her family, who were hard-pressed during the depression.

Finally, she took up golf, by accident almost stopped in at a driving range, hit a ball 265 yards, and liked it, and now declares it is the only sport for which she really cares enough to want to continue. Her chance to continue and earn a living as well came after she had won the women's state amateur championship at Texas in 1935. The P. Goldsmith Sons, of Cincinnati, enrolled her on their staff as adviser in their women's golf and athletic equipment department. Under the auspices of this firm "Babe" will appear here on a country-wide exhibition tour of the prominent golf clubs of the larger cities of the U. S. for the purpose of showing what women can do in golf with the proper equipment.

MERIDIAN WILL GET STATE-LOYOLA TILT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Major Ralph Sasse, head football coach at Mississippi State, announced here today that he had arranged with Loyola university athletic officials to change site of the State-Loyola game October 17 from New Orleans to Meridian, Miss.

Sasse said that a new 20,000-capacity stadium at Meridian would be finished by fall and that there was a possibility that the Mississippi State-University of Mississippi games of the future might be played there.

LOYOLA QUINTET WHIPS SPRINGHILL

Wolves Take Early Lead To Swamp Badgers By 72-34 Score

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Loyola university basketball team swamped the Springhill college quintet in the first of a two-game series here tonight, 72 to 34. The victory avenged a defeat handed the Wolves by the Badgers last season.

Loyola jumped into the lead at the start of the game and continued to add to it throughout the contest, holding the Badgers at bay. The Wolves used ten men, everyone of whom participated in the scoring spree.

Jim "Slim" Peterson was the high-point man of the Maroon, scoring 21 points as the result of nine field goals and three foul shots. But the Loyola teamwork was the feature of the battle. With Peterson at center, Captain Henry "Dunk" Beter and "Pell" Hughes at forwards and Rab Staub and Mike Casey at guards, Loyola showed to exceptional advantage.

Springhill fought hard but was outclassed. It took the Badgers 11 minutes to tally their first field goal and from then on the field tosses were few and far between until late in the game. At the half Springhill trailed, 33-17.

SASSE PROPOSES WIDER FOOTBALL PLAYING FIELDS

Mississippi State Coach Would Increase Width To 200 Feet

By Norman Walker
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25.—Major Ralph Sasse, head coach at Mississippi State, wants to widen the football playing field from 160 to 200 feet.

Here today on a "little vacation," Sasse said he plans to offer a proposal to that effect to the National Football Coaches' association at Pittsburgh, February 1, when the nation's leading mentors meet to discuss rule changes.

"Football's gotten so fast during the past few years that the field is just inadequate," he said. "You're hampered, you're cramped.

"What the game needs is more room. It needs more room for forward and lateral passes that have speeded up football tremendously.

"During the past few years rules have been put into effect to liberalize passing—and with little result because the rule-makers didn't go to the basic reason—the size of the field.

"Take the Canadian game of rugby for instance. It's played on a wide field, designed that way so passes will have plenty of room for a diversified game.

"After all there's no reason why the width of a football field should be 160 feet. Simply because the coliseum has certain proportions, architecture isn't held to any confines."

Sasse said he planned to put the wider field to a practical test this spring. Mississippi State's practice field is already being widened to 200 feet.

"If it's a crazy idea we're going to find out because we're going to work on that field all through spring practice," the former Army coach declared.

"It's a cinch to revolutionize football and make the game even more interesting."

Sasse said he realized there would be widespread opposition to the plan among schools where widening of playing fields would be different and expensive because of cramped facilities.

"But we must think of the future," he said. "This isn't for next season, nor the following. It's a natural development that's bound to come."

Emphatically denying his "vacation" here had any bearing on the coaching vacancy at Tulane, Sasse put the damper to persistent rumors that Colonel Paul Parker, line coach at the University of Tennessee, was being considered as an addition to the Mississippi coaching staff.

The Mississippi state mentor, a major in the army, said he was seriously thinking of "going over and take a look-in at that war" in Ethiopia during his vacation this summer.

BASTROP BOXERS MEET JONESBORO

Ring Program To Be Staged In Rams' Gymnasium Tuesday Night

BASTROP, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Having lost a boxing meet to fighters of the Neville High school at Monroe, 8 to 6, after winning six of the first eight bouts of the program, Friday night, boxers of the Bastrop High school are determined to pound out a different story in their match with the Jonesboro High school boxers at the high school gymnasium here Tuesday night. The program will start at 7:30 p.m.

Dutch Binion, athletic director of the Bastrop school, on Monday will send his charges through a light boxing workout intended to iron out as far as possible in one workout some of the defects that cost the Rams the match at Monroe after they piled up a seemingly overwhelming lead in the first half of the program.

At least 10 bouts are to be presented during the program.

Boxers who won their bouts against Neville mittmen and who will be on hand for Tuesday night's show are: Thurman Goodnight, 60 pounds; Carl Crewe, 80 pounds; Bobbie Bazine, 90 pounds; David White, 98 pounds; Louis Thomas, 98 pounds; Joe Rigsby, 75 pounds.

Other Bastrop boxers who appeared in the tourney with Neville and who will be ready for the Jonesboro tourney are: Mouton Quinn, 105 pounds; Leonard Crewe, 115 pounds; Simmie Halterman, 100 pounds; Billie Quinn, 67 pounds; Wig Reilly, 65 pounds.

The following boxers also may represent the local school against Jonesboro: Red McDowell, 145 pounds; Gerald Summerville, 130 pounds; Tonette Byrd, 125 pounds; Kelly McKoin, 65 pounds.

Interest in high school boxing shows has increased considerably here as elsewhere in northeast Louisiana and a large attendance is expected at the program.

Since the first postage issue in 1840, a total of 56,607 main varieties of stamps have been issued throughout the world.

Kearns Will Be Ultimate Gainer In Recent Fiasco With N. Y. Commission

By John J. Romano

Hank Bath knows how it feels to be a sports celebrity. The refusal of the New York boxing commission to sanction his contest with Red Burman at Madison Square Garden two weeks ago resulted in the young Coloradoan gaining more headlines than Joe Louis did when the Brown Bomber first invaded the east and knocked out Primo Carnera.

In addition to being the cause of an exchange of spankings between the New York commission and Col. Kilpatrick and Jimmy Johnson, the young man with a record of having scored 37 knockouts in 38 fights darkened Madison Square Garden as no other man has ever done. As though this was not sufficient in itself, Bath takes the credit for two boxing dates being turned over to other events—a basketball game and a Boy Scout rally.

"The Garden is going sissy," was heard from hardened devotees of the game of sock and biff.

Bath lost nothing other than a measure of calm feelings when the match was tossed back into Jimmy Johnston's lap. He was guaranteed $1,200 for his work against Jack Dempsey's protegee. Nate Lewis is going to pay $3,000 for the right to show fans of the Windy City what Bath has in the way of socking ability. And should Hank score a knockout the chances are 100 to 1 that Bath's price will promptly jump to $5,000 for future engagements until the wily Jack Kearns senses how madly a promoter requires Hank's services. Stock market quotations are like a mill pond compared to the way Kearns can jump his price.

Like Check From Home

Taking stock of the situation Kearns fully realized the favor Gen. Phelan and Bill Brown did for him. The publicity and verbal duel attending the temporary banning of Jack and his fighter cannot be justly termed in dollars and cents at the present time. It all depends on how good Bath stands up now that he has attained national fame. Or is it notoriety? A headline is like a check from home to a fight manager. He begins to believe he has a real attraction and consequently his terms are much higher than they would be under normal circumstances.

Until Bath became involved in a "suspicious" bout with a fighter, who upon investigation proved to be a sparring partner, his name was known only in those regions where he had displayed his wares. Then came the knockout over Butch Rogers and the Kearns tie-up, and he became a national sports topic.

If Hank Bath has 37 genuine knockouts to his credit it is rather unlike Kearns to keep the names of his victims unknown. The old Doc knows the value of publicity. He knows when and not to talk. In this case he left it up to the New York commission to do the talking and there is no telling where the matter will end. It may mean the suspension or absolute repeal of the boxing law.

Politicians and fight managers, of sorts, have strange bedfellows. There is too much dirty linen to wash. Neither can bear the odor when applied to cold scrutiny and weighing by unbiased judges. The clean must suffer with the crooked and when hot, unreasoning anger loosens tongues the nasty revelations caused by charge and counter-charge shakes public confidence in the merit of a sport long the football of politics and racketeers. By racketeers is not meant gunmen who gain their end at pistol-point.

Occasional rumor of such occurences crops up from time to time, but when questioned the squawker invariably states he heard it from Tom, Dick or Harry. It's true that persons of questionable character have seeped into the boxing game from time to time. But their careers are short lived. As soon as their designs became patent they were quietly but smoothly removed.

Prehn Perfected System

Paul Prehn, when he was chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, quietly ascertained the status of outside managers and fighters. When sure of his knowledge he would pass the word along to the promoters under his jurisdiction and those on his black list were not offered engagements in that state. This method worked admirably and it spared Prehn and his co-commissioners such annoyance and abuse as was heaped on the heads of the New York boxing commission recently when it barred Kearns and Bath.

Madison Square Garden officials were not as much to blame about the verbal rumpus as was Jack Kearns.

The latter is not new to the game. He knows the rules of the commission. Had he applied for a license for himself and his fighter when an offer and acceptance of a contract with Madison Square Garden had been made, there would have been no need of a last minute's refusal. The commission would have had ample time to ascertain what facts it needed from the California body and the fiasco, or battle of words, of two weeks ago might have been averted.

In the argot of the prized ring the "breaks" were all for Kearns and Bath. They achieved as much publicity as though they had done something worthwhile in the prize ring and were matched to meet the heavyweight champion of the world.

Garden, Fans Real Sufferers

The chief sufferers was Madison Square Garden and the fans of New York City. Not only were the Garden officials placed in a bad light, but they lost the profit and rental accruing from the matches. The fans lost a chance to see Dempsey and Kearns give each other the cold stare or the forced handclasp of friendly (?) enemies, such as was witnessed when Mickey Walker took an unmerciful drubbing from the fists of Max Schmeling.

Kearns is also indicted on another account. Once before he was refused a second's license to handle Mickey Walker against Harry Greb. Kearns was supposed to have viewed the fracas from the window of a nearby apartment with the aid of powerful glasses.

Had Kearns consented to withdraw, there is no question but that the commission would have licensed Bath and that would have been the end of the matter. It all worked out in favor of Kearns, though, with other interested parties bearing the burden of derision or acclaim, according to the way the fan views the ungentlemenly proceedings.

For the good the game it is hoped no such rumpus as the Kearns-Bath-New York boxing commission occurs again to disturb a sport enjoying a new lease of interest by the fans in general.

COSTLY RED SOX TALENT PUTS CRONIN 'ON SPOT'

VETS KEY MEN IN YAWKEY ATTEMPT TO BUY PENNANT

Boston Club To Hold Spotlight In American League Battle

By Jimmy Donahue
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—Joe Cronin is on the spot more than any other man in baseball.

With the greatest collection of high-priced baseball timber Tom Yawkey's millions could buy, the chisel-chinned fighter is faced with producing a pennant winner at the Hub this season, or else—!

It's no secret that Yawkey was disappointed with the fourth-place showing of his Red Sox last season. Being a business man who spent a fortune in buying Lefty Grove, Wes Ferrell, Oscar Melillo, Cronin himself, Bing Miller, and the rookies Babe Dahlgren and Melo Almada, as well as plenty of money in renovation of Fenway Park, he wanted a winner; fourth place was no satisfactory return for his investment.

Being one of the best sports in the game, however, Yawkey forgot last year, dug deep into his pockets this winter and shelled out another three or four hundred thousand, with several players tossed in, for such talent as Jimmy Foxx, Johnny Marcum, Roger Cramer, and Eric McNair, of the Athletics, and Heinie Manush, Senator outfielder.

With such stars added to the already amply studded Sox roster, Yawkey feels he is justified in expecting a winner—and it's up to Joseph E., of the San Francisco Cronins, to produce it.

Joe will need all the proverbial luck of the Irish to turn the trick, however, despite his all-star collection. His path to the pennant won't be nearly as smooth as some experts have indicated, for several reasons.

First of all, Cronin hasn't a young team to handle. The average age of the 35 players listed on the roster is more than 27, with that of those players who can be classified as regulars about 28.

None of the key men on whom Cronin is counting is exactly a spring chicken. Jimmy Foxx and Wes Ferrell are the youngest, and both have plenty of hectic major league campaigning behind them.

Foxx, at 28, has seen nearly a dozen years of hard work, and Ferrell, at 27, has finished seven full American league seasons, during which his arm went lame and then was nursed back to some semblance of its former effectiveness.

In the outfield, Cronin is counting on Heinie Manush and Roger Cramer to aid the young Melo Almada. Heinie is a veteran of 34 summers, with a service record of 13 years. It is safe to say that Manush's best playing days are behind him.

Cramer, while he has had only three full seasons, and four part-time years under his belt, isn't exactly a youngster at 28.

The first and second string catchers, Rick Ferrell and Moe Berg, are 29 and 33, respectively, and while Ferrell is one of the accepted star receivers of the league, Berg has seen his best days.

Cronin himself is no rookie at 29, and it is because his fielding and hitting have been slipping the last couple of semesters that he may relegate himself to bench duty, or play second base, and put the younger McNair, one of the best fielding shortstops in the league, in his old spot.

If Joe stays in the game and Foxx plays first, with Bill Werber at third, average of the infield will be 27. However, if Joe benches himself, and puts Melillo at second, the Italian's age of 33 will boost the average to 28.

Another of Joe's difficulties will be trying to get the proper combination from his galaxy of stars. As with a good football team, the fortunes of a baseball squad depend on teamwork. One star or three or four don't make a grid squad, nor a ball team, either. There must be an infield that can work together on double plays, and give confidence to a pitcher, an outfield that automatically knows how to play a batter, and a catcher who knows the hitters.

The task of determining the value of his rookie material as compared with his veteran and high-priced timber is no easy one for Joe.

On the pitching staff are such youngsters as Jim Henry, a right-hander who comes up from Memphis with a record of 20 won against 14 lost; Alex Mustaikis, another orthodox thrower who won 13 and lost 10 for Little Rock in 1935; Lee Rogers, a southpaw who won 7 and lost two for the same club last season; and Manuel Salvo, a giant right-hander who won 11 and lost 17 for Sacramento.

Maybe Grove's 35-year-old arm is through after a brilliant season last year. Perhaps Ferrell's effort to return to his brilliant form shown in Cleveland has taken a lot out of his whip. It may be that Johnny Marcum won't perform as effectively for Joe as he did for Connie Mack and it is possible that Fritz Ostermueller again will be an in-and-outer.

Any of these possibilities becoming realities will force Joe to fall back on Johnny Welch, Rube Walberg, Joe Cascarella, the former Athletic hurler brought up from Syracuse, or one of the rookies.

The same is true of the infield and outfield situation, where the slump of a veteran may force the insertion of a rookie or second stringer who may spoil whatever teamwork Joe can get out of his various possible combinations.

The Irishman is faced with the odd situation of having an over-abundance of good material and, strange as it seems, it appears that this offers just as many problems as having too little.

O'Neill Believes Indians Will Be In Thick Of Flag Fight

Hendrix, Upsetter Of Allison And Grant, Aims Now For Berth On Davis Cup Team

Florida Youngster Seeks Recognition After Surprise Victories

By J. P. McKnight

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25.—(AP)—A new giant-killer has come out of the ranks of America's numberless tennis-playing youngsters to confound the compilers of national rankings.

He is 23-year-old Arthur Hendrix, of Lakeland, Fla., who, in a brief space brought about the decisive defeat of Wilmer Allison, national singles champion and the country's No. 1 ranking player; and Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, the diminutive Atlantan whose string of upset victories won him No. 3 ranking in 1935.

Unranked himself, the dark-haired, modest lad from Lakeland showed the steadiest game tennis fans have seen since Grant himself began to beat better known stars with his amazing faculty for always getting the ball back across the net.

Wins By Strategy

Hendrix, who has been playing tennis "since I was this high" without benefit of instruction, trounced Allison in the final match of the Sugar Bowl tournament at New Orleans, 6-4, 1-6, 9-7, 6-1, by virtue of finely gauged passing shots that disrupted Allison's spectacular net game.

Coming up against Grant, in the semi-finals of the recent Miami Biltmore tournament, he adopted—with boldness possibly no other player in the country could or would equal—Grant's own style of backcourt play, perpetually popping the ball back and waiting for the breaks.

He "out-Bitsied Bitsy" to win, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-0, wearing down the erstwhile tireless Atlantan so completely that Grant could get but five points in the dramatic final set.

Hendrix's sound all-around game has only one weakness, in his own opinion and that of observers—his tendency to "loop" forehand drives.

"I'm trying to flatten out my stroke now," the Lakeland youngster says, "for I know I'll never get anywhere on grass courts until I can improve that shot"

His backhand is miraculously steady. Against Grant he was stroking the ball within inches of the baseline and sidelines in seemingly interminable rallies. His sharply cut, spinning service, mixed with harder-hit smashes, bounds high and deep. His overhead smashing is decisive, his drop volley comparable to George Lott's.

Arthur Hendrix, 23-year-old unranked tennis player from Lakeland, Fla., plans an extensive 1936 campaign for recognition by the Davis cup committee, following his southern triumphs over Wilmer Allison, top-ranking national singles champion, and Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, No. 3 in the U. S. rankings.

Five feet, eleven inches tall and tireless despite his slenderness, Hendrix, who has been playing in tournaments since 1932 to get experience, is looking for more world's to conquer.

Campaign for Recognition

"I'd like to make enough noise," he drawls quietly, "to get Davis Cup attention. That's the goal of all tennis players, of course."

Heartened by his conquest of Allison and Grant, he is going after national honors this season, planning to tour the clay and grass circuits and sharpen his game against top-notch opposition. He may encounter Donald Budge, No. 2 ranking player, somewhere along the route. A victory over Budge would enable him to list all of the first three ranked United States players among his victims—and focus more attention upon him as a possible Davis cupper.

Hendrix has laid out an ambitious tournament schedule for himself this year. After the Florida events, he plans to compete in the Cuban national championships, Atlanta and Memphis invitation meets, the southern championships, national clay courts, western championships and the series of eastern grass court tourneys climaxed by the national next fall.

CLEVELAND PILOT SEES FOUR CLUBS IN PENNANT RACE

O'Neill Says Tribe Will Beat Tigers With Ex-Minor Stars

CLEVELAND, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Steve O'Neill's first full year as a major league manager will develop a tangle between many of the Indians and Tigers he guided into the American league from his minor league posts at Toronto and Toledo.

Thirteen of the players O'Neill sent from Toronto and Toledo into the big circuit have landed in Detroit and Cleveland.

"It helps to know the good points and weaknesses the boys develop in the minors," said O'Neill today.

"Late last season Trosky was in a slump and I found he'd changed his stance. I got him back into the old stance he had in Toledo and he came out of the trouble all right.

"It isn't often that a manager has a chance of working with many of the players he'd had in the minors.

"I've had Trosky under my eye since he came to Toledo as an outfielder. While he and I were there I changed him into a first baseman.

"While I was in Toronto sending players over to Detroit, I had Hayworth, Gerald Walker, Rogell, John Stone and Vic Sorrell. Johnny Allen, who came to us in the Pearson deal, was there, and I had Richardson of the Yanks, too.

"When I was coach and later manager at Toledo, I had a lot of future Indians—Hale, Trosky, Knickerbocker, Galatzer, Winegarner, Pytlak and Garbark."

With this extra punch to the rivalry between Cleveland and Detroit, the Indians' manager says he believes Cleveland will have "better luck against the Tigers this season."

The Indians will be "in the running" for the pennant against Detroit, New York and Boston, he declared, with Boston "worth watching" because of its added hitting power.

"Boston lost many a game last season by a narrow margin because it was strong in pitching and weak in hitting," he said. "Stronger batting may turn the tide in enough games to make a big difference."

Cleveland's admittedly large problem behind the plate is lightened considerably by Frankie Pytlak's recovery, said O'Neill.

U. S. Skating Squads Face Big Odds In Olympic Games

Speed And Figure Skaters Must Race Stellar Foreign Events

(By NEA Service)

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Jan. 25.—The Greeks had a name for it—the Olympics. But back in 776 B. C., when the great athletic festival came into full swing, the worshipers of Zeus knew little of ice skating, bobsledding, hockey, and skiing; rather, they tended to athletics in a clime that enabled them to wear loin cloths, or less.

But since 1924, winter games have held a place in the modern Olympics and here, from Feb. 6 to 16, Uncle Sam will battle the best of the world.

Back in 1932, when the winter games were held at Lake Placid, Uncle Sam's charges annexed the bobsled and speed skating honors, leaving the hockey championship to Canada, the skiing glory to Sweden, Norway, and Finland, and the figure skating titles to Sonja Henie of Norway and Karl Schaefer of Austria.

Despite agitation against participation in the 1936 Olympics that arose in the United States a few months ago, Uncle Sam has shipped squads across to compete in all winter sports. The task that confronts these teams is Herculean, because they are invading a section where skiing, bobsledding, and skating are second nature, and where hockey is catching on like a forest fire.

Probably the most difficult assignment is that given the speed skating team. This squad, composed of Eddie Schroeder and Leo Freisinger, Chicago; Robert Peterson and Delbert Lamb, Milwaukee, and Allan W. Potts of New York, is faced with racing for the first time under a strange system.

The 1936 Olympic speed skating races will be run against time, with the competitor turning in the fastest time winning. This doesn't shape up with the style used in the 1932 races at Lake Placid, in which the man finishing first against the whole field was declared winner, and under which Jack Shea won the 500 and 1,500-meter races, and Irving Jaffe the 5,000 and 10,000-meter events.

Under the European style, all skaters are banded together. Two names are pulled from a hat and the two racers compete on the 400-meter track in a short race. The course is laid out in two lanes, separated by a wall of hard snow.

There is one break in the wall, and at that point the two competitors cross lanes and change, the elapsed time in covering the distance, after all duos have raced, determines the winner.

Americans other than Eddie Schroeder, who was invited to skate in Oslo in 1933, and won only after he had mastered the European style of racing, are inexperienced in this type of skating. Although they have trained diligently under Bill Taylor, Olympic coach, in Norway, it is doubtful if they can master the new style of skating well enough to cope with such bladesmen as Ballangrud, Evensen, Stiepl, Wazulek, and Mathiesen from the cold countries, who are experts at skating against time.

Schroeder U. S. Hope

Even at the odds the Americans are battling, it appears that the fight for honors rests between Norway and the United States, as it did in 1932.

The Americans have two expert skaters of Olympic experience in Potts and Schroeder, and the latter is acquainted with the European system. If they can stave off the challenges of the cold country reliables, they may turn the tables and win a couple of races and some points for Uncle Sam.

In the field of figure skating, the outlook is nearly as dark as in the speed skating division. America's main reliance is on the two national title winners, Maribel Y. Vinson of Boston, and 15-year-old Robin Lee of St. Paul.

Both these skaters have real talent, but, compared with such stars as Sonja Henie and Karl Schaefer, they seemed unequal to the task.

Europe is the place where figure skating originated. Germany, France, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and England long have considered the art of cutting capers on the curved blades as poetic pageantry, and it is improbable that the American team—others on the squad are Erle Reiter, George E. B. Hill, Lester Madden, Audrey Peppe, Louise and Estelle Weigel, and Grace Madden—can win an event that has been taken by representatives from Austria, Norway, Sweden, and France since its inception.

'DOLLAR-A-YEAR' MEN OF YANKEES STILL UNSIGNED

Walker And Crossetti, Sent 'Conditional' Contracts, Hesitant

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Yankees haven't had any word yet from the two players to whom they mailed "conditional" contracts a few days ago, Fred (Dixie) Walker and Frank Crosetti, and if those two reflected a while upon what happened to last year's "dollar a year men," they may hesitate quite a while before they sign the papers.

Meanwhile a number of other slightly damaged stars are hoping the rest of the clubs don't fall in line with the Yankee idea of not discussing salaries until they're sure the players will be able to perform their allotted roles during the season.

A year ago Walker, Earle Combs, Johnny Allen and Russell Van Atta, all afflicted by injuries either during the preceding season or during the winter, received those contracts that were supposed to hold only until they proved they were in shape. They were all successful in winning regular contracts, but Walker is the only one who will be back this spring trying for a regular place on the New York team.

Van Atta, unable to regain his previous form, was shipped to the Browns, where he became a mainstay of the mound staff; Walker, whose trouble had been a lame throwing arm, injured the same wing in a pre-season exhibition, remained on the bench for a while and finished the season at Newark.

Combs, recovering successfully from a fractured skull and broken shoulder, hurt the other shoulder in a collision with Red Rolfe and retired to the sidelines for good. He's a Yankee coach now.

By comparison, Allen had a highly successful season, winning 13 games and losing six, but he's not with the Yankees either. He was traded to Cleveland for Monte Pearson and Steve Sundra a short time ago.

While Walker is demonstrating the strength of his arm this spring, Crosetti will be attempting to show that the damaged knee which put him out of action late in the 1935 season has responded to treatment. According to reports from the west coast an operation made the joint as good as new.

If the dollar-a-year idea should spread, such players as Lloyd Waner of the Pirates and Bill Delancey of the Cardinals, both of whom are recovering from pneumonia, might well be concerned about their futures. A long rest has been prescribed for Delancey, who isn't expected to return to action until June while Waner probably will be out even longer.

Babe Phelps, slated to be Brooklyn's first string catcher this year, had a broken hand last year while Frankie Pytlak of Cleveland was kept idle half the season by illness. Lyle Judy, speedy Cardinal rookie, and Hank Erickson of Cincinnati were badly hurt in automobile accidents; Wally Moses of the Athletics broke an arm in mid season.

All of these and three of the Indians, Earl Averill and Clint Brown, the firecracker victims, and Bruce Campbell might be in line for conditional contracts if the idea were universally adopted.

KY LAFFOON AND THOMPSON IN TIE

Both Post 140's In San Francisco Tourney; Many Stars Fade

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Ky Laffoon, sharp shooting linksman from Chicago, and Jimmy Thomson, one of the longest hitters in the business, tied for medal honors today in the San Francisco match play open championship.

The 36-hole qualifying round saw many of golf's notables fall by the wayside.

Only eight qualified for the championship flight in one of the most radical changes from the standardized field of 32 ever put into effect.

The qualifiers and their scores:

Jimmy Thomson, Ridgewood, N. J., 70-70—140.

Horton Smith, Chicago, 71-70—141.

Craig Wood, New York, 71-71—142.

Benny Coltrin, San Francisco, 69-72—141.

Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, 71-71—142.

Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, 71-71—142.

Willie Goggin, San Francisco, 72-70—142.

The field was trimmed sharply to run off the tournament in three days. Those who remained in the running were compelled to blast out sub-par scores from the Lake Merced course, a par 72 test.

The co-medalists scored four under par although the course was almost blotted out by fog this morning.

Paul Runyan, former P. G. A. champion, was nosed out of the championship flight by a stroke, his 143 coming from a 73 and 70.

Walter Hagen, veteran campaigner, bowed out with a 74-71—145. Harold McSpaden, unattached and winner here last year, was eliminated with a pair of 73s.

CROSSETT TRIMS OUACHITA, 38-11

Eagles Run Away With Game In Second Half For Easy Victory

CROSSETT, Ark., Jan. 25.—(Special)—After a slow start in the first half, Coach Lester Mason's Crossett high Eagles picked up speed in the second period and played first class basketball during the remainder of the game to defeat the Ouachita parish high quintet of Monroe, 38 to 11, here tonight.

Although the Monroe team held an excellent defense in the early part of the game, they weakened as the game progressed and were unable to withstand the fast offensive displayed by the Eagles.

Stron, Ouachita guard, showed up best for his team and threatened to score several times. He was unable, however, to hit the basket after a good exhibition of dribbling the ball through Crossett's defense. Byron Gulledge, Crossett forward, led his team's scoring with 13 points. The offensive floor work of Billy Gates was outstanding for the Eagles.

The line-up:

Crossett.	Pos.	Ouachita.
Gulledge	F	Dean
Madden	F	Potter
Adcock	C	Gideon
Gates	G	Warren
Howie	G	Stron

Substitutes — Crossett, Ragland, Stratten, Croswell, Delong, Pennington, Morgan. Ouachita—Patterson, Sherrad, Smith, Royce.

Referee—Curtis Dolan. Timer—McCain. Scorer—Adcock.

DURHAM EXPECTS TO TAKE TURN ON MOUND

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Ed Durham, the lad with the frosted elbow, clambered out of a hot bath here today and confided that he will be taking his regular turn on the mound for the Chicago White Sox this season.

Durham, called "Bull" by the fans, has been away from the diamond for two years trying to thaw out a pitching arm that froze on him in 1933. He won 11 and lost six games that year to lead the squad, but blamed too much hurling in a chill March wind for his collapse.

"Toward the end of the season I could barely lift it," he said, flexing what looked like a quite supple appendage. "It feels better right now, though, than it did at the start of 1933 and when the season rolls around I'll be ready to take my regular turn on the mound for full nine innings assignment."

BROWNIES TO PLAY TULLOS ON TUESDAY

The Brown Paper mill basketball squad will return to Monroe today after a week's invasion of the middlewest, where they played the strongest teams in the Missouri Valley league.

The Brownies will meet their old rivals, the Tullos Oilers, in resuming their home schedule Tuesday night. The game will be played at Brown gym, starting at 7:45 o'clock.

The local club turned in a good showing on their road trip. They won three games and dropped three. Their worst defeat came at the hands of the Wichita Gridleys, formerly the Wichita Henrys, three times National A. A. U. champions.

PELICAN MOUNDSMAN TRADED TO 'NOOGANS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Larry Gilbert, manager of the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern association, announced today that Andy Messenger, veteran righthander, had been traded to Chattanooga for Bobby Reeves, infielder.

No Heavyweight Ever Overshadowed Field As Does Louis

By Harry Grayson
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

No heavyweight in history, including the great champions, ever overshadowed his field as does the amazing Joe Louis.

The consensus is that Max Schmeling will last no longer than two rounds with Louis in June and Jim Braddock no more than six in September.

Louis is only 21. The Detroit negro has not yet shaved. He has been boxing profesionally only 18 months. Yet before the year is out he may find himself with no more worlds to conquer. There are no bright prospects in sight. Although he is just starting, the Brown Embalmer may be forced to retire, for a time at least, due to lack of competition, as did Jim Jeffries in 1904.

It may be due to the caliber of the opposition, but the fact remains that no other big fellow ever towered so high above the pack.

Jeffries whipped all of the leading contenders twice, but required 11 rounds to flatten Bob Fitzsimmons, who scaled 170, and, after the boilermaker copped the title Tom Sharkey went 25 rounds and Jim Corbett 23.

Ol' Har' Wills never did get a crack at Jack Dempsey. When the Man Mauler was at his peak it took him 12 rounds to dispose of Bill Brennan. Tommy Gibbons was on his pins at the conclusion of 15. Since he struck his stride, no one has won a round from Louis. Everybody agreed that Georges Carpentier, little more than a middleweight, took the second round from the Dempsey of 1921 by a decisive margin.

Let's Look At The Records

Gene Tunney might have further demonstrated his worth by tackling Johnny Risko of Jack Sharkey instead of retiring after cutting up and stopping the antiquated and hand-picked Tom Heeney in 1928.

Jack Johnson never was out of employment. Li'l Arthur's record is studded with 20, 15, 12, and 10-round engagements. Jim Flynn was upright and still full of fight when the sheriff took a keen dislike to the fireman's butting in the ninth heat at Las Vegas. Frank Moran experienced little difficulty in going along.

Fitz, the freak hitter, refused Corbett a second edition, and lacked the tonnage to cope with a giant like Jefferies.

Corbett was too frail to combat rugged warriors of the Jefferies and Tom Sharkey type.

John L. Sullivan picked his spots and had his headaches in the bare knuckle days—before age, dissipation, and Corbett caught up with the once Boston Strong Boy in New Orleans.

Size enabled Jess Willard to assume command of and rule a lot of loogans. It was his good fortune to catch a financially embarrassed and harassed Johnson on the decline. Even then, the Pottawatomie Pounder declined $100,000 to meet Fred Fulton in a no-decision affair, and Honest John Kelly wasn't the only one who believed that the vastly smaller Jack Dillon would have beaten the Kansas hulk.

The champions—so called—who have reigned since Tunney don't belong in the same league with Louis, as the Bomber of the Buckalew showed when he pulverized Primo Carnera and which he will positively prove when he pars his short left hook on the dental work of Schmeling and Braddock.

Louis is the most formidable big man since Dempsey. He is a much better equipped and a more polished performer in all departments than Tunney.

Dempsey was a grand offensive fighter, but like most of them, the Manassa Manhandler was strictly an offensive fighter. His idea was that a whirlwind attack was the best defense. I doubt that that would work against a mobile sharpshooter like Louis.

Johnson was the most skillful blocker and all-round defensive heavyweight who ever lived, but he was strictly a denfensive fighter.

Louis combines the finest qualities of Dempsey and Johnson. Here is a 200-pound lightweight who slips and blocks punches as did Johnson and counters with the speed of a rattlesnake. Nate Lewis and other competent judges with tired old eyes consider him the fastest countering heavyweight they ever saw.

Old-timers go all the way back to the lightweight, Joe Gans, in recalling a hitter as accurate as Louis, who sprays opponents with punches with all the savageness of Dempsey when he turns on the juice.

Jefferies in full stride perhaps came closer to matching Louis than any of the Alabama-born darky's illustrious predecessors. Certainly, the California bear had more opportunity to convince everybody that he had a concrete chin than the Detroit entrant has had to date.

Louis appears built to shed punches, and lugs the trouble like a bloke with no fear of being kissed in the dark.

Yet a few die-hards insist upon seeing his reaction upon being belted very bowlegged before passing final judgment.

I fear that they are in for quite a wait.

There is no one around to do the belting. When one capable of doing it does arrive, he will first have to tag Louis, which is about as simple as throwing out Pepper Martin. And if he does nail Dead Pan Joe, the only thing I'm sure about is that he'll get a receipt

KOPECKY MEETS M'NAUGHT ON WEDNESDAY CARD

ROUGH BOHEMIAN TO RETURN FOR STADIUM MATCH

Bruscato Attempts To Line Up New Faces For Mat Program

Joe Kopecky, the wild Bohemian, will return to the scene of many gory triumphs Wednesday night when he comes to Roosevelt stadium to tangle with Don McNaught, clever Canadian youngster, in the main event of the weekly wrestling show.

Kopecky was an arch villain at the stadium a couple of years ago. In fact, he was one of the most hated, yet respected, grapplers who appeared regularly at the local wrestling emporium. He started several riots and barely escaped the wrath of the customers on numerous occasions.

The Bohemian is as rough as they come, but he also knows plenty of scientific holds and sometimes makes use of this knowledge when his barrelhouse tactics fail. However, it's a rare thing that he can't make his roughness "stick."

Kopecky is a veteran who knows all the tricks. He gets by with more illegal stuff than the average meanie and is the bane of all referees wherever he works. He is certain to tangle with Butch Martin, husky referee who handles all the stadium bouts, before the match is 10 minutes old, and their side battle should be interesting to watch. Martin will be handling no novice when he attempts to discipline Kopecky.

McNaught has shown here several times in the past two months and has built up a large following. The Canadian, who is a brother of the popular Scotty McNaught, although a youngster, has picked up plenty about the game and he usually relies on his science to win for him. He's a powerful grappler and makes good use of his strength and endurance.

Promoter Charlie Bruscato said last night that he would attempt to line up two new men for the semi-final match. He said it would be his policy to give the customers new faces as much as possible and it is his desire to present three new men for the Wednesday show. Kopecky, of course, isn't exactly "new" but it's been nearly three years since he has been in town here, and it is thought that the fans will welcome a glimpse of his showmanship again.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls. Bruscato said he would have the semi-final signed by Monday.

GROG WINS $3,500 HIALEAH STAKES

Wheatley Stable Castoff Takes Surprise Win, Pays $51.50

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Grog, a Wheatley stable castoff now racing for J. U. Gratton of Canada, befuddled the Florida derby calculations still more today when he turned in an unexpected victory over 10 other three-year-olds in the $3,500 Hialeah stakes at Hialeah park.

Although boasting a record of being out of the money only ten times in 37 starts last year and winner of $13,940, the bay son of Hard Tack was overlooked in the betting with the result he paid $51.50 for a $2 win mutuel after running the six furlongs in the fast time of 1:11 2-5.

Johnny Gilbert brought Grog home a half-length in front of W. C. Stroube's Bay Bubble, another outsider, despite the fact she had finished out of the money only once in nine trips to the post. Faust, one of the Wheatley stable's candidates for the derby which will be run March 7, wound up third, a full length back of Bay Pubble.

The disappointment of the race was Warren Wright's Crossbow 2nd. The son of Crusader, rated one of the leading juveniles last year, had shown great gameness in winning his only other start at Hialeah and as the result was the heavily played favorite today. He broke from the barrier in seventh place and, although he made up some ground, fourth was the best he could do. A half-length separated the Wright colt and Faust at the finish.

Gilbert was largely responsible for Grog's winning purse of $3,040. The Pittsburg, Kan., jockey kept his mount on the rail all the way and when Bay Bubble, which set the pace from the rise of the barrier, went wide at the stretch turn, Gilbert shot Grog through the narrow gap and into the lead. He held on gamely to beat out Stroube's filly while Faust withstood Crossbow 2nd's stretch challenge.

Hal Price Headley' Whopper, the giant four-year-old on of Pharamond 2nd which probably will go west for the Santa Anita handicap, turned in his second straight victory of the season in taking the one mile of the Miami Shores handicap.

Handling his weight of 128 pounds as if it was a feather, Whopper stepped over the eight furlongs in 1:36 2-5 and beat DeWitt Page's Mantagna by three lengths, C. V. Whitney's High Glee was another half-length to the rear in third place.

MCGUINN AIRTIGHT FIELDER

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25.—(AP)—George McQuinn may not make the grade as a hitter with the Reds in the 1936 season, but there is no doubt of the fielding ability of the promoted Newark first sacker. He hung up a mark of .997 in 1935 making only four errors in 146 games.

Cunningham Booed By Boston Crowd In K. C. Mile Event

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IS GIVEN PROPOSAL

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Proposals of President Frank Graham of the University of North Carolina, to amend the athletic eligibility rules of the Southern conference last night received a vote of confidence from the University faculty.

Roundly criticised in recent weeks by various county alumni chapters of the university, the so-called "Graham plan" to de-emphasize college athletics was said by faculty spokesmen to have received support by a "decisive vote."

R. B. House, administrative dean, said the faculty adopted this resolution:

"1. That the faculty has confidence in President Graham and approves in principle his efforts to improve amateur athletics in the Southern conference.

"2. That the faculty approves President Graham's stand for improvement in the eligibility rules for college athletics as expressed in the proposed amendments to the constitution of the Southern conference."

NORMAL TAKES UP BOXING PROGRAM

Teachers Will Meet Centenary And Barksdale Field Mittmen

NATCHITOCHES, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—The State Normal Demon boxing team will make its initial appearance next Friday, January 31, when they step into the ring to oppose a mixed boxing squad from Barksdale field and Centenary here in the Normal gymnasium.

Sponsored by the physical education department, the boxing team at the teachers' college this year is the first of its kind in the history of the institution. Dr. C. C. Stroud, head of the department, stated that no stress will be placed on securing intercollegiate contests this year. Should the team measure up to expectations, boxing will be included at least as a minor sport at the teachers' college in the future, Dr. Stroud stated.

Coach Gladney Harrison, and his assistant, Herb Sayers, are faced with the problem of inexperience among the candidates for the squad, but said after four weeks' training, that three or four will make formidable opponents for the visiting squad next Friday.

The greatest power of the Normal pugilists will be found in the bantam and welterweight divisions. Carlton "Tar" Caldwell, 118 pound bantam from Oakdale, shows promise of being a good bet in most of his contests this year. Caldwell has had three years' experience in the squared circle and his hook and jab is well-known in amateur circles in southwest Louisiana and southeast Texas.

The welterweight division is topped by Herb Sayers, former Detroit amateur boxer and Golden Gloves contestant. Sayers is the brother of Tom Sayers, former well-known heavyweight. Other lads who show promise with the leather mittens are James Cromwell, heavyweight; William Rockhold, featherweight; Newton Burnett, lightweight; Dudley Hillman, light heavyweight, and Dub Willett, middleweight.

MANY ATHLETES IN TEXAS RELAYS

Littlefield Hopes To Arrange Special Events For L. S. U. Stars

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Clyde Littlefield, track coach at the University of Texas, said today universities and colleges in all parts of the United States were responding enthusiastically to invitations to the ninth Texas relays.

Littlefield said he expected the number of participants to exceed last year's record when 905 track and field men, including some of the nation's outstanding stars, competed. Entry blanks will be mailed March 1, Littlefield said, and the relays held March 28.

Michigan State, Louisiana State, University of Kansas, Kansas State, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Oklahoma have advised that they would enter teams. Acceptances have been received from all members of the Southwest conference and from a majority of Texas colleges.

The relays will stress the Texas Centennial and the track and field section of the Olympics to be held in Berlin in the summer. It will be the first major outdoor meet in the country and will mark the opening of heavy training for aspirants to Olympic berths.

Littlefield said he was negotiating with leading athletes ineligible for intercollegiate competition to participate as special entrants. He hoped to arrange special events featuring "Slats" Hardin, Louisiana State's crack 400 metre hurdler, Jack Torrance, Louisiana State's champion weight thrower, and Sam Allen, Oklahoma Baptist university star and holder of the National record for the 120-yard high hurdles.

The meet will be in four divisions, university, college, univeristy and college freshmen and junior colleges, and high schools.

Bernie Moore, Louisiana State coach will act as referee and Mule Frazier, formerly of Baylor university, will be starter for the ninth time.

BRUNDAGE SURE OLYMPIC FUND WILL BE RAISED

Backers Of Games Rally To Cause As Result Of Recent Agitation

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—If there is the slightest concern about raising the $350,000 necessary to defray the expenses of the Olympic team this summer, you'd never suspect it in chatting with Avery Brundage, the Solid Man of American amateur athletics.

"We really have only to raise $170,000," aserts Brundage, on the eve of his departure for the winter games at Garmisch-Partenkirchen. "This amount will be far oversubscribed." You'd think he was talking about $1.70, but Brundage has been there before.

Regardless of how you feel about America taking part in the Berlin frolics, Aug. 1-16, you must admire Brundage. Avery was a star all-round athlete for 20 years, after breaking in in the Orange and Blue of the University of Illinois. Quickly growing into tremendous figure in the constructional field, Brundage never lost interest in the scantily clads.

It was quite natural for an executive of his ability and love for sports to become president of the Amateur Athletic union and to again take command when agitation against this country sending a team abroad threatened to wreck the parent body he had fought so long to make secure.

Pencil and Paper

Brundage says that the Olympic fund will be raised something like this:

Subscription	$170,000
Colleges	60,000
Basketball	50,000
Track trials	40,000
Boxing	20,000
Swimming	10,000
Total	$350,000

"You would be amazed to know how the real backers of the games have rallied to the cause since the split in New York," explains Brundage.

"We didn't need so much in 1932, when the games were held in Los Angeles, but more than $200,000 was contributed toward the Amsterdam production. I expect that figure to be exceeded this trip. Chicago alone gave $47,000 in 1928, when I saw more than $30,000 pledged around one luncheon table.

"You can't beat the spirit of amateur athletics, particularly when it is applied to the Olympic games.

"We have 500 committees working throughout the land. It follows that our hastily formed organization is clumsy and unwieldy, but we rather prefer it that way. We always have prevailed. We much prefer to have 1,000 persons contribute $1 each than to have one person contribute $1,000."

Schools Lend Hand

Harvard, Notre Dame, and numerous other institutions contribute $1,000 to Olympic funds. There are to be student body tag days at scores of schools. All National Collegiate A. A. and Western conference track and field proceeds go to the fund.

Basketball, newest of Olympic sports, will lend a tremendous hand with eight teams participating in a three-day final tournament at Madison Square Garden, April 3, 4, 5 or 6. From these clubs will be selected the 14-man Olympic team.

The final track and field trials, set for the new stadium on Randall Island, New York, July 10-11, normally are good for $30,000, with the semi-finals—east, midwest, and Pacific coast—netting an additional $10,000.

"The cost of conducting this campaign is negligible," explains Brundage. "The only outlay is for clerical work. The campaigners are volunteers.

"What those opposing American participation forget is that members of the German Olympic team, like all other competitors, are to be guests of the international Olympic committee."

Avery Brundage and the American Olympic committee is one reason why the show always goes on.

COLORED HIGH TO STAGE BOXING SHOW

It was announced yesterday that the boxing team of Monroe colored high school would give its first exhibition Monday night at Roosevelt stadium with seven fights slated. The first battle will begin at 8 o'clock. The card has been arranged for an inter-class match.

The team is the first that has ever been attempted in the local colored school. More than fifty boys, attempting to emulate Joe Louis, have gone to work seriously at the art of self-defense. Coach Henry Carrol is the instructor.

In a full practice session in the auditorium of the school last Monday a crowd of 600 witnessed twenty-one rounds of some of the best amateur slugging ever seen here.

Three bitter battles are expected between Smith 183 vs. Thomas 182; Joe Gulley 161 vs. R. P. Mason 165; McAdoo Williams 142 vs. Fred Thomas 140. These fighters were matched in last week's fracas and put on a good show.

BIG DEER BAG IN JERSEY

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Deer hunters enjoyed great sport during New Jersey's five-day open season in December, state game and fish commissioners reporting 2205 bucks legally shot and 131 does, fawns and bucks killed contrary to law.

TECH TIDINGS

By RUSTON Sports Writer

RUSTON, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Some say one thing and some say another, especially when the subject is football and the discussers are persons with different interests.

So it was the other night in Ruston at the gridiron banquet which honored the football men of Louisiana Tech.

Tech's head man, President George W. Bond, made a talk in which he indicated that he does not place heavy emphasis upon the necessity of a football team's winning all of its games. "If we expected our football team to win all the time," he declared, "there would be no justification for having a football team." He is primarily interested in the physical upbuilding of the players, with clean sportsmanship being the guide to their conduct.

Following President Bond's remarks it so happened that the banquet toastmaster "would like to hear a few words" from George V. Lofton, sports editor of the Monroe Morning World. As one George to another, His Editorship disagreed with President Bond.

One of the talkers is an educator, the other an editor. You can understand from that why the two might differ in regard to what football should accomplish.

A college president knows (and can prove it) that a winning football team has nothing at all to do with increasing the enrollment of the school. He can cite numerous small colleges that have had winning elevens consistently, with the student body total remaining unchanged; and he will tell you of many of the country's leading universities from the standpoint of enrollment and instructional offerings that seldom have a football squad of note. Perhaps all college heads, however, see these advantages in having a winning football team: It will bolster the morale of the student body; it will keep the alumni in a good humor (if anything will), and it will help considerably toward making the music go 'round and 'round, as more customers will be drawn through the gates. Beyond those factors, a winning football team is not so important in the eyes of an educator.

To an editor, the situation is different. He knows that there is greater reader interest in winning football teams. The story of a great gridiron victory makes a bigger headline. The winners get wider publicity, and cause people to speak favorably of the college itself, whether those people ever enroll in the school or not.

No poll was taken at the Tech football banquet to determine who won the "debate." President Bond and Mr. Lofton are both right, in consideration of their respective interests. Begging their pardon in advance, however, this writer would remind both speakers that there are many persons here who disagree with both of them to a certain extent. The latter group holds to this view: "Let the smaller college football teams play the larger college teams. That will eliminate the factor of winning or losing, so long as the fans can see a good game, with the scores not being too ridiculously lop-sided."

Tech's Bill This Week

Three nights of sports attractions at Louisiana Tech are scheduled for this week. On Thursday night, the Chilocco Indians of Oklahoma will battle Tech boxers. Friday night, Birmingham-Southern and Tech will play basketball, and Saturday night the University of Tampa cagers will meet the local cagers here.

Just who will represent Tech in the boxing bouts with the Oklahoma Indians are unknown at present. That was supposed to have been attended to last Thursday night, which was the time advanced for the selection of Tech team members in elimination matches preceding the Tech-Mississippi Teachers basketball game. But when the fans gathered around to see the fights, for some reason the tilts turned out to be only exhibition rounds, and the crowd was disappointed.

There will be no disappointment this coming Thursday night, however, unless something unforeseen happens between now and then. There will be battles royal, eight of them in all, ranging from the 118-pound class on up, according to reports.

Comment On Captains

You may not know where Rhinehart is, but you have heard of the place through Madison Brooks, who has proved himself to be a pretty good fellow to have around in an athletics way at Louisiana Tech. Brooks was captain of the Tech varsity football squad of 1935, and now has the additional honor of being elected captain of the basketball squad. Besides being a popular student and vote-getter Brooks can play games—football or basketball. In the most recent of the Tech cage contests, he took a forward post and totalled 17 points—more than half of the points out of the 31 Tech tallied against the Hattiesburg Teachers here.

Ben (Mohawk) Phillips of Glenmora, who has just been elected captain of the Louisiana Tech varsity eleven for the coming fall, made many a lucky strike as a wingman with the Techmen the past season, and saw to it that there were "no loose ends" coming his way. A characteristic of "Mohawk" is that he goes in for brightly colored raiment, dazzling blazers and the like.

Billy Mitchell of Ruston, who will serve with Phillips in the capacity of alternate captain, was one of Tech's most dependable halfbacks in 1935. He also is receiving much favorable comment upon his work as a basketball player.

KANSAN WINS BUT BLOCKS ANOTHER ON FINAL TURN

Spectators Become Incensed When Distance Star Halts Rival

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham, the world's fastest miler, was roundly boohed by many in the 10,000 crowd at the Boston Garden tonight when he nosed out Joe Mangan, former Cornell captain, in the K. of C. mile run, feature of the Prout memorial games.

The mighty Kansan, running his first mile of the indoor season, was timed in 4:17.7.

Many of the spectators became incensed when Cunningham appeared to cut over and block Mangan on the last turn, just when the former intercollegiate champion was about to pass the barrel-chested Kansas.

The noisy storm increased in volume when the announcer named Cunningham as the victor but the jeers changed to cheers when Mangan was called the runner-up.

Cunningham explained to officials that he turned his ankle just when the former Ithacan threatened to pass him on the last bank, about 30 yards from the finish line.

"It just couldn't be helped," the world record holder exclaimed sadly.

It appeared to many in the crowd that Mangan would have won but for this mishap. He was trying to pass Cunningham on the outside when the latter swerved up the bank.

Mangan was forced to break his stride and lost valuable head way but he was sprinting again after two strides and pulled up almost even with the victor as he snapped the red twine.

About 10 yards behind Mangan came Ray Sears of Butler university, and Joe McCluskey, the New York A. C. two-miler making his first bid for miler fame, was a wilted fourth and last.

Eulace Peacock, of Temple, the national 100-meters sprinting champion, nosed out Larry Scanlon of Holy Cross, by a foot in the Prout meet's 50-yard dash at the Boston Garden. The negro flyer was timed in 5.6 seconds.

Francis Zeimetz, Boston college freshman, captured third place.

Ray McLaughlin of Bowdoin, who spilled during his trial, accounted for the 45-yard high hurdles final.

Officials ruled that his lane was faulty and certified him for the semi-finals. He gained an easy triumph over A. H. Hakanson of Northeastern, and Ed Kickham of Boston college, in the 5.9 seconds finale.

BASEBALL FILM GIVEN APPROVAL

Official Picture Of American League To Be Released Soon

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Club owners and officials of the American league today approved the educational sound film, "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," at a special meeting held for the purpose in this city.

Those in attendance included League President William Harridge; Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians; Thomas A. Yawkey, president of the Boston Red Sox; Charles F. Navin, secretary-treasurer and business manager of the world champion Detroit Tigers; Walter O. Briggs, Jr., assistant secretary and treasurer of the same club; and William S. McLean, director of advertising for the Fisher Body division, General Motors Corporation.

The film, produced by the body-building division of the automotive concern through the courtesy and cooperation of the officials, club owners and players, as a result of the action taken today becomes the offical motion picture of the American league, replacing the earlier version entitled, "Play Ball," which has been seen by nearly 2,000,000 persons in the last year.

"We are all extremely well pleased with the sequel to 'Play Ball'," Mr. Harridge declared following the meeting at which the film was shown for the first time. "The original version was an excellent picture, but the new one is infinitely superior in every way. 'Take Me Out to the Ball Game' is totally different than its predecessor, and I am only afraid that we will not be able to keep up with the demand for prints after a few of the fans have viewed it."

It is the plan to hold previews in the major cities of the country after which prints in both 16 mm. and 35 mm. sizes will be made available to schools, colleges, clubs, theaters and other business, social and educational institutions.

Reservations for bookings may be made at offices of the American league in Chicago, those of the local clubs, or direct with the Fisher Body headquarters at Detroit.

Winning Golf

By Lawson Little

Richard Arlen, that popular sports-loving screen star, has in the last two years, taken up golf as a hobby between his work at the studios. His enthusiasm for the game has probably lead him astray from what would ordinarily have been a short career of dub-hood. Recently while I was his guest at his beautiful Hollywood home, we had several games together. He played in the low eighties and sometimes high seventies. But I could see that he was capable of playing almost par golf consistently if he could gain confidence.

His many friends in the golfing circles have been trying to help him for the last two years. There was his right hip, his left arm, his grip, his stance his left toe etc. all on his mind at the same time. Consequently his brain was filled with the many do's and don'ts collected from twenty to thirty of the leading golfers.

It is very seldom that two people have the same ideas on just how a golf ball should be hit—as Walter Hagen puts it, "every one must find out for himself what he must guard against, and then station his own guards through the swing to prevent this fault occuring."

If Dick was hooking on a particular day, probably several players would tell him what was wrong. Each one would agree as to the cause but each would have a different remedy—the remedy that worked best for himself—his own guards. Dick would then collect these guards and try to employ them all when only one would be necessary.

Trying To Do Too Much

Several mornings ago, we were playing a twosome and he asked me to help him. I told him that he was trying to do too much—that he had the wrong psychology and that he was using a poor method for attacking his troubles. I went on further to tell him that he was paying too much attention to the don'ts and not enough to the do's. Then I asked him how he hit a ball—and to my surprise, he said he didn't know.

My task was rather easy because he is very athletically inclined being a good football player, and a former semi-pro hockey player and once a record holder in swimming. In other words, he had good muscle coordination and could do what he was told quickly.

My first job was to make him forget the many things he attempted when he hit the ball. Then I went into some things that he should—and had to do in order to play correctly.

Importance Of Hands

As the hands are the medium through which the club is swung, I started to work on his hands. Like most pupils, he was stubborn. I had to prove to him that the hands were important. So I teed a ball and hit a shot standing only on one foot so that I had to use only my hands in swinging the club. The ball went nearly as far as my regular drive. Incidentally, Leo Deigel once sprained his ankle and played an exhibition match in spite of it. He was forced to play every shot off of one leg and he broke the course record with a 67.

After Dick discovered that he could hit a ball by concentrating upon his hands and letting his body take care of itself, his game straightened out somewhat. Now he had something constructive to think about instead of worrying about doing something wrong.

Soon he began to hook his shots and the worried look again came into his face.

"Fine," I said after each hook. Finally he turned to me and said,

"What do you mean fine" these hooks aren't any good." He was right there, they were bad hooks, but it showed a very important thing—that he was using his hands more than ever before. Then I questioned him—

"Alright, what causes a hook, Dick?" I inquired.

"Too flat a swing, too much right hand, rolling the club over, collapsing the lefthand—"

"Wait a minute, you have covered enough in this case," I told him. "Now what is it that is causing you to hook," I asked.

He thought a moment and replied, "I don't know."

Curing The Trouble

The only thing that he had changed was his mental attitude and his hand-action; naturally the hook would have to come from his new hand-action. To correct this I had to discover the best guard for him, not the guard best for me. I would not let him ease up hitting with his right hand because this would cut his power too much. So the left hand was the onl yone left to work on. I asked him to hold the club very tightly with his left hand and hit hard with his right. He looked at me skeptically and did it. The ball was one of the longest he had ever hit.

About 15 minutes more were required to convince him that working on the do's and not the don'ts was one of the most important phases of good golf.

HOLLYWOOD GIVES US HORSE FOOTBALL

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Football has jumped into the saddle in the movie colony.

Putting the players on horses and using football rules along with a few borrowed from polo, Victor McLaglen, the athletic actor, is working out a new game, which probably will have its premiere in about two weeks.

Punting will be done by the ponies from a placement position on the ground.

To tackle a ball carrier, the tackler must "tag" the rider in much the same manner that "touch" football is played. Thus, a rider trained in equine acrobatics might be able to elude a horde of tacklers by slipping from side to side on his mount.

The pass from center will be made with the ball originally resting on the ground and propelled by a planer leaning down from the saddle.

"We're having a little trouble figuring out what sort of a ball to use," said McLaglen. "The regulation spheroid would's do because it would be too hard to pick up. Otherwise, at present, we're planning to use regular football rules."

Some of the rules pertaining to blocking and crossing in front of a rider that exist in polo will be used to prevent injury to the horses.

Assisting the actor in the development of "horse football" are three former football players, Ted Key, Homer Griffith and Irvine (Cotton) Warburton.

CZECHS HAVE NOVEL BOB

PAR GIVEN LACING IN WINTER EVENTS

Winners Alone In 11 Tourneys Bested 'Old Man' By 50 Strokes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Old Man Par has taken a 50-stroke lacing from the winners alone in the 11 open golf tournaments this winter.

It wasn't so long ago that par golf won tournaments. Now the pace is so fast that professional par-shooters generally wind up among the also-rans, sometimes making no more than caddy fees.

The majority of the money-winners this winter have whipped par, but considering only the winners, perfect figures have been bettered by a half-hundred blows.

Jimmy Hines, the long-hitting New Yorker who developed a fine putting touch this winter, handed par its worst shellacking. He shot the four rounds of the Riverside, Cal., open tourney in 276, an even dozen blows better than perfect figures for the layout.

Johnny Revolta, the professional Golfers' Association champion and leading money winner of 1935, looped across another kayo punch by winning the Sarasota, Fla., event in 274, 10 below par.

Willie Klein handed the wobbly old gentleman his next most humiliating setback, winning the Miami open in 272, eight under par.

Horton Smith was five under in winning the Pasadena open with 279, and three under in taking top money in the Miami Biltmore with 281.

Bill Mehlhorn and Wiffy Cox were two under when they tied for first after 72 holes in the Sacramento open at 286, while Bobby Cruickshank and Revolta were four under finishing the Orlando, Fla., tourney deadlocked at 280. Cox and Cruickshank won first prizes in playoffs.

Leo Mallory captured the Nassau British Colonial open with 271, one better than par, while Denny Shute was six under in winning the 36-hole Tropic Open at Miami.

TIME SUPPLY IS WINNER AT ANITA

Carreaud Star Cops $5,000 San Vicente Handicap In 1936 Debut

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Time Supply's 1936 debut at Santa Anita today was a winning one.

The five-year-old horse of Mrs. F. A. Carreaud captured the $5,000 San Vincente handicap for three-year-olds and came within one-fifth of a second of tying the track record.

Time Supply ran the six furlongs, carrying 120 pounds, in 1:10 1-5.

Rosemont, conqueror of Omaha at Belmont last spring, finished second, and Singing Wood, the favorite in the betting, was third.

Time Supply, ridden by Tommy Luther, paid $17.40, $6 and $3.80 on the $2 mutuel tickets. Rosemont paid $3.60 and $3. Singing Wood $2.20.

Time Supply was within striking distance always, came fast on the outside after leaving the backstretch, and, after bumping Rosemont, finished ahead by a length.

The majority of the horses entered are candidates for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap next month.

Discovery, running a mile between races to give the 25,000 fans a look at him, reeled off the distance in 1:36 flat.

Cotton futures closed steady, 4 to 23 higher.

New York Stocks

By Victor Eubank
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The stock market righted itself quickly today after an early stumble following the boosting of margin requirements by the federal reserve board.

Initial declines ranged from fractions to 2 or more points. Aviation and utility issues led the recovery and most losses were shaded, cancelled or replaced by gains of up to a point or so. The close was steady. Transfers approximated 1,550,000 shares.

There was a heavy turnover in low-priced power and light stocks and the ticker tape fell several minutes in arrears during the last half hour's spurt.

Douglas Aircraft, off 2 points at one time, found sufficient support to wipe out this recession and establish a gain of more than a point. Sperry was also an active performer on the comeback.

Such issues as Electric Power and Light, American Power and Light, American and Foreign Power, Standard Gas and Electric, United Corp., and Commonwealth and Southern generally edged forward. The steels and motors steadied along with the rails. Armour was a lively gainer of a major fraction. Deere got up about 3 points, but other farm shares did little.

Inflation sentiment seemed to have waned considerably and the mining stocks backed and filled in a slim groove. Foreign exchanges were far from buoyant.

Cotton rallied along with wheat. Bonds were somewhat mixed. U. S. government issues acted better.

Financial circles seemed a little puzzled over the action of the reserve authorities on margins in view of the fact that speculative borrowings at the present time were thought to be most conservative.

Broker pointed out that their buying of stocks in recent months has been largely on a cash basis. Federal reserve loans to brokers last week were off $17,000,000. At the beginning of the year the total stood at $1,014,000,000. Last April the figure was under $800,000,000. At the height of the 1929 bull market, market loans amounted to around $6,804,000,000. In July, 1932, the depression bottom figure was $331,000,000.

Some observers were inclined to see optimistic signs in the jacking up of the marginal ante. These thought that perhaps the administration may have foreseen a boom in business and industry and wanted to prevent a buying rush in equities of the kind which has always ended in collapse.

There were still many conjectures as to a possible revision of the government's gold and silver program, but no great apprehension was apparent in generally informed quarters. At the same time, many commentators looked for much irregularity and selectivity in securities markets over the next several months.

INDUSTRIAL REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES

MILNER-FULLER HAS NEW PLAN

Universal Credit Company Offers Thrift With Safety At Cost Of 6 Per Cent

Eight years ago the Universal Credit company began its history as an important factor in the commercial, financial, and industrial life of the nation—a specialized financial institution created for the exclusive purpose of providing a stabilizing factor in financing the time sales of Ford cars and trucks. The company has made sound and substantial progress ever since inception.

During this comparatively brief but disturbed period in the economic history of the United States, Universal Credit company has financed the purchase of new Ford cars and used cars sold by Ford dealers exclusively to the motor-buying public of America in the amount of more than one and a half billion dollars, serving a total of more than 2,600,000 Ford customers. Such, in brief, is the history of one of the nation's greatest financial service corporations.

These figures are indicative of the substantial contribution being made by Universal Credit company to improve conditions. This record of volume places UCC among the foremost of American financing institutions.

UCC has been repeatedly responsible for the reduction of finance costs for Ford buyers. The large volume of business developed has made possible constantly improved plans, providing courtesy, safety and economy for the Ford purchaser desiring to buy out of income.

UCC again follows with the lowest and best plans it has ever offered.

Under the new UCC plans, after the usual low down payment, the Ford buyer can purchase his Ford car anywhere in the country on instalments of only $25.00 a month.

The cost of this extension of credit is only 1-2 of 1 per cent per month on the original unpaid balance and insurance. Convenient UCC charts show these finance charges which are computed by multiplying the unpaid balance plus insurance by 1-2 per cent per month (6 per cent for 12 months—which is not simple interest but a multiplier for computation).

Where the $25.00 per month plan is not used, and the Ford buyer wishes to vary the terms of his transaction, the cost is figured by multiplying the unpaid balance plus insurance by a multiplier determined at the rate of 1-2 per cent per month for the total number of months the transaction is to run.

The insurance provided in the new UCC convenient payment plans protects the purchaser's car against fire and theft, collision, flood, windstorm, tornado, cyclone, hail, riot, and other elements of physical damage—complete protection against accidental physical damage to the car itself.

The major factor that makes the $25.00 per month UCC low cost, easy payment plan possible is the great lasting value and public acceptance of the Ford V-8. More than 2,200,000 Ford V-8's have been sold in a period of four years (including two years, 1932-33, which covered the most difficult period of the late depression).

Ford V-8 performance, economy, and beauty in the past is the guarantee of Ford superiority and value in the future. Greater and greater value with each passing year has brought unequaled dollar value in the new Ford V-8 for 1936.

"Ours is more than an exclusive credit institution serving Ford dealers and Ford Purchasers," the New Orleans UCC branch manager, Mr. C. F. Wetherall, recently stated. "We look upon the Universal Credit company as an active arm of the Ford sales force, charged with the duty of helping the Ford dealer and the Ford purchaser in any matters where credit is involved and which has such an important bearing on the merchandising of automobiles."

Another important sales function of the Universal Credit company which Mr. Wetherall brought out in an interview was the very important matter of good will.

"The buyer delights in dealing with an organization which gives him prompt and courteous treatment, that deals with him in absolute fairness, ever maintaining the high standard of its service — a service rendered with the thought constantly in mind of making a repeat customer of the buyer. This he becomes as the result of a natural appreciation for the value in the products and the sincerity of the manufacturer and the seller."

A truly helpful credit service with friendly treatment is the business philosophy behind UCC credit operations. The convenient terms and low cost and safety features offer Ford buyers real economy and safety through a company that serves the Ford market exclusively. UCC plans are available to Ford purchasers at Milner-Fuller, Monroe, La., who is an Authorized Ford Dealer in this community.

Side view of new Terraplane ¾ ton Cab Pick-Up Express just announced by the Hudson Motor Car Company.

With a complete line of Terraplane commercial cars designed to cover every purpose to which a commercial car may be put, Hudson is now in production on several models with shipments starting at once, it was announced today by W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales.

The 1936 Terraplane commercial line includes six models—Custom panel delivery, three-quarter ton cab pick-up express, utility coach, custom station wagon, chassis and chassis with cab. All models are smartly styled after the fashion of the new 1936 passenger line of Terraplanes and are mounted on chassis with a wheelbase of 115 inches. Engines of 88 and 100 horsepower provide a maximum of power with a minimum of weight, resulting in marked economy of operation.

The new utility coach may be converted from a passenger car merely by removing the rear seat, which at once makes available a storage space of 110 cubic feet, entered from the rear. The custom panel delivery provides 130 cubic feet with a carrying weight of ¾ of a ton.

The safety steel cab of the cab pick-up express model has a steel roof and is full three-passenger capacity.

The custom station wagon is stylish in appearance and the seats in the rear compartment may be easily removed whenever it is necessary to use the entire space for transportation of baggage or other articles. The front seat is a three-passenger width, and when the rear seats are in place, five additional passengers are accommodated. Production on this model will be started in the near future.

NEW VERSION OF SHOOTING GIVEN

'Scottsboro Negro' Says Deputy Slapped Powell Before Knifing

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 25.—(AP)—A new and contrasting version of the fight between two "Scottsboro" negroes and officers was given today by Clarence Norris, third defendant present, who said Deputy Edgar Blalock slapped Ozie Powell before the negro slashed the officer with a knift.

Powell, gravely wounded, was allowed no visitors in county hospital here, and could not amplify his previous account—that he started the battle "because Deputy Blalock and another white man said they was going to kill us."

Blalock and Sheriff J. Street Sandlin, whose bullet penetrated Powell's skull, emphatically denied making any threats whatever as they drove Powell Roy Wright, also accused of participating in the fight, and Norris, to Birmingham from Decatur, where the Scottsboro trials were postponed yesterday.

As tension over the state slackened Gov. Bibb Graves ordered the release of 40 of the 50 National guardsmen held in readines sovernight here after Powell was rushed to the hospital for an emergency operation and the other eight Scottsboro negroes were placed in county jail.

Powell's story of the incident, in which he said he bought the knife used "for thirty cents" at Decatur, led to the arrest there of Ernest Merriwether, negro delivery boy, who denied having sold any of the Scottsboro defendants either knife found in the Sandlin car.

KING WILL REST DURING WEEK-END

Thousands Continue To File By Bier Of Dead British Ruler

LONDON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—King Edward VIII went to his country home to rest for the week-end today while thousands filed past his father's bier.

A blind holder of the Victoria cross, Captain Sir Ernest Beachcroft-Towse, took a place among the bodyguard watching over the catafalque in Westminster hall.

The new king went to his private residence at Fort Belvedere for much needed rest after a trying week.

The memory of King George was honored at football games throughout the country. Audiences stood and sang "Abide With Me," the late monarch's favorite hymn and one which will be sung at his funeral Tuesday, and the national anthem was played.

Thousands of school children used the Saturday holiday to pay homage to the late king.

Among royal arrivals for the funeral were Prince Rudiger Ernst von Starhemberg, vice chancellor of Austria, and Nicolas Titulescu, foreign minister of Rumania, who will represent their countries.

Most of the royalty and other delegations will arrive Monday, including kings Boris of Bulgaria, Carol of Rumania and Leopold of the Belgians. King Edward will give a private dinner at Buckingham palace Monday night for the foreign delegations.

Workmen were busy erecting stands and barriers along the route the funeral procession will follow Tuesday from Westminster hall to Paddington station, where the coffin will be placed aboard a train for Windsor. Burial will be in the tomb section of St. George's chapel, which was restored by Queen Victoria.

Some windows have been barricaded against the jostling of crowds. Many shopkeepers converted their windows into grandstands and tiers of seats were sold for as high as $50.

CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

JENA, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—The following officers have been elected by the Fellowship Singing club: John Strozier, president; Alonzo Coon, vice president; Hurley Valentine, secretary-treasurer; Hurley Valentine, program director; Lloyd Knapp, assistant director; Lois Strozier, director; Zettie Corley, reporter.

Snakes turn their old skins wrong side out as they crawl out of them.

BUT . . .

We've got the Goods

A lion met a tiger as they drank beside a pool.

"Tell me," said the tiger, "why you're roaring like a fool?"

"That's not foolish," said the lion, With a twinkle in his eyes,

Because I advertise."

A rabbit heard them talking; ran homeward like a streak.

He thought he'd try the lion's plan—but his roar was just a squeek

LITTLE THEATER PLAY DATE SET

'Trial Of Mary Dugan' May Be Given Two Consecutive Nights

The Monroe Little Theater board of directors will meet in the study of the president Rev. E. F. Hayward, North Fourth and Glenmar streets, this afternoon at 4 o'clock to vote concerning the presentation of the next play on two instead of one night. One night in the past has been the limit of play presentations but so great is the popularity of the next major production, "The Trial of Mary Dugan," that it is urged that it be given on two nights.

The first presentation night has been definitely decided as Tuesday, February 4, and it may be also given on Wednesday, February 5, if the board so decides.

The place of holding the play has been decided upon as the Ouachita parish courthouse, criminal court room, which will afford the requisite setting for the play in the opinion of the director.

Rehearsals have been in progress nightly and fully 60 persons are included in the cast which is said to be such as to show unusual ability.

GAHARAN WITHDRAWS FROM LASALLE RACE

JENA, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Phil S. Gaharan, Jr., runner-up in the race for legislature from LaSalle parish, announced today that he would not make the race in the second primary. A. D. Flowers, mayor of Jena and administration supporter, will be declared the nominee.

The administration won the office of sheriff when Barlow Thompson, Tullos mayor, defeated L. M. Davis who has held the office for twelve years. They also elected a coroner, with Dr. J. A. Gaharan of Olla defeating Dr. O. F. Matthews, Sr., of Urania.

The entire police jury membership in six of the seven wards seems to have been won by the state forces. I. B. Giliham of ward 2 had no opposition for police jury membership. Q. T. Hardtner, president of the school board, was reelected over an administration candidate, while S. T. Chapman, favorable to the administration won out for school board members in ward one. W. W. Brewton, independent, defeated W. L. Parker, independent incumbent for the office of assessor by a majority of 17 votes. Clerk of Court Q. R. Hudson had no opposition.

BLAZE DESTROYS HOUSE SATURDAY

Fire of undetermined origin gutted the residence of Mrs. Bobbie Wiggins at 2015 Grammont street, and caused damage to two other houses, 2009 Grammont street, owned by Blanks and Breard, and 2107 Grammont street, owned by Jim Rowland, about 12:30 a.m. Saturday morning.

The Wiggins house was completely enveloped in flames by the time the fire trucks arrived on the scene, although the latter answered the call immediately. Nothing could be done to save the place, it was reported, but the efforts of the firemen prevented the blaze from spreading, and quick work on their part saved the other houses which were also on fire when the trucks arrived.

Another house owned and occupied by Johnnie Wilson, negro, at 408 Moss street, was also destroyed by fire of undetermined origin Saturday afternoon.

ISAACMAN VISITS FURNITURE MART

Manager Of Monroe Furniture Co. Selects New Lines For Store

Joe Isaacman, vice-president and manager of the Monroe Furniture company, Ltd., returned last week from the American Furniture Mart in Chicago, where he viewed new style trends in furniture and selected new lines for the Monroe store.

"The Furniture Mart's registration approached the record set at its 1935 three-week market when 8,179 buyers were registered," Mr. Isaacman stated. "The registration amounted close to the 8,000 mark at its close. This was the second largest market in the Furniture Mart's history. In only four previous markets were more than 7,000 buyers registered and each of these was the three-week event, whereas the one just closed was of two-weeks duration.

"The market had an unusually bright outlook this year," Mr. Isaacman continued. "Business has been good the nation over, and furniture men are looking forward to a great year in 1936. The new lines shown were the most beautiful I have ever seen. I made a large selection of modified moderns for our store, but I also saw to it that we will have plenty of Eighteenth Century English, Colonial, Early American and other traditional styles for those who have not been converted to the new designs. Regarding modern, it is 'taking' in the smaller centers and much of the opposition in the trade to contemporary design is disappearing. I attribute this partly to the better understanding of modern design and the embodying of the modern motifs in more appropriate woods and finishes. The utility value of seating pieces is also a factor.

"The trend of the furniture styles is in two definite directions, namely, the fine reproduction of period furniture and the other extreme—the broad bold surfaces and straight and curved lines typical of the modern streamlined age. Although modern furniture was shown with Oriental and Scandinavian influences, most of the modern shown was uncompromising and untraditional except for its proportions in some instances which did not borrow from the classics. Eighteenth Century English reproductions with emphasis on Sheraton, Hepplewhite, and Chippendale, were predominant in the period designs displayed. American Empire, American Georgian and Federal styles also were popular and a high style note discernible in the custom furniture exhibits was sophisticated French Provential, Louis XV, and Louis XVI styles. Early American, while still quite popular, undoubtedly suffered some from the advancement of modern."

WILL ELECT OFFICERS OF RED CROSS CHAPTER

This week will be an important one for the Ouachita parish chapter of the Red Cross, as the annual election of officers will take place Friday at 4 p. m. in the rooms of the chapter on South Grand street. Plans also will be formulated for the establishment of emergency first aid stations on highways in this parish in accord with the plans of the national Red Cross.

The past week, at an informal meeting held here, the plan of creating a comprehensive system of first aid places along the highways remote from the city, was approved.

Starting tomorrow classes will be conducted to instruct PWA foremen in the work of giving first aid. It is expected to give this instruction to approximately 100 men, according to instructions received from Washington.

The instructors will be composed of a staff of local physicians who will be aided by Berny Oakland and Parker McComb, Red Cross first aid and life saving directors of the local chapter.

ROAD PROJECTS ARE PROGRESSING

Report Made On Various Works Of Construction In North Louisiana

A large number of federal aid highway projects are now under construction or to be initiated here shortly, entailing large expenditure of money and providing work for many men. Federal aid projects are provided with unskilled and semi-skilled labor through the Louisiana state employment service, while federal public works projects are supplied with help entirely from this source, stated R. E. Young, district manager.

From the files of the employment service, Mr. Young listed the federal aid and state projects in the Monroe district and the progress made, Saturday.

They comprise the 2.835 miles of cement concrete pavement beginning on Louisville avenue, Monroe, at the end of the new Ouachita river bridge and extending northeast to the intersection of DeSiard road at Island road. The contractors are Sullivan, Long and Hagerty of Bessemer, Ala. In this project all the pavement from the bridge to the Missouri Pacific branch has been completed. The north lane from DeSiard road has been completed except 1,000 feet. The south lane from the Missouri Pacific branch to DeSiard road will be completed as soon as weather permits.

On the public works and state projects known as the "overpass" and approaches of the Missouri Pacific railroad at Sicard, the work has been completed with the exception of a small amount of sodding and touching up. The contracting firm is Robinson and Young, of Baton Rouge.

United States public works and state project comprising .296 miles of cement paving on Front street in Winnsboro has been started the past several weeks, with the culverts and preliminary work having been completed by T. L. James and company of Ruston, contractors.

The United States public works and state project requiring two miles of cement paving near the south corporate limits of Rayville is being constructed and one mile approximately has been laid by Wimberly Construction company, and Cochran, Inc., of Pradia.

The federal aid and state project calling for 6.222 miles of cement paving between Monroe and Alto in Richland parish was initiated last week. The firm in charge is Nelson brothers, of Baton Rouge.

The federal aid and state project in which 6.578 miles of cement paving from Bonita to the Louisiana-Arkansas state line in Morehouse parish is under way. The contracting firm is the Central Construction Company, Inc., of Monroe.

The federal aid and state project calling for 5.103 miles of surface treatment between Oak Grove and Mer Rouge in West Carroll parish has been completed with the exception of the asphalt surfacing material. Barber Brother Contracting Company, Inc., of Baton Rouge is the contracting firm.

The federal aid and state project comprising 1.98 miles of surfacing between Oak Grove and Lake Providence in East Carroll parish is completed with the exception of asphalt surfacing materials. The contract is held by Barber Brothers Contracting Company, Inc., of Bator Rouge.

Federal aid and state project for the paving of 7.686 miles of cement road between Foules and Clayton in Catahoula parish will be started as soon as weather permits by the Central Construction Company, Inc., of Monroe.

The federal aid and state project for 4.363 miles of cement pavement from Sicily Island to Foules in Catahoula parish will be started shortly, the contract having been awarded to the A. C. Campbell Construction company, of Shreveport.

The United States public works and state project calling for the grading and gravel surfacing of .066 miles between Lake Providence and the Arkansas state line is awaiting the awarding of a contract. The low bidder was F. J. D'Autremont, of Jacksonville, Texas.

FORMER NEWELLTON MAN GIVEN PUBLICITY WORK

FERRIDAY, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Howard Netterville, formerly of Newellton who is now making his home in Memphis, Tenn., has been appointed to the position of radio publicity chairman for the Memphis cotton festival, which will be held in May.

Netterville, a young attorney, is the son of Wade A. Netterville of Panola plantation. He left Memphis recently for New York, to make arrangements for radio time in connection with the festival.

THIRSTY CLOUDS TAKE A BIG DRINK

One of the most fearsome sights in nature, a waterspout—the amazing phenomenon of the clouds sucking tons of water from lake or ocean—is very rarely photographed. This unusual picture was made off the eastern end of Puerto Rico when the sea-going tornado's waterspout, connecting sea and cloud roared close to the speeding ship.

Pork, Flour And Sugar Are Leading Prices Downward

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Pork, flour and sugar are leading retail prices downhill to the consumer.

A study of price changes that have come about since AAA had its wings clipped by the supreme court disclosed today that these three had dropped almost, if not entirely, the full amount of the processing taxes.

Flour was seven cents cheaper on twelve pound bags this week than the week before the AAA decision. Sugar was five cents cheaper for ten pounds.

All of the various kinds of slices that butchers whittle out of hogs were being sold at from three to six cents a pound cheaper than the week before the AAA decision.

These prices, gathered from various retail and governmental sources, would show variations from section to section, however. It will be several weeks before any official study of the price changes due to AAA has been completed for the entire country.

Officials said that there had not yet been time for the retail prices to readjust themselves since the removal of the processing tax.

Another factor adding to the confusion of sugar prices was that in some quarters there had been uncertainty whether the processing tax had been removed from that commodity in view of the retention of the quotas worked out for sugar producing areas. The tax has been removed, however.

In the case of sugar, probably by accident because of the variety of factors that enter into price changes, the decline in the past three weeks represented exactly the amount of the processing tax of half cent a pound.

The change in pork prices was roughly estimated to be the full amount of the processing tax, or a little more. The processing tax on hogs was $2.25 a hundred. But the tax was levied on weight on the live hog. Experts figured that there was about 25 per cent of the weight of a hog that disappeared in the process of converting a live animal into refrigerated meat. This would work out to about three cents a pound on the finished carcass.

Officials said that the tax, however, was distributed unequally over the animal, some cuts bearing more of the tax than others.

Hams, which showed the smallest decline of any part of the hog on the retail market, dropped the full three cents in the three weeks—from 33 cents a pound to 30 cents a pound. Bacon dropped six cents, from 45 to 39 cents a pound; end pork chops, four cents, from 27 to 23; center cut pork chops four cents, from 33 to 29.

Curiously enough, while pork prices were coming down, hog prices were going up. Some experts figured that it was a kind of levelling off process by which farmers were getting some benefit from removal of the tax and consumers were getting some.

These experts said that apparently farmers had held back hogs during the week or so before the AAA decision and then pushed them rapidly to the market immediately afterward, expecting a price rise with the removal of the tax.

ART TEACHERS TO MEET JOINTLY AT NASHVILLE

RUSTON, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Teachers in three divisions of the arts will meet in a joint convention at Nashville, Tenn., on April 1-4, it has been announced here by Miss Elizabeth Bethea, head of the Louisiana Tech art department, who is state publicity chairman for the coming meeting.

The three branches of the arts to be represented at the convention will be fine arts, industrial arts, and vocational and household arts.

SCHOOL APPROVED FOR JENA BY WPA

Frame, Nine-Room Structure To Be Built At Cost Of $30,423.77

JENA, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Information has been received here that the works progress administration has approved a project for erecting a new high school building in Jena.

The building is to be of frame construction and will contain nine classrooms, four rooms for the home economics department and a large study hall and library combined. The building will also house an office for the principal and a complete auditorium and a gymnasium.

J. D. Russell, Jr., superintendent of the LaSalle parish schools, said the total cost of the project will be $30,423.77. The school board will be required to pay $6,700 of this cost and the federal government will donate $23,733.77. Labor from the WPA rolls will approximate $13,146.84, the balance of the money going for material for the structure.

To The Voters Of The City of Monroe

I take this means of expressing my sincere appreciation for the tremendous expression of confidence on your part in last Tuesday's primary and wish to advise you that to the best of my knowledge at the present time there will be a second primary on March third.

As you may have noticed there was a total of 7,104 votes cast for the office for which I am a candidate. I received 3,500 of these votes and my opponent, the present Commissioner, received 2,846 votes (or 40%). In other words, there were 3,500 votes (49.3% of the total) cast in my favor and there were 4,258 (or 60.7%) cast against the present commissioner who is running on his record, having been in this office for the past eleven years. I naturally expect to win in the second primary by a much larger vote than I received in the first primary. In campaigning before the first primary it was physically impossible to contact all of the voters and present to them the constructive program which I advocate:

Good deep-well water, needing no chemical treatment, at less cost to the city than the present Bayou DeSiard water, which requires expensive treatment; a more economical management of our utilities and therefore a reduction in electric rates; employment of white labor; and the placing of buses on Lee Avenue and Jackson Street in place of street cars, thereby increasing the revenue and rendering better service.

Some of you may have heard of the frantic efforts made by some of my opponent's friends and supporters for the last three or four days to so arrange a political deal whereby the wishes of you, the voters, will be denied. You will hear all sorts of rumors, the sole purpose of which is to mislead you, and I ask that you disregard any such rumors with reference to political alignments, deals, or even those rumors designed to shake your confidence in me. The race is still the same, the present Commissioner and I. I shall endeavor to see every voter that I have not heretofore seen in an effort to present those issues which are to your interest.

Again I thank you for your confidence expressed in last Tuesday's primary and trust that your confidence will be continued.

Social Events Of Varied Nature Feature Week In Monroe

Number Of Informal Entertainments Occur

Intimate Groups Gathered Around Firesides; Visitors Are Feted; Anniversaries Are Observed

The winter season wanes and society seeks, more than ever before, the intimate, charmed circles of their own little cliques. This season has been almost devoid of large expansive entertainments that marked the years that have gone by. We were reminded of this fact when Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn planned a series of small informal supper parties in their handsome new home. In place of a rousing house warming with the spacious home thronged with guests as was the custom not so long ago, they prefer to welcome friends around the blazing fire in the cozy solarium, where comfortable lounges and deep-cushioned chairs invite guests to linger in the restful atmosphere.

The first supper party of the series took place last week and proved to be the gay, charming affair they had planned. Guests upon arrival were invited to the dining room, where the elegantly-appointed table, overlaid with handsome linen and lace, flaunted a low plaque of rose-colored sweet peas, rose-colored snapdragons and red radiance roses. Myriad tapers in antique silver candelabra gleamed along the table where luscious hors' d'oeuvres, salads, cold meats, pastries and other confections were arranged o silver salvers. The leaping log fire conducive to conversation, attracted the guests to the tables that formed a semi-circle around the wide hearth

Honored With Supper

Mr. and Mrs. James Cox, whose recent marriage gave society a jolt, arrived in the city last week to receive parental blessings and to fill the numerous engagements planned by friends.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Crawford Young's buffet supper at their suburban home Friday night was one of the reasons for their remaining in the city. With only a few intimates present to share the courtesies extended by Mr. and Mrs. Young, the evening was one of exceptional pleasure. Supper was served in the dining room from a flower-adorned, candlelit table laden with delectable food arranged in a most tempting manner. The floral plaque that centered the table was a poem of early springtime. Pastel-colored stock, rainbow colored pansies and fragrant statice nestled in a mound of woodland fern.

A feature of the evening was the cutting of a handsome wedding cake by the bride. She was a beautiful figure in coral-colored evening model with sequin jacket. Toasts were drunk to the bride and bride-groom with the serving of wine.

Bingo was introduced later for diversion. Handsome Dresden cigarette trays and a Dresden figurine were presented to Harry St. John Jr., and Miss Bonita Allen for high scores. The guests of honor were presented with handsome silver in the Park avenue pattern.

The guests in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Cox were: Miss Lib Williams and Mr. Pete Godwin, Miss Sara Cole Morrison and Mr. J. W. Perry, Miss Ruth Easterling and Mr. Glenn Walker, Miss Johnnie Cox and Mr. Ray Green, Miss Mary Bonita Allen and Mr. Harry St. John, Jr., Mr. Art Surguine and Mr. Henry Florsheim.

As a result of the interesting games, Miss Ruth Easterling and Miss Johnny Cox received lovely gifts for high scores. The table favors were claimed by Mrs. Prentice Clark, Miss Elizabeth Cosper and Mrs. Charles Garretson.

Anniversary Observed

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Smith's silver wedding anniversary prompted intimate friends to surprise them in their home last Wednesday evening and to bestow upon them their felicitations and well wishes.

The evening was one of rare pleasure, with Mr. and Mrs. Smith, the guests of honor, receiving the homage due them.

Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room, where a luscious wedding cake, a gift, was cut by the happy celebrants. It was a three-tiered confection, beautifully embossed and surmounted with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

This event was rendered unusually interesting by the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Smith of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Annie Smith, to Mr. Woodrow Hawthorne, the wedding to take place in the early spring.

The beautiful gifts of silver bestowed upon Mr. and Mrs. Smith were opened during the evening, and later dancing was introduced, with music supplied by the Humble orchestra.

Visitor Introduced

Mrs. Robert Winsor of Providence, R. I., the charming house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greene, was introduced by Mrs. Greene to a few congenials during the coffee hour last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Winsor, a lovely figure in orchid crepe model, was quite delighted with Mrs. Greene's friends, all of whom have been showering her with attention ever since her arrival early in the week.

An immense silver bowl overflowing with crimson roses created a vivid splash of color on the dining room table, overlaid with handsome point Venice lace. Luscious grilled bacon sandwiches, tiny hot biscuits and assorted confections were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. S. Stevens, Mrs. Robert Kellogg and Mrs. O. R. Lewis. Mrs. Richard Kellogg presided with characteristic grace over the silver coffee service.

Visitor Is Feted

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kellogg's beautiful home in Fairview, recently redecorated and furnished, provides a most delightful setting for the charming affairs they arrange from time to time for their friends.

Of exceeding charm was their buffet supper Thursday night complimentary to Mrs. Robert Winsor of Providence, R. I.

The artistic touch of the hostess was responsible for the arrangement of beautiful spring flowers overflowing from urns and jars and placed at vantage points throughout the reception suite and library.

A mound of blossoms, in the form of an old-fashioned nose-gay, centered the lace-draped table in the dining room. A delectable array of viands, with barbecued chicken the piece de resistance, was found along the candlelit board.

Present to meet Mrs. Winsor and to enjoy the charming hospitality extended by Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg were Mr. and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Oakley, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greene and Mrs. Robert Kellogg.

Attention Called

So desirous is Mrs. Louis Hullum, president of Louisiana Federation of Music clubs, of bringing good music into the home, she calls attention to the program to be rendered tonight by Lauritz Melchior, brilliant tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, and generally agreed to be the foremost "heroic" and Wagnerian tenor in the world today.

Mr. Melchior will appear with the 70-piece General Motors orchestra conducted by Erno Rapee. The nationwide NBC-WEAF network will broadcast the concert at 10 p.m., eastern standard time.

The program to be played and sung will include selections from among a wide variety of the world's masterpieces of music. Excerpts from the works of Bach, Wagner, Debussy, Infante, Rimsky-Korsakoff, Schubert, Hageman, Hildach and Verdi will be presented.

The famous Bach "Arioso" will open the orchestra's program. Then Melchior will sing two numbers from his Wagner repertory, the well-known "Walters' Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger" and "Siegmund's Love Song" from "Die Walkure." The orchestra, to close the first half-hour of the concert, will play two numbers, Debussy's "The Submerged Cathedral" and "Ritmo" by Infante.

Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Introduction and Wedding Procession" from his "Coq d'Or" will be the first selection to be offered by the orchestra in the second half-hour. Mr. Melchoir will follow with a group of three songs, Schubert's "Serenade," Hageman's "Do Not Go, My Love" and Hildach's "Spring."

To conclude the hour, the orchestra will contribute the overture to "The Sicilian Vespers" by Verdi.

Lauritz Melchoir, best known as the foremost interpreter of the many heroic tenor roles which Wagner wrote and consequently always thought of as "the great German tenor," is not a German at all. He is a Dane.

Despite the fact that he is without a superior as a Wagnerian, Melchior holds the totally unexpected—and to some people treasonable—viewpoint that the Wagner operas are too long and should be cut!

He believes that four-hour operas are too much except for limited groups of enthusiasts. For those vaster numbers who are hearing Wagner for the first time, or who know these operas only a little, he believes the strain of listening so long destroys their appeal.

Cherokee Terrace Now Indian Village

Idea Conceived By Edward Apperson, Manager Of Frances; Dancing Rendezvous Crowded Opening Night

Indians on the warpath, Indians with bows and arrows stalking the forest, Indians worshiping the sun and bending over camp fires, Indians gliding over moon-lit waters in their birch bark canoes, Indians with their plumes and tomahawks have come to make their home on the Cherokee terrace of the Frances hotel.

Mr. Edward Apperson, manager of the Frances hotel, conceived the idea of converting the terrace into an Indian village to conform with the name of Cherokee, by which this popular rendezvous has been known since the opening night several years ago. For weeks he has been delving deep into Indian lore and when his plans were completed he called upon artists and laborers to carry out his ideas in the form of silhouettes, totem poles and wigwams. The result is most fantastic and sufficiently realistic to make the Cherokee terrace one of the most colorful and attractive night clubs in this state.

Entrance to the terrace is gained through a wigwam; behind it is a forest of pine trees. The indirect lighting gives the effect of dusk, with the walls completely encircled with Indian warriors in characteristic poses The orchestral balcony is now an Indian village with the chief of the Cherokees standing out in bold relief in the background. Totem poles emblazoned with Cherokee symbols stand guard over the village, where tepees enclose each instrument stand. The village is encircled with moonlit waters over which glide stalwart Indian braves in birch canoes, dipping their paddles into the silvery waters

The Indian theme is cleverly portrayed in the cocktail room adjoining the ball room. Guests seated at the tables under the canopy of pines face the cocktail bar, where in the background the silvery moon rises from the water. Soft-eyed deer drink at the water's edge.

Through the ingenuity of Mr. Apperson, the Cherokee terrace is now as fantastic as the tribal dances and as refreshing as the night wind sweeping through the forest where the redskins loved to roam. All the colors used in the symbols have a deep significance. Red is for blood, brown for the woods, blue for the sky, green for creation and yellow for gold. All these colors have been expertly caught up by the painter's brush and spread with lavish hand over the terrace. Guests are immediately impressed with the glamour of the scene.

The opening night was a gala event. Tables were reserved a week in advance and the couples who danced in the ball room where colored lights cast fantastic shadows were most enthusiastic in their praise. The beating of tom-toms and weird Indian music mingled with the dance music of today in a most delightful manner. The music each week will be supplied by a renowned orchestra, with the opening night featuring Bus Widmer and his company of New Yorkers.

About Year Book

Mrs. Addison Thompson of Ruston, chairman of the press and publicity committee of Louisiana Federated Women's clubs, desires to impress on the minds of all club women that the year book committee is one of the most important in the federation. Upon this committee, according to Mrs. Thompson, usually devolves the responsibility for planning the club's program of study for the year and perhaps a great deal of the activity. It has been well said, "Tell me what you study and I'll tell you what kind of a club you are."

The first decision to be made is whether the programs shall be entertaining or instructive or a combination of both. Things which influence the kind of program are local conditions, the presence of other organizations with definite study objectives, the personnel of the club and the purpose of the club. Mrs. Thompson makes the following suggestions:

"It is unwise to attempt to cover too wide a field. Many divisions of library extension of our universities will not register clubs for loans unless they approve the club program and the main requisite is that the course shall be limited to one general subject sufficiently definite in scope to permit its systematic study during the time devoted to it. Registered courses in history and travel are limited to one country or to one type of study, as drama, fiction, architecture or painting.

"Every program should have an aim —to give to women a world horizon, to bring home to women their responsibilities as citizens, to give opportunities for service, to enrich the lives of the club members.

"A program committee should keep in mind not only the audience but the community which the club serves. All club programs should give mental stimulation, inspiration and an opportunity for expression to the members. Programs and projects should go hand in hand. No club is successful without some project to keep its members busy and interested.

"The up-to-date program should promote discussion. The club should be a forum. The test of a good program should no longer be 'how much did we learn from it,' but 'how much did it make us think.' Forums, panels, and informal discussions are suggested.

"The main purpose of the year book is to give at a glance the subject matter, dates, hostesses for each meeting and the manner in which members will be expected to answer roll call. Books should not be rushed in their production. Cheap paper, poor work, old fashioned ornaments, careless margins, and weird use of club colors should be avoided. Gothic and old English types are not suitable headings for women's club year books. The usual form is a pamphlet about 4x5 inches—a convenient size for mailing or carrying in the purse. Covers should be of good stiff paper.

"At the beginning of the year book, the club collect and club song may be placed. Following this the regular order of business, lists of club officers, various standing committees, personnel, the constitution and by-laws.

"The title page may contain the name of the club, the year date of organization, club motto, colors, and flower. And someone has said, 'Do not forget to put a bit of inspiration into the year book; beautiful thoughts and inspirational comment stimulate the carrying out of the practical suggestions.' The page headed by a bit of verse or brief prose quotation appropriate to the subject or the season has its value."

SPRING FASHION NOTES tell of a new season to be colorful---casual--vivacious--feminine
Spring Shoes
Shoe fashions are doing things this Spring with a smart fabric known as gabardine used sometimes alone and at other times with leathers . . . Bucko, a reverse calf that looks like suede in luggage tan a new brown, blue and grey strikes a smart note in smartness. Patent leathers in both pumps and with wide straps are new and Cuban heels combined with box toes are favored by the young set. Luggage tan is also shown in gabardine and blue will be important in fabrics and leathers.
Spring Bags
First and most important . . . your bag must match your shoes in both color and leather or fabric as the case may be which means that patent leathers, buckos and gabardine fashion bags whose individual treatment and fitting make them high styles.
Gloves
Kid, doeskin and pigskin interpret the glove mode and because pig is so serviceable, its now trimmed and shown in dressy type gloves. Navy, grey and beiges are the important shades for Spring. Fabric also will be popular and navy, grey shades and white.
Hosiery Colors
With bright colors featured in gloves, bags and shoes, hosiery colors keep pace and they must as skirt lengths for daytime and sports are shorter. To go with bright colors and because more of them will be seen hose feature new coppery shades to contrast vividly yet effectively with the new costumes.
Fabrics for Spring, 1936
There never was a time in our memory that fabrics have had so much fashion interest as they have this Spring. Weaves, surface interest and patterns offer the fashion-minded women of 1936 a chance to express more individuality in her coat, suit or dress than ever before. Pick your fabric to suit your personality is the fabric fashion slogan and with the wide variety in silks, woolen and rayon in color, weave and pattern your personality can be expressed in the new Spring fabrics.
Silk and Rayons
Silk and rayons have smoothed their faces for the coming Spring and while weave and surface effect still continue to lend interest to the mode they do it in more subtle and flattering effects. In silks, crepes and sheers shown a large selection in solid colors and printed patterns are for the most part in all-over effects. Rayons follow silks and Palace rayons are Crown tested, guaranteed not to pull at the seams and are fast color.
Woolens
Mannish type fabrics for mannish suits show pattern and weave interest, while the more feminine types, weave and yarn interest is paramount with roughness of surface as a keynote to smartness. Plaids and checks, popular last season, renew their vitality and are brighter and smarter than ever for Spring. Solid colors with blue, greys, brown, tan and navy as leading shades will be shown in contrast to bold patterns.
The silhouette for Spring, 1936
Miss Spring 1936 accents her shoulder width slightly and high necklines prevail while armhole depths give freedom of action and permit sleeves to be tailored or elaborate. In suits, coats or dresses the upper silhouette will receive the emphasis. Body lines are fitted and the waistline is natural. The hipline is the point of departure in peplums and jackets in dresses and in short jackets for suits. Skirts are straight and slim with full and flared types as variants. Design interest in skirts is shown in pleats, folds and drapes.
Skirt lengths are important
The sports skirt continues to be the shortest of skirt lengths varying from 12 to 14 inches from the floor . . . street length are next varying from 10 to 12 inches . . . afternoon skirt lengths are from 8 to 10 inches and formal attire may be ankle, instep or floor length.
It will be a suit Spring
SUITS are identified everywhere as THE costume for Spring. Emphasis is on tailoring and the mannish type suits steps forward to play an important role in women's fashions and although masculine in character it concedes to the feminine in detail and is given feminine charm with the accessories that complement it. Mannish type fabrics fashion these smart suits that show both pattern and weave interest. Greys from an oxfords to the palest dove lead in colors, navy and brighter shades of blue, brown and few tans are shown.
The suits with trotteur or 3-4 length coats are the variant of this mannish fashion and are shown in both swagger and fitted lines. More feminine types of fabrics with surface interest such as ribs, corded effects and diagonals are prominent, also self patterns of box checks, plaids and self stripes are popular.
Dress Trend for Spring, 1936
Verging away from smart uniformity to smarter individuality, dress fashions of personal distinction bring a great variety of dress styles and types than any season has seen for some time. Youthful vitality and line are in keeping with the tempo of the season. Brisk, trim and soft tailored interpretations are feminine even though we have more fashions inspired by masculine clothes.
For Daytime and Sports
Both the one- and two-piece effect dress as well as costume types play an important part in daytime and sports fashions. Two-piece effects have contrasting skirts and tops, tailored types and dresses simulating suits are smart. One-piece styles depend on individual treatment and trimming accents.
For Afternoon
Afternoon frocks cite primarily soft one-piece types, soft two-piece effects, and jacket and suit types will be very smart as well as costume types.
For Evening
. . . two silhouettes start the formal season . . . the slim tailored silhouette and the full skirted silhouette . . . fashion interest are to the sleeves, shoulders and necklines.
Knits For Spring, 1936
Knits have a definite place in every well planned wardrobe and because they're popular for both sports and daytime wear they must be serviceable as well as smart. Miriam Gross and Marinette, two of America's leading designers show new cotton knits exclusively at the Palace in Monroe, have everything you could ask of them.

Georgia Tucker P.-T. A.

Miss Mary Mims, widely known and honored state sociologist, was the principal speaker Thursday night at the meeting of Georgia Tucker school Parent-Teacher association, a unit of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. It was "Dad's night" and a large crowd of fathers, mothers and teachers were present.

Mr. Fred Williamson, editor of the Morning World and News Star, introduced Miss Mims. He spoke of her work for the people of rural communities, teaching them to do for themselves those things which bring a fuller, richer life and a higher standard of citizenship. Many deserved honors have been bestowed on Miss Mims for her unselfish service to the people of Louisiana.

Miss Mims' subject was "Parents and Their Community." After paying a tribute to the community of Monroe and the Georgia Tucker Parent-Teacher association, the speaker said in part:

"The child's best friend is the teacher. Parents, don't criticize the teacher to your child, lest you destroy that child's confidence and belief. Teachers, unless you love to teach, resign your position, for love means more than text books in teaching. Parents and teachers together make the greatest partnership in the world, a partnership for life now and life eternal. Parents and teachers, carry on in your rich partnership of love and inspiration; the greatest poverty is that of stagnation of the spirit.

"'Community' is a popular word now in all phases. Parish, state, United States and wide world are thought of in community terms. The home and community are the center of our lives, and the nation is the product of our homes and communities. Every community has personality, composed of the actions of the individuals of that community. This personality is building for a better community, three 'R's' may be considered, as follows:

"The first 'R' is relationship. The human relationship, as of parent to school, teacher to community, community to business. The relationship of community to the fine arts; making music a part of the children's lives; encouraging local musicians, writers and artists, making their work known to the children. Relationship between the privileged and underprivileged, the opportunity to help the man and woman below par up to normal. Relationship to government; know the laws of your community and state. Relationship toward character; we give a blue ribbon at fairs for the best pigs and cattle, but no award of merit for the boy or girl making the best contribution toward good citizenship. Parent-Teacher associations, make this one of your aims, to recognize character and reward it. Right relationship toward youth will help to eliminate crime.

"The second 'R' is refinement, innate spiritual refinement, a logical outcome of the first 'R,' proper relationship. This innate refinement enables communities to seek the best, to strive for the highest, to appreciate the possibilities of the third 'R', which is religion. Deep-souled religion, based on a fine, moral spiritual life, which teaches us we cannot live fully and lastingly without God. We live and have our being in this great universe, which is His, and religion keeps us in tune with the infinite. With one hand in the hand of God and the other in the hand of our fellow man, we realize that life is a mission and not a career; that living is giving, and the greatest gifts are service and love.

"In the four hundred and fifty-six organized communities in Louisiana, these three 'R's' are helping people to know the best things that will build happiness and citizenship, and happiness is as essential as good citizenship in making a community.'

The short business session was presided over by Mrs. Alymer Montgomery, first vice-president, in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. G. Durrett. Mrs. Montgomery gave the monthly message of Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, national president, urging members to meet the great human need we are now facing. Mrs. Albert Smith, president of Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, sent a message to take inventory of work, and see if it is up to standard. Minutes were read by secretary, Mrs. Paul Newman, and the treasurer's report given by Mrs. W. M. Greenwell. Standing committees gave reports showing activity in all lines and plans completed for the remainder of the year. Mr. S. Rubin and Mrs. C. D. Oakley gave donations to the social service fund in January. Miss Rodgers, principal of the school, told of expenditure of funds raised by operetta and play produced by teachers and children. Many books have been bought, as have a radio, a picture projector and films and needed classroom materials. Two teachers were assisted to attend national geography convention in St. Louis.

In a social half-hour before the meeting, refreshments were served in the cafeteria by the hospitality committee, assisted by the teachers. Mrs. Charles Gaushell played a group of selections on the piano during this period.

Sherrouse P.-T. A.

A program on "History, an Aid to Modern Living," was presented at the January meeting of the Sherrouse school Parent-Teacher association of the Louisiana branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Due to the illness of Mrs. Linquist, program chairman, Mrs. Vincent directed the program. Mrs. C. C. Colvert will plan the February program, a special one in memory of the founder of the P.-T. A. movement.

The national president's message, urging every one to "turn words into deeds" during 1936, was read at the opening of the meeting. Then was read the new year greetings of the state president. Her suggestion of an "inventory" was given as an incentive to put forth every effort to reach the goals outlined by the organization.

In response to the appeal of the Twin Cities P.-T. A. council for assistance in defraying the expenses of the fifth district director, the association took up a free will offering.

The Mother Singers of the association were requested to start learning the songs recently sent out by the national organization.

It was announced that the correspondence course would begin in the near future, with Mrs. W. S. Vincent serving as instructor.

The attendance at the meeting was good. The students of the sixth grade had the most mothers present. A number of visitors were at the gathering.

'Magnificent Obsession,' Best Seller, Now At Paramount

Dunne And Taylor In New Film

Love's Battle Against Threats Of Tragedy Is Picture Theme

TRAGEDY stalks the lives of two lovers in "Magnificent Obsession," Universal's absorbingly dramatic John M. Stahl production now to be seen on the screen of the Paramount theater. In the story Irene Dunne has acquired a bitter hatred of Robert Taylor and it is only after long maneuvering that he is able to induce her to enter his automobile.

While the car is parked Taylor, affected by the beautiful moonlight night, attempts to put his arm about the shoulders of the girl he admires so much.

Leaping out, Miss Dunne steps directly in the path of an oncoming car, suffering in the ensuing crash a brain injury which brings on apparently incurable blindness. The story in its subsequent development progresses to situations of the utmost pathos. The locale of the drama is in both the United States and Paris.

Miss Dunne and Taylor are seen in the starring roles of "Magnificent Obsession," with a large cast that includes such popular screen players as Charles Butterworth, Betty Furness, Sara Haden, Henry Armetta, Ralph Morgan, Cora Sue Collins, Arthur Treacher, Beryl Mercer and Gilbert Emery. The story was adapted from Lloyd C. Douglas' best-selling novel by George O'Neil, Sarah Y. Mason and Victor Heerman.

One hundred and seventy-seven miles of motion picture film, enough to reach from New York to Saratoga—that is a "Magnificent Obsession." Or, rather, it was until director John M. Stahl began to cut it down to the 8,500 feet which will appear on the Paramount screen.

Meticulousiy working out every scene, taking and retaking until he felt that he had the dramatic values he wanted, Stahl ran up 467,000 feet of negative at the end. The sound track film, made separately and joined to the pictorial scenes on the positive, required a similar length of celluloid. The total, almost a million feet, was a staggering length for John Stahl to edit. Most of the scenes were shot 15 times, and many reached 25 takes. Camera work and editing required 26 weeks.

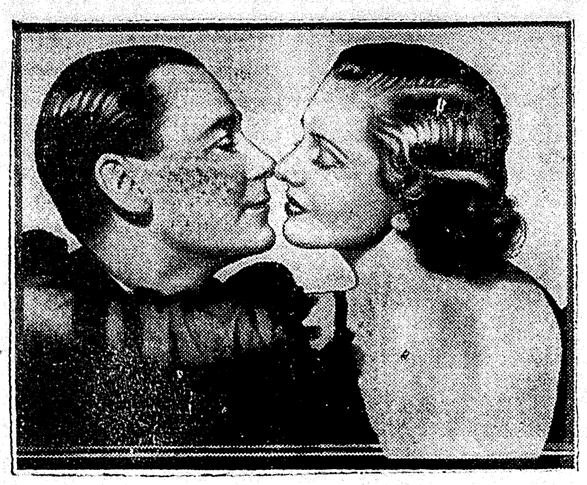
For those with a penchant for figures, these facts will be significant. "Magnificent Obsession" has a cast of 70, headed by Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor. Sixty experts of all sorts were employed during the production of the picture. Eleven different types of movie cameras were used by John Mescall and his six assistants.

A hospital and a church were built, the latter being made from blocks of wood which were charred and chipped to resemble old stone. A section of Montmartre was constructed, with shops, sidewalk cafes, public parks, cobbled streets and dwellings. A giant section of the Normandie, accurately rendered from blueprints, was one of the 41 sets which went to make "Magnificent Obsession" a convincingly mounted production done on a grand scale.

The feminine viewpoint was remembered in the fashions created for the ladies of the cast. Irene Dunne wore 38 different original styles of gowns for the filming of "Magnificent Obsession." Betty Furness wore 18, while Sara Haden had 12 dresses.

THEATER AT ST. JOSEPH IS GIVEN ALTERATIONS

FERRIDAY, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Major alterations and additions to the Blackman theater in St. Joseph have been made and the work has changed the appearance of the theater considerably and added comfort of patrons. G. Bruno, manager of the theater, has installed new sound equipment and made other improvements.



Herbert Marshall and Jean Arthur, the new romantic team who appear at the Paramount theater Wednesday and Thursday in the gay comedy drama "If You Could Only Cook." Leo Carrillo heads the notable supporting cast. As a special added unit the big stage show "Comedy Stars of Hollywood," featuring Brown and Lavelle, the radio stars of the Alka-Seltzer hour, also the Clifford Wayne Indians, Jack Tracy and his Boulevardiers and five other big acts has been booked.

Beautiful Irene Dunne, who with Robert Taylor are co-starred in the year's great romance "Magnificent Obsession," the Lloyd C. Douglas best seller read by millions. It is the attraction at the Paramount theater for today and Monday, with Charles Butterworth, Betty Furness, Ralph Morgan, Henry Armetta and Sara Haden heading the big supporting cast. The picture has already proven one of the year's biggest screen hits.

E. Phillips Oppenheim's best of ...ll romantic mysteries, "The Great ...mpersonation," plays at the Capi...ol theater today and Monday. ...dmund Lowe has a dual role in his exciting story of international ...ntrigue and love, and opposite ...im is the beautiful Valerie Hob...on.

After battling and scrapping their way through the year's most hilarious comedy, "The Bride Comes Home," the attraction at the Paramount theater for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Claudette Colbert sits down with Fred MacMurray and Robert Young and discovers that she likes them both pretty well! And how do they feel about her? Well, how does it look?

Preston Foster is the star of "The Last Days of Pompeii," coming to the Capitol theater this Thursday and Friday. It has been rated by preview critics as one of the motion picture art's greatest undertakings and brings to the lovers of dynamic human drama a record of the exciting gilded days of desolute and pagan Rome which were startingly coincident with and in clash with the inspiring dawn of the Christian Era. "The Last Days of Pompeii" merits a distinguished place in motion picture history for its vivid and impressive creations, because of its daring, because of its incomparable moral it drives home and because of its thundering and cataclysmic crisis.

Sally Eilers, Chester Morris and Scotty Beckett in the carefree romantic comedy, "Pursuit," the attraction at the Paramount theater for Tuesday, one day only. It deals with the adventure of a young couple smuggling a child, object of litigation, out of the state by auto. Motor camps, farms and other unusual stopping places figure in the action-packed drama.

Maureen O'Sullivan, Joel McCrea and Lewis Stone, are the principals in M-G-M's exciting new action romance, "Woman Wanted," playing at the Capitol theater this Wednesday. Miss O'Sullivan is given one of her best dramatic opportunities as a girl fleeing from an unjust prison sentence who catapults herself and her lover in a series of hair-raising situations which rise to a high-powered climax. Louis Calhern, Edgar Kennedy and Adrienne Ames also have important roles.

Lovely Sylvia Sydney is starred in the title role of Walter Wanger's Paramount film, "Mary Burns, Fugitive," playing at the Capitol theater Tuesday. Miss Sydney reaches the top of her form as a dramatic actress in this gripping, romantic drama of an innocent girl hunted by the law. "Mary Burns, Fugitive" serves also to introduce Allan Baxter, a new film find, who was recruited from the New York stage, and who plays with amazing understanding the difficult role of a college bred gangster. Melvyn Douglas, Pert Kelton and Wallace Ford are also prominently featured.

wrong place in a picture. An alert gag man could have prevented that.

He Haunts The Set

Memory and the "comedy mind" combine to inspire ideas for funny moments in pictures, although some of the gagsters have adopted a card index system for jokes. A particular situation is covered by any number of standard jokes—take an old joke, give it a new twist, and it's good for a laugh. Sometimes it is good without the new twist.

The serious writer leaves his approved script with the director and his job is done, but the gag man haunts the set constantly during filming. He seeks inspiration from sets and "props" and spontaneous happenings on the set. Bobby Vernon, who used to be a comedy star, helped W. C. Fields get a laugh in "Mississippi," for instance, when he suggested the cigar-and-steering-wheel routine. Fields would tilt his cigar so as to miss the spokes of the river boat wheel he was guiding. The inspiration came from Vernon's first sight of the big wheel.

Never Gets His Beer

A "running gag" is the dream of every gag man. This is a gag that, by repetition at intervals through the picture, gets funnier all the time. For instance: Willie Howard in "Rose of the Rancho" is shown in a frontier saloon trying to buy a glass of beer. Recurrently he repeats the effort, but never gets his drink. Something always happens to prevent.

Gag men, of course, are listed on the studio roster as writers, and many of them are good writers. Bobby Vernon and Glenn Tryon are among the few former actors in the gag man's business. Tryon recently became a director, and that is Vernon's aim also.

The most famous of "gag men," by and large, is Dorothy Parker.

Lowe Stars In Spy Film At Capitol

Oppenheim's 'The Great Impersonation' Is Thrilling Picture

A LION stalks, Edmund Lowe as he fights his way through the undergrowth of an African jungle in the opening scenes of "The Great Impersonation," Universal production which begins a two day run at the Capitol Theater today.

With so tense a beginning setting the pace, the screen-dramatization of E. Phillips Oppenheim's greatest novel never lets up for a moment. Soon Leopold Von Ragenstein (Edmund Lowe) is plotting the death of his double Everard Dominey—and then begins "The Great Impersonation" for the munitions trust utilizes the resemblance between the two men in a scheme for prolonging the war. Revelations concerning the machinations of international salesmen of war materials from a vital part of the plot.

The eerie touches which the public has learned to expect from an E. Phillips Oppenheim novel are present liberally. Much of the action is set in a mysterious English feudal castle. From the nearby fearful Black Bog comes the weird howl of a creature never seen but often heard. No one can guess the nature of the creature, and its howling is like nothing on earth. The explanation comes during the exciting closing minutes of the film.

Featured opposite Lowe are Valerie Hobson and Wera Engels. Miss Hobson plays the role of Lowe's wife, a sensitive woman verginig on madness. She will be long remembered for her roles in "Werewolf of London" and "The Bride of Frankenstein."

Wera Engels plays the seductive Princess Stephanie, the sophisticated woman to whom Lowe's great impersonation is revealed through his kisses.

Edmund Lowe carries out as daring an impersonation as has ever been attempted in fiction or life. The predicaments in which the fast-talking star finds himself would be nerve wracking but for the humor which makes this production unique among stories of terror.

In short, today is a day to be marked on your calendar, according to Manager McCoy.

Screen Life In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD.—The "gag man" is among the more nearly permanent institutions of an industry that is by nature ephemeral.

His name may change as the years go by, but his job never.

The job is to spot "laughs" in the movies, and it is a sad job because few things are more difficult than to inject the comedy note at just the proper place and time. That is why gag men are, as a lot, serious when they work. After hours, maybe, they will scintillate with wisecracks and merriment, but on the set they tackle the job with studious, often solemn mien.

Gag men work with the more serious (or dramatic) writers and watch for potential comedy. Sometimes it becomes their important duty to save an intendedly serious scene from the treacherous borderline of comedy. Often audiences will laugh at the

BOX CAR LOADED WITH COTTON BURNS AT HOMER

HOMER, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—Fire originating in a box car of 32 bales of cotton loaded at Haynesville and brought here for compression Friday afternoon and sidetracked near the compress broke out inside of the all steel car near midnight Friday.

Approximately 25 per cent of the cotton was damaged the estimated loss being about $500, partially insured. Officials stated the car had not been broken into and was still sealed with the railroad seal. Damage to the car included a hole in the floor. The smothered flames were confined to the inside of the car which was first seen escaping through the car. Firemen assisted in unloading and saving the remainder of the cotton.

LOVELY LEGS MEAN LOVELY EYES

"To have lovely eyes, one must have lovely legs," says Henry Waxman, New York color photographer. "If legs are beautiful, if torso is beautiful, if face is beautiful, then eyes are beautiful," he insists. Betty Lomax, Dallas, Texas, model, is waiting to have Waxman photograph her eyes—which the photographer considers "tops for brown eyes." (Associated Press Photo)

CHAPTER XX

Paula said to the housekeeper, "Fix me up something to drink. Something stiff. And bring another package of cigarets. After that I don't want to be disturbed—not by anyone."

Her directions were followed discreetly, and in silence.

"Why don't you say something?" Paula shrilled wildly, her taut nerves snapping. "Didn't you hear the news Scott's married!"

"Yes, I know," Charlotte told her. "I'm sorry."

"Sorry? What are you sorry about?"

"I'm afraid he's made a mistake," Charlotte said quietly. "He had no business getting married when he's just beginning his practice."

"Of course he hadn't." Paula gulped down the strong drink and made a wry face.

"He'll probably regret it," Charlotte said. No one knew Paula so well as her housekeeper, who had devoted herself to spoiling Paula, catering to her every whim, for years.

"All right, now. Go out and let me sleep."

When the door closed, Paula flung herself down. Deep, terrible sobs were smothered against a pillow.

She told herself that she hated Scott. She never wanted to see him again! The paroxysm over, she lay staring with glazed, pain-filled eyes at the beautiful, ornate room.

It might have been different, she thought, if she had allowed Scott to see what was in her heart instead of hiding her love. She had been so afraid of losing his companionship that she had accepted crumbs—the confidence and affection he gave her. But she had never let him look into that secret place of her heart, filled so long with nothing but him.

"I know every mood of his," Paula thought desolately. "It will take her years to know him as I do. And yet she walks off with him after a few months and marries him!"

Perhaps if they had not gone to the club that afternoon, he would not have met Dana. Or if Dana had not had some misunderstanding with Ronnie Moore this wouldn't have happened.

Maybe . . . maybe . . . there were those terrible pains in her head again. They always came when Paula was emotionally upset. More terrible than ever . . . blinding her with pain. Setting her crazy.

She got up and staggered to the dressing table. From her purse she took a small key, which she fitted into a jewelry case. From the jewelry case she lifted a small box. For a moment, she stared at the little white pill. She was remembering that quack doctor's words. He had been called in one night at a hotel where she was staying. He had given her one of these pills, withholding the name from her. It had brought relief from pain almost miraculously. For a price, he had finally revealed the name of it. But he had said: "I warn you to leave this alone. It means hellish consequences."

On the day Dana and Scott returned from their honeymoon, Paula had gone shopping, looking for a wedding present.

She considered silver and china. But she didn't know the patterns they preferred. She doubted that Dana and Scott had ever selected patterns. Marrying so suddenly, they couldn't have planned anything.

She decided on a beautiful and expensive lamp, the shade designed in an elaborate Oriental pattern. She had completed this part of her shopping expedition and was preparing to park her car before undertaking some other errands when a roadster pulled out from the curb.

Paula recognized the occupants. Ronnie Moore—and Dana!

After the first shock, Paula greeted them gayly. She felt excited. Here was Scott's bride, back from a 10-day honeymoon, and already meeting Ronnie downtown.

Deep in her heart a voice whispered, "Patience, Paula—just have patience!" She could almost hear the words, singing themselves aloud.

That night Dana said to Scott: "I went shopping and Ronnie brought me home."

"That was nice," Scott said.

He was standing by a window, looking out. Dana thought his face seemed sober, troubled. His voice had sounded grim, too.

"You don't mind, do you?" Her voice faltered a little.

Scott wheeled from the window. "Great heavens, no!" He laughed.

"But you look worried!"

"I am worried," Scott admitted. "It's Mrs. Wilkins. One of the prettiest, cleanest operations I ever performed. And now something's happened and the incision must be reopened. There's no accounting for things like that."

"Who is Mrs. Wilkins?"

"Mrs. Wilkins is a very important person to you and to me. My first surgical in this town. It would mean something to have trouble set in." He added. "Then, too, she's a nice old lady."

Dana felt an impulse to laugh. She had been so conscientious, nerving herself to tell Scott about that accidental meeting with Ronnie. And he hadn't even been interested. It was hard to decide which was worse—a jealous husband or a husband who wasn't even mildly jealous.

Packages began to arrive next day. Soon the small apartment was overflowing with boxes, as Scott's friends and friends of the Cameron family sent good wishes in the time-honored way—in the form of packages from jewelry stores and gift shops.

Dana found it an exciting pastime, opening the packages with Scott. Despite his teasing, she staunchly refused to untie a single ribbon alone.

"It wouldn't be any fun without you," she said.

They already had faced the perplexing problem of where to put these gifts in their limited quarters. "Gosh!" Scott exclaimed, "if this keeps up, we'll need a house. Maybe I made a mistake giving up the old place."

"We'll find places," said resourceful Dana. "And you didn't make a mistake. Think how nice it will be this winter without a furnace to bother with."

Never, never would she let Scott know of that first, deep disappointment she had felt when he had brought her to this home.

"This," said Dana, her arms lifted high to Scott who was standing on a chair, packing wedding gifts on a high shelf, "is the penalty for marrying such a good-looking and popular doctor."

Paula's present, which Dana called "Light from the East," was one of those that was not packed out of sight. It looked very grand, and oddly out of place, in the modest apartment.

Paula had dropped in the day before and then dashed home for a beautiful Oriental tapestry and two gorgeous vases. "I have no earthly use for them since they don't match the scheme of my place," she said. "So please use them, Dana."

Neither did Dana think they matched the scheme of her apartment, but to refuse was out of the question. She watched, with misgivings, as Paula tacked the elaborate tapestry above the couch. Dana didn't like it. She didn't like the Oriental vases, or the Oriental lamp either.

But what could she do about it when Paula was obviously trying to be friendly?

Nancy breezed in presently. "Where's the incense?" she had asked "And the teakwood and the carved ivory and all the rest? I must say, I wouldn't have suspected you of anything like this, Dana."

"Paula brought them. She seemed anxious for us to use them," Dana said doubtfully . "I'm afraid they make this living room look pretty awful."

"Smooth as silk," Nancy commented.

After a moment, Dana realized Nancy had not been talking about the living room.

The congregation of the First Baptist church of West Monroe has raised a total of $55,000 in the past five years, or during the time that has been called that of depression. The pastor, Rev. E. E. Huntsberry, stated that the membership of the church has also grown by leaps and bounds and now stands at 1,924 members. How Are Your Brakes

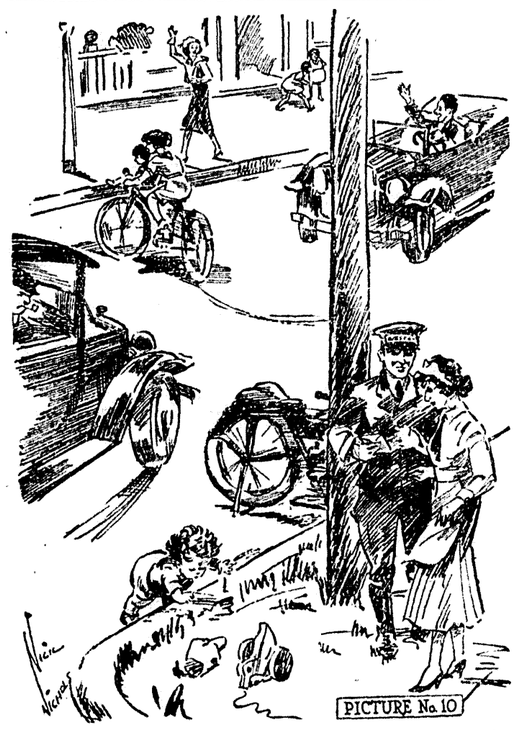
SAFETY PICTURE NO. 10
FIND THE MISTAKES AND ENTER CONTEST



With the help of your parents, teacher, or some other grownup, find four safety mistakes in this picture and list them on the blank lines.

Listed below, and indicated by numbers which I have written on the pictures, are four mistakes dangerous to human safety that I find illustrated in the above drawing:

NO. 1 .....

NO. 2 .....

NO. 3 .....

NO. 4 .....

(Clip out and save until last picture in the series is published)

Insurance and accident authorities list brakes as public enemy number one—because they are the direct cause of so many accidents. If you are driving your car only 30 miles per hour and wish to stop, you must travel another 33 feet before you even start stopping. It takes just that long for your mind to transfer your thought into action. It will take approximately 40 more feet to come to a complete stop, making a total of 73 feet—and this is with GOOD brakes. At 70 miles per hour the total increases to 295 feet.

Have your brakes checked often and help eliminate this public enemy number one!

RULES

1—Find the mistakes in each picture, as they are published in The Sunday News-Star—World.

2—After all of the pictures have appeared and you have found four mistakes in each one of them, write a "Safety Slogan" of not more than 12 words.

3—Send the 26 drawings with the mistakes listed and your "Safety Slogan" to the Safety Contest Editor of The News-Star—World.

'PASSION PLAY' TO BE GIVEN IN CITY

Will Be Presented Twice On February 3 At First Methodist Church

One of the most spectacular religious films, "The Passion Play," will be shown at the First Methodist church here on Monday, February 3. There will be two performances, one at 7:15 p.m. and the other at 9 p.m., on the same date. The play will be brought here under the sponsorship of the Senior Young People's department of the church.

Advance information emphasizes that as a religious story every reading nation throughout the entire world has accepted the great Oberammergau passion play as the most marvelous dramatic portrayal of the life of Christ.

It is termed the crowning achievement of the picture art industry being gorgeous, dazzling, amazing and thrilling.

This magnificent visualization of the world's greatest story of the birth and life of Christ is declared to be embodied in the filming of as nearly an exact reproduction as is possible of the original Oberammergau play in Bavaria. It is said that persons who have witnessed the original and who have later seen the film have declared that the latter is even more spectacular and in some ways an improvement on the original.

To prepare this film which is unmatchable as a screen production by the concession of many, the cost entailed ran up to nearly $3,000,000.

In the presentation of the play the church auditorium will be used as it is equipped with a large pipe organ which is required in several of the most impressive scenes.

Those who plan to attend and it is expected that many will come here from surrounding towns to witness the spectacle, are urged to obtain tickets in advance to assure good seats.

WINNSBORO V. F. W. WILL FURNISH QUAIL SUPPER

All Veterans of Foreign Wars throughout northeast Louisiana are invited to attend a quail supper tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at Winnsboro, it was announced here yesterday by C. A. Hunt, commander of Rodney J. Hobbs post here. The supper is being sponsored by the Hunter-Richardson post at Winnsboro.

Monroe veterans who plan to attend the supper are requested by Commander Hunt to be present at the local V. F. W. hall, at Harrison and Hall streets, at 6 p.m. tomorrow preparatory to leaving for Winnsboro

Commander Hunt is in Lafayette today attending a state-wide meeting of V. F. W. officials. The aim in calling the veterans to Lafayette was not fully known here, but Commander Hunt said he understood it was to be of an "instructional" nature.

THE PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY SMILE

Another happy birthday, with 54 candles on the cake. Monroe will take part in the nation-wide celebration January 30, with a Birthday ball at Cherokee terrace, under the sponsorship of the Junior Charity league.

Monroe To Celebrate The President's 54th Birthday

Mayor Bernstein Is General Chairman And Junior League Sponsor Of Second Annual Ball

Six thousand American towns and cities will join hands January 30 at birthday balls to celebrate the 54th anniversary of President Franklin D. Roosevelt with a fresh outpouring of funds for the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

Thus for the third time since Roosevelt took office, his anniversary will be made the occasion for a nation-wide drive against the ravages of infantile paralysis.

Monroe will do its part in the national birthday event. Mayor Arnold Bernstein, as general chairman of the President's Birthday Ball this year, has announced that the Monroe Junior Charity league will sponsor the function.

The beautiful, newly-decorated Cherokee terrace, atop Hotel Frances, will be the scene of the ball, which promises to be the most noteworthy social event ever held in the city.

Tickets for the ball are being sold by members of the Junior league, working under the direction of Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. N. G. Gaston and Mrs. Prioleau Ellis.

A special birthday cake for the occasion will be a feature of the ball. The cake will be awarded to one of the guests. A special entrance prize will also be given that night.

As the date draws near this year reports from every state and from territorial possessions indicate the celebration will surpass the two preceding ones.

Last year 5,000 birthday balls were held. This year from 5,600 to 6,000 are definitely planned. Bermuda will hold its first ball this year, under auspices of Lady Cubitt, wife of the governor general, Sir Thomas Astley Cubitt. There will be one also, for the first time, in the Virgin Islands; six in Alaska and three in Hawaii.

And down in the Florida everglades Charley Hartog, born in Holland and still a citizen of that country, will hold the country's smallest Roosevelt ball. He'll be host in his 6x18 automobile trailer.

Hartog will conduct his ball under the same rules that the rest of the country follows. These rules stipulate that 70 per cent of all proceeds are to be retained for local campaigns against the dread disease while the remaining 30 per cent will be sent to Warm Springs.

That plan was found satisfactory last year, as Warm Springs can accommodate only 100 patients and the 70 per cent of funds raised is needed more acutely in local communities.

The first nation-wide birthday ball in 1934 raised $1,003,000 and the 1935 celebration cleared $1,071,000.

Need Grows Greater

"Despite this added financial ammunition to combat the scourge of paralysis," declares Col. Henry L. Doherty, chairman of the national committee on arrangements for these balls, "we have hardly made a start. Forty-seven hospitals, less than one for each state in the Union, are inundated by a new torrent of ailing humanity streaming through their doors from the onslaught of 1935, when this dread disease added approximately 10,000 victims to its rolls."

Doherty conservatively estimates that the national annual loss from infantile paralysis includes at least $300,000,000 in lost incomes, while $60,000,000 is needed each year for curative work alone.

As a signal contribution to the nation's fight to stamp out the disease, Doherty, who has known the president for many years, conceived the idea of the mammoth birthday party after Roosevelt took office.

Doherty Sponsored Plan

Doherty saw that the Warm Springs foundation was the president's only outside interest and he determined to further it as being close to the chief executive's heart.

To realize what Warm Springs means to President Roosevelt, one must remember that 300,000 of the nation's cripples today can trace their affliction to infantile paralysis.

The president was stricken in 1921. Simultaneously began his long struggle to conquer the effects of the disease. Behind his struggle is the story of Warm Springs.

Warm Springs, with its constant flow of tepid, crystal-clear water, had been a resort for a long time when Roosevelt first turned to it in 1924. Slowly he began to show improvement as he literally swam his way back to health.

Treatment at the springs, which always are at 89 degrees temperature, is based on the principle that a body weighs as much less in water as the amount of fluid it displaces. Thus paralysis-weakened muscles may be better exercised in water than where they would have no outside support.

As he gradually "came back" Roosevelt turned his attention to the plight of others and from this effort has grown the enterprise of today.

In 1926 the Georgia Warm Springs foundation was organized as a non-profit making center for study of infantile paralysis. Since nation-wide contributions have come to the institution in the last two years, however, the foundation has become the nation's most famous treatment center for the disease.

The Foundation is built around a huge glass-enclosed swimming pool for the patients, administration hall, playgrounds, cottages, and a hospital. The atmosphere of the whole center is one of resort.

The president is its most frequent and cheering visitor.

The Masonic lodge will have charge of the services at Old Bethel cemetery, one mile west of Clarks, where interment will be made.

Pallbearers will be John Parker, F. F. Mason, J. W. Jackson, W. R. Ferguson, Troy Wilson, Percy Galligan, A. C. Andrews and W. W. Beasley.

Honorary pallbearers will be C. C. Sheppard, H. O. Cooksey, R. C. Cantrell, F. H. Mecom, O. R. Ferree, J. W. Clarkson, S. H. Albritton, L. L. Jackson, T. W. Beauchamp, C. F. Patterson, J. B. Mr. Minard died at the family residence Friday at 7 a. m., following a week's illness of heart disease. During his 40 years of service with the exchange mills, of which the Louisiana Central Lumber company is a member, he had never lost a day's work from ill health until the recent heart attack, one week preceding his death.

He was born in Cameron county, Penn., in 1861. For the last 30 years he had lived in Clarks, having moved here from Grandin, Mo.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge of Clarks, the Knight Templars of Monroe and the Shriners of Shreveport.

Surviving relatives are: the widow, Mrs. F. A. Minard of Clarks, one daughter, Miss Marie Minard of Clarks; three sons, Fred P. Minard of Urania, Harry M. Minard of Dallas, Texas, and Cameron Minard of Clarks; one sister, Mrs. E. H. Pierce of Oil City, Penn.; two brothers, George M. Minard of Emporium, Penn., and Dave M. Minard of Vermont.

ELECTRICAL WIZARD WILL GIVE PROGRAM AT PARISH SCHOOL

A lecture-demonstration, "Dancing Electrons," will be presented in the auditorium of the Ouachita Parish High school next Friday in two performances, at 2 p.m. and 7:45 p.m., by C. E. Jones of Chicago former science teacher who has gained distinction as an electrical wizard.

The performances, sponsored by the school for the benefit of its science department and athletic association, will be open to the attendance of the public.

Advance information on the entertainment states that "noises will dance before the naked eye; light will make uncanny sounds; voices will travel along invisible beams; speech will be inverted and then unscrambled. Jimmy, the mechanical man, will wink his scarlet eye, shake his creaking hand, obey seven different commands of his master—even though his brain is a mass of coils and pieces of iron and lies on a piece of board beside him.

"Mr. Jones uses a whole stage full of equipment to demonstrate some of the latest findings of science in the field of electronics. While everything done will be sound science, the program will appeal to everyone."

JONESBORO BLAST PROBE IS DELAYED

Police Jury Moves To Get Aid Of WPA In Building New Courthouse

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 25.—(Special)—At a special session of the Jackson parish police jury plans were made to remove the wreckage of the old courthouse which was mysteriously blown up on January 16. Efforts will be made to procure the approval of a WPA emergency project to erect a new building.

Lieutenant-Governor James A. Noe was present at the meeting, and announced that he had secured permission from the highway department to employ several trucks in the work of removing the debris. Employes from a federal project now in progress here will be diverted to the task of clearing the ground where the courthouse once stood.

A thorough examination of the foundations has not been possible because of the difficulty of penetrating the debris. As soon as this is cleared away an investigation will be made to determine the cause of the blast.

Monroe architects were on the scene Saturday to discuss plans for presentation to the WPA for approval.

At present the various parish offices are scattered over the town of Jonesboro. The sheriff's office is located in the building formerly occupied by the American Legion, the clerk's office is in the Jackson parish state bank building, the tax assessor has moved into the rear of the Masonic building, the superintendent of schools has established headquarters in the grammar school building, the registrar of voters is functioning from the third floor of the Masonic building and District Judge Walker is holding court in the Odd Fellows' hall.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR BIRTHDAY BALL SLATED AT BASTROP

BASTROP, Jan. 25.—(Special)—All plans are being completed for the birthday ball honoring President Roosevelt to be held in Bastrop next Thursday night, beginning at 9 o'clock. The plans are in the charge of Ray B. Griffin, chairman.

Proceeds from the dance will go to fight infantile paralysis. Seventy per cent of the proceeds from the dance here will remain in the parish to be used for the assistance of parish infantile paralysis victims and thirty per cent will go to the national committee for use in research work.

Mr. Griffin announced that Chet Steadman and his orchestra will furnish music for the occasion. The birthday ball will be held at the Veterans' of Foreign War's hall on West Madison street.

An advance sale of tickets will get under way the first part of the week in order that those who may wish to assist in this worthy cause and do not dance may have an opportunity to purchase tickets.
